BH Girl Dragged To Death By Car

BY TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

Wanda Davis, 12, died Monday night of injuries, about three and a half hours after she was struck by a car and dragged an estimated 200 feet on Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor police reported.

Police identified the driver of the car as Mrs. Harry (Frances) Laity, 76, of 825 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, wife of retired District Judge Harry Laity.

According to a report filed by Patrolwoman Connie Medders, Mrs. Laity said she was unaware of the accident and had continued for four blocks from the scene before a witness told her what had happened. The accident occurred just south of Empire avenue on Colfax about 3:32 p.m.

Wanda, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Davis, 847 Pavone street, died during surgery at Mercy hospital at 7 p.m., Medders reported. Preliminary reports indicated the cause of death as a severe rupture of the liver, according to Dr. William Benner, chief of Berrien medical examiner, Medders reported.

Medders said that information from witnesses indicated Wanda stepped from the curb on the west side of Colfax and was not in the crosswalk. Mrs. Laity turned south from Empire onto Colfax. Medders said none of three witnesses said they saw the car strike the girl, but all saw the girl being dragged beneath the auto.

Mrs. Laity told police she did not see the girl in the street prior to making the turn or after she turned right with a green traffic signal.

Mrs. Laity said she felt no impact and was unaware of the collision until she was informed while she was stopped for a red traffic signal at May street and Colfax. Police said Charles Bennett, 19, of 134 Hastings avenue, Benton Harbor, followed her car and told her of the accident.

Mrs. Laity is prominent in cultural activities and was chosen Berrien county's Bicentennial First Lady last summer.

Police said the investigation is continuing and a report will be turned over to the Berrien

The death was the second in Benton Harbor this year, both involving youngsters struck by cars. Darrell Qualls, 4, was killed when a car backing from a driveway struck him last month. It was the 33rd traffic fatality in Berrien county this year, 19 less than the 52 who had been killed on county roads at this time last year.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Fairplain Chapel, Florin funeral home.

Developer East Is Dead At 65

Mark D. East Jr., 65, original developer of the Fairplain Plaza, Ramada Inn and other commercial properties in the Twin Cities, died at 10:40 p.m. Monday at St. Joseph Memorial hospital. His home was at 375 Montezuma drive, Benton Harbor.

He was owner of East Real Estate agency, and as a contractor built some parts of Whirlpool St. Joseph division, V.M. Corp., and Modern Plastics plants and a number of homes and small business buildings.

Mr. East was born Nov. 12, 1911, in Muskegon, and was married June 24, 1934, to Mary Lou Gould, who survives.

Also surviving are a son, Mark East III, of Benton Harbor; three daughters, Mrs. Kathleen Duncan, Stevensville, Mrs. Jeannie Holtz, Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Vicki East, Kalamazoo, and a brother, Andrew East, Muskegon.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Fairplain Chapel, Florin funeral home.

The Joint Board of Commissioners of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph sewage disposal plant has initiated rate increases aimed at bringing in 39 per cent more revenue, or about $272,755 per year from customers of the two cities.

The board submitted the plan to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph city commissions, which must act to incorporate the changes in their respective rate ordinances. Neither commission acted on the matter last night.

The increase would become effective on and after Feb. 1, 1977, and is designed to hit large volume water users such as industrial plants more than residential customers, according to A.A. Antonovich, sewage disposal plant administrator.

Antonovich said residential customers may find their bills increasing roughly between 15 and 23 per cent. He said industrial users will receive increases that could reach 75 per cent, depending on the volume of water they use.

Antonovich said a major reason for the increase was insistence by the Environmental Protection Agency that large-volume industrial water users pay more for what they use. Antonovich said another reason is that an annual audit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1976, indicates the plant operated at a deficit of $191,644.

Concurrent with rate increases, the Board of Commissioners modified its "decreasing rate for increased use" system for industrial plants. The new system will continue to have a "readiness

Separatist Party Winner In Quebec

MONTREAL (AP) — The Parti Quebecois, which advocates the independence of French-speaking Quebec from English-dominated Canada, has won control of the provincial government.

But the vote for members of a new provincial legislature indicated defeat for secession in a referendum promised within two years by Party Leader Rene Levesque, who will become premier of the province.

The separatist party won a majority of the seats in the provincial legislature, but the other anti-separatist parties got 39 per cent of the popular vote. Opinion polls before the election also indicated that only about 20 per cent of the voters were diehard separatists.

During the campaign, Levesque himself soft-pedaled his party's traditional goal of independence. Instead, he attacked Premier Robert Bourassa and his Liberal party administration for the province's 10.1 per cent unemployment rate, and he predicted a billion-dollar deficit and the highest taxes in Canada.

When counting stopped Monday night, the Parti Quebecois, or Pequistes, had won 66 of the 110 seats in the assembly and was leading for three others. The Liberals had 27 seats and were leading for one other. In the last assembly, there were 102 Liberals and six Pequistes.

The election saw a resurgence of the Union Nationale party, which won 11 seats. It was the province's ruling party for 20 of the 26 years between 1944 and 1970, but lost all its seats in 1970. The Creditiste and Popular National parties won one seat each; in the last assembly, the Creditistes had two.

The Parti Quebecois won about 41 per cent of the popular vote; the Liberals got 34 per cent; Union Nationale took 18 per cent; and minor parties got the rest.

Bourassa lost his own seat to Gerald Godin of the Parti Quebecois, and Pequistes ousted 10 other members of Bourassa's cabinet. Levesque, who lost in two previous tries for the legislature, won his district. "I have never been as proud to be a Quebecer as I am today," Levesque told a cheering election-night crowd in Montreal. He thanked "all the voters throughout Quebec who have proved today that they are not afraid of change."

Levesque, a 54-year-old former radio-television journalist who quit the Liberal party in 1967 to fight for the independence of Quebec, told Canadians "who fear that they have something to fear because of our victory" that his party's goal was to "make Quebec a nation for all Quebecers without exception." He said he hoped Quebec would become an "adult society" by voting for independence.

But in Ottawa, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and other political leaders said the election was not a vote for separation. Trudeau, the leader of the national Liberal party, said that "... the people of Quebec did not vote on constitutional but on economic and administrative issues."

"Levesque and his party have been granted a mandate to form a provincial government, not to separate that province from the rest of Canada. I am confident that Quebecers will continue to reject separation because they still believe their destiny is linked with an indivisible Canada."

Joe Clark, leader of the Conservative party, called on the country "to avoid any sense of panic." New Democratic party leader Ed Broadbent said the election result represented a demand for "an honest government" and "serious social reform." Andre Fortin, leader

Niles Hunter Dies Of Heart Attack

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Niles man was one of four Michigan hunters who died on the first day of the state's 1976 deer hunting season. Three of the victims, including Joseph Black Sr., 49, 2090 Indian Lake road, Niles, died from heart attacks and at least two other hunters were injured, according to state police.

Black was hunting near Lake City in Missaukee county with his family, according to Missaukee county sheriff's deputies.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. Ernesto Garmo, a deputy Missaukee county medical examiner, after Black had been driven into town yesterday evening by his family, police said.

Antonovich said another reason is that an annual audit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1976, indicates the plant operated at a deficit of $191,644.

Concurrent with rate increases, the Board of Commissioners modified its "decreasing rate for increased use" system for industrial plants. The new system will continue to have a "readiness from the year ending June 30, 1974, to the year ending June 30, 1976. These costs approximated 30 per cent of the operating budget for the last fiscal year.

For 40 per cent of last year's operating budget was on labor and associated costs. Employees received pay increases of about 10 per cent during each of the past two years. This portion of the budget was supplemented by $59,746 in federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act funds. It's not known if this funding will be available in future years, the commission reported.

The remaining 30 per cent of the budget is on plant and equipment maintenance and inflation has been felt here, also.

The revised rate structure has received verbal approval from the Environmental Protection Agency in Chicago, the board reported.

BH Girl Dragged To Death By Car

BY TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

Wanda Davis, 12, died Monday night of injuries, about three and a half hours after she was struck by a car and dragged an estimated 200 feet on Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor police reported.

Police identified the driver of the car as Mrs. Harry (Frances) Laity, 76, of 825 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, wife of retired District Judge Harry Laity.

According to a report filed by Patrolwoman Connie Medders, Mrs. Laity said she was unaware of the accident and had continued on four blocks from the scene before a witness told her what had happened. The accident occurred just south of Empire avenue on Colfax about 3:32 p.m.

Wanda, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Davis, 847 Pavone street, died during surgery at Mercy hospital at 7 p.m., Medders reported. Preliminary reports indicated the cause of death as a severe rupture of the liver, according to Dr. William Benner, chief Berrien medical examiner, Medders reported.

Medders said that information from witnesses indicated Wanda stepped from the curb on the west side of Colfax and was not in the crosswalk. Mrs. Laity turned south from Empire onto Colfax. Medders said none of three witnesses said they saw the car strike the girl, but all saw the girl being dragged beneath the auto.

Mrs. Laity told police she did not see the girl in the street prior to making the turn or after she turned right with a green traffic signal.

Mrs. Laity said she felt no impact and was unaware of the collision until she was informed while she was stopped for a red traffic signal at May street and Colfax. Police said Charles Bennett, 19, of 134 Hastings avenue, Benton Harbor, followed her car and told her of the accident.

Mrs. Laity is prominent in cultural activities and was chosen Berrien county's Bicentennial First Lady last summer.

Police said the investigation is continuing and a report will be turned over to the Berrien

Prosecutor's office for a determination on any charges.

The death was the second in Benton Harbor this year, both involving youngsters struck by cars. Darrell Qualls, 4, was killed when a car backing from a driveway struck him last month. ## TWIN CITIES SEWAGE RATE HIKE IS SOUGHT

BY RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

The Joint Board of Commissioners of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph sewage disposal plant has initiated rate increases aimed at bringing in 39 per cent more revenue, or about $272,795 per year from customers of the two cities.

The board submitted the plan to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph city commissions, which must act to incorporate the changes in their respective rate ordinances. Neither commission acted on the matter last night.

The increase would become effective on and after Feb. 1, 1977, and is designed to hit large volume water users such as industrial plants more than residential customers, according to A.A. Antonovich, sewage disposal plant administrator.

Antonovich said residential customers may find their bills increasing roughly between 15 and 23 per cent. He said industrial users will receive increases that could reach 75 per cent, depending on the volume of water they use.

Antonovich said a major reason for the increase was insistence by the Environmental Protection Agency that large-volume industrial water users pay more for what they use. Antonovich said another reason is that an annual audit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1976, indicates the plant operated at a deficit of $191,644.

Concurrent with rate increases, the Board of Commissioners modified its "decreasing rate for increased use" system for industrial plants. The new system will continue to have a "readiness to serve" charge, based on the size of a meter serving a particular premise. However, the volume charge will be a flat rate for unit of water used.

The Board of Commissioners said the flat rate per usage unit currently is about the only type of rate structure determined to be equitable for most utilities by the various state and federal regulatory agencies.

Antonovich said that revenue increases from industries could decline over the coming years, if large-volume water users develop improved treatment facilities of their own. This would reduce their rate, because extra processing at the disposal plant would be reduced.

The Board of Commissioners cited cost developments:

1—The cost for energy and chemicals has increased 80 per cent

2—Forty per cent of last year's operating budget was on labor and associated costs. Employees received pay increases of about 8 per cent during each of the past two years. This portion of the budget was supplemented by $59,746 in federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act funds. It's not known if this funding will be available in future years, the commission reported.

3—The remaining 30 per cent of the budget is on plant and equipment maintenance and inflation has been felt here, also.

The revised rate structure has received verbal approval from the Environmental Protection Agency in Chicago, the board reported.

Northeastern Coalition Seeks To Reverse Flow

The morning after Jimmy Carter's Nov. 2nd successful bid for the White House found George Meany, the AFL-CIO chieftain, presented organized labor's due bill to the President-elect, followed shortly by black and other minority leaders echoing a "like refrain."

This past weekend the governors of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont concluded a session at Saratoga Springs, New York, drafting their I.O.U.

The leaders of the seven northeastern states are requesting the incoming Administration to revive their declining economies through creation of a massive, federally guaranteed public financing corporation.

Only New Hampshire and Maine were absent from the meeting and the governor of the Pine Tree state says he may join the coalition at any moment.

The Saratoga Springs blueprint starts with a $50 million subscription by the seven states and an initial borrowing capacity of $750 million. From that seed money platform the Regional Energy and Development corporation would expand to a $1 billion lending base, plus another $15 billion from the federal treasury in lendable funds and a total guaranty by Uncle Sam for the entire money base.

Borrowers would be private parties lacking the risk capital to open up a new plant in the area, enlarge upon an existing facility, go into offshore oil drilling, and take on other ventures with some promise of stimulating employment and utilizing available local resources now languishing for lack of investors.

The Coalition further enlarges on this political solution of a worsening economic problem by calling on Washington to revise its present fuzzy handling of welfare, energy, transportation, federal grant formulas and the generalized periphery of employment.

Chief architect for the Coalition is Felix Rohatyn, chairman of New York's Municipal Assistance Corporation.

Big Mac, as it is dubbed in Wall Street, staved off utter collapse for New York City last year, but thus far Rohatyn has not been able to sell Congress on a total bailout.

Two Carter aides, Stuart Eisenstat and Orin Kramer, represented Jimmy at the conference. Eisenstat delivered a closing address to the meeting in which he stated the President-elect is aware of the problem and sympathetic towards those trying to wrestle with it. He did not, however, go further.

"All the alternatives must be considered," he said.

The Coalition faces an immediate stumbling block at home, one outlined most graphically by Connecticut's governor, Ella Grasso. This is the opposition within some of the state legislatures to giving up some measure of control over their local economies.

Governor Grasso remarked the Coalition might get off to a firmer footing if it could obtain Congressional approval before the statehouse power blocs discussed the subject.

A higher hurdle is the very situation which the Coalition seeks to bring back into balance.

Since the New Deal first moved into Washington 43 years ago the trend in Washington has been to redistribute the nation's wealth by a geographic formula.

Put in its simplest terms, it has siphoned Uncle Sam's tax dollars from the northeast and the midwestern states into the southern tier below the Mason-Dixon line.

The Tennessee Valley Authority was the first major thrust in that direction and while nothing so dramatic as TVA has since come along the money flow from north to south has been constant.

Likened to a family relationship, it is a case of the well heeled uncle finding his pocketbook growing thinner every day to help out an impudent nephew.

Everyone living south from the Ohio river well understands this financial transition and applauds it fully. Carter's sweep in the southern states obviously on something more than emotional appeal to see a southerner in the White House for the first time since James Buchanan's term concluded in 1861.

Carter may tip his hand prior to his first State of the Union message. He may not. The message, presumably could not ignore the Coalition because several of its members delivered the vote for Jimmy two weeks ago.

The Coalition's point is well taken, but it could be answered better by reversing the flow from the federal pipeline.

Puristically, one may wish the pipeline would be taken up entirely, but this is no longer the American way.

170 Will Probe JFK, King Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Assassinations will hire 170 investigators for its probe of the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King.

Committed counsel Richard Sprague said Monday the 170 people he plans to hire "is a small figure" for investigating two murders. By comparison, Sprague said, the Warren Commission had 81 aides of its own, 150 FBI agents, 80 Secret Service agents and the help of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Internal Revenue Service in its probe of the Kennedy slaying.

The Senate Watergate Committee and the Senate Intelligence Committee, which both conducted large-scale investigations in the recent past, had only about 100 members on each staff.

The panel also agreed to form two subcommittees, one headed by Rep. Richardson Poyer, D-N.C., to investigate the Kennedy slaying, and the other headed by Delegate Walter Fauntroy, D-D.C., to probe the 1968 King slaying.

The committee will also subpoena an FBI memorandum indicating that Lee Harvey Oswald told Cuban officials he planned to kill Kennedy. Chairman Thaddeus Downey, D-Va., said.

The Federation of Women's clubs have pledged their support to the firemen in launching a drive in the near future to raise the amount needed, estimated at $7,500.

The monument is designed to be constructed in the memory of the Benton Harbor firemen who died in service, more especially to the six who lost their lives in the Yore opera house fire years ago.

Deeds Tougher Than Words

WASHINGTON — For President-elect Jimmy Carter the worst is yet to come.

He is now going to have to pay his political debts — to George Meany and the AFL-CIO, the National Education Association and its politically conscious teachers, big city and rural blacks, Hispanic Americans, the over-65s, and a host of other special interest groups.

Mr. Carter says he comes to office with no obligations. Mr. Carter received heavy campaign assistance and voting support from all groups mentioned above. Some gave hefty indirect financial assistance, though in compliance with the election laws, these funds were spent without direction or control from the Carter organization.

But most things Carter must do as president to reassure this business-middle class group will anger the more militant of his supporters.

Then there's the bureaucracy, which in the end, make or break him by backing, or smothering, whatever executive orders he issues. Because Carter campaigned so heavily, and with such vehemence against the Washington establishment, and because of the example he set in Georgia as governor, there are many in the civil service here who most certainly will look with mistrust on every reorganization step he takes. The militant organizations of government employees will be making strong demands and pushing him to soften his positions. They will demand he show sincerity by giving way.

The vote studies to date suggest, indeed, that the work of these groups did put Carter over. But whether they did or not, the leaders and members are firmly convinced that had it not been for their efforts, the election would have gone to President Ford. And what men believe determines their actions and their demands, as we all know full well.

It is now clear, therefore, that the organized teachers, the auto workers, the machinists, the blacks, the Hispanic Americans, the Ital-American, the aging will now present their itemized bills. If Mr. Carter, as president, does not pay off in special-interest legislation and in offices, he may face a backlash of major proportions among his most ardent election supporters.

This will not be easy. President Franklin Roosevelt came into office with the same heavy debts. It took all his considerable ingenuity and a most imaginative series of gestures, maneuvres and public relations stunts, year after year, to cement his grip on this variety of special interests.

Mr. Carter's problem is complicated, as it is for all presidents, by the fact that in order to govern — he must also satisfy the interest of those who voted against him, and those cohorts who have interests vastly different from his though they were on his side in the election.

Carter must satisfy business, large and small, members of the middle class, and the small investor as well as the big, that he is economically sound and not a wild man, or these citizens will in caution hold back on investing, buying and employing — causing the economy gradually to drift into a new recession or worse.

But most things Carter must do as president to reassure this business-middle class group will anger the more militant of his supporters.

Then there's the bureaucracy, which in the end, make or break him by backing, or smothering, whatever executive orders he issues. Because Carter campaigned so heavily, and with such vehemence against the Washington establishment, and because of the example he set in Georgia as governor, there are many in the civil service here who most certainly will look with mistrust on every reorganization step he takes. The militant organizations of government employees will be making strong demands and pushing him to soften his positions. They will demand he show sincerity by giving way.

The majority of the men and women in Congress, Democrats of one persuasion or another, are technically on his side. But Carter's record of non-harmony with his legislature as governor, and his promises of sweeping governmental change which inevitably would take power from key senators and representatives and give it to others, has given rise to intense suspicion on Capitol Hill.

Some presidents have managed this tightrope walk with dexterity. Others have managed through the sheer strength of their personalities. Most have not managed well, and have succumbed to special power blocs in the Congress or to the subtle strength of the entrenched bureaucracy.

It remains to see how the novice Carter will do.

Carter Owes Big Debt To Blacks

Whatever other changes Jimmy Carter may bring about, you can be certain that he will accomplish one thing: blacks will be appointed widely throughout the executive branch and will be highly visible in the upper echelons.

The severe limitations placed upon new social programs by fiscal realities will not affect Carter's power of appointment. Moreover, greater black visibility in high posts figures to be an idea whose time has arrived.

For one thing, Carter's debt to blacks as a group in his electoral victory can only be called spectacular.

But, in addition, the social and economic advances made by blacks since World War II have now reached the point where it is natural that such gains be translated into the conspicuous symbols of acceptance and social status.

Carter's electoral victory thus coincided with a large historic development, and this may turn out to be the most important thing about the Carter Administration.

Consider the steady advances made by blacks. Prior to World War II, only about 3 per cent of black employees held white-collar jobs. By the early 1960s, the figure had jumped to 15.3 per cent. Ten years later, it stood at 22.9 per cent. Significant advances were also made in education, family income, and other indices. As Harvard sociologist Martin Kilson observes in a recent article, "Negro gains in jobs, education, and income indicate how closely the sociological characteristics of blacks have begun to resemble those of whites."

These advances came about largely because the black population, moving off the farms, underwent rapid urbanization and industrialization.

Not surprisingly, the black advance was reflected in an increasing number of black elected officials, by no means all of them representing black constituencies.

In 1960, the nation had 100 black elected officials. Today there are about 4,000. Some occupy higher levels; in California, Wilson Riles in 1970 won the important post of superintendent of public instruction; in 1973, Thomas Bradley defeated Sam Yorty for mayor of Los Angeles. At the Cabinet level, too, we have had both Robert Weaver and William Cleman.

Al of this coincides with some astonishing electoral arithmetic in the recent presidential election.

Ford actually won the white vote in the South — but Carter carried every Southern state except Virginia with huge black majorities of 90 per cent and more.

Carter carried Pennsylvania by 123,372 votes — but he received 90.5 per cent of the black vote, or 285,000, more than twice his margin of victory.

Carter squeaked by in Ohio by 7,586 — but received 285,000 black votes. The pattern was repeated elsewhere. Without his phenomenal black majorities, Carter would be staying in Plains, Georgia.

The blacks whom Carter appoints will have nothing in common with the pseudo-democratic black "spokesmen" of the 1960s — people like Stokely Carmichael, Rap Brown and Eldridge Cleaver. Those bizarre figures were fundamentally non-serious, mere gleams in the eye of Leonard Bernstein.

The representative blacks of the 1970s, the people who backed Carter in the primaries and turned up to support him at Madison Square Garden, were something else entirely: school board members, state legislators, lawyers, labor officials — serious, if more prosaic, types.

Northeastern Coalition Seeks To Reverse Flow

The morning after Jimmy Carter's Nov. 2nd successful bid for the White House found George Meany, the AFL-CIO chieftain, presented organized labor's due bill to the President-elect, followed shortly by black and other minority leaders echoing a like refrain.

This past weekend the governors of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont concluded a session at Saratoga Springs, New York, drafting their L.O.U.

The leaders of the seven northeastern states are requesting the incoming Administration to revive their declining economies through creation of a massive, federally guaranteed public financing corporation.

Only New Hampshire and Maine were absent from the meeting and the governor of the Pine Tree state says he may join the coalition at any moment.

There Just Aren't Enough Wealthy Folks

Every now and again candidates for public office try to pick up points by vaguely suggesting a redistribution of wealth scheme to make everybody pay their "fair share" of taxes and thereby relieve the burden on the great majority.

These remarks usually are couched in terms of "tax reform" or "closing loopholes" or some other phrase programmed to elicit a favorable response without committing specific facts and figures. In that regard, Tax Foundation, Inc., has provided a timely service by pinpointing where taxable income can be found in the United States.

Taking the most extreme situation, the foundation says that if all taxable incomes reported in 1972 above $32,000 were taxed 100 percent above that amount, the Treasury would have gained only an additional $12.8 billion, or only about 3 percent of current federal spending estimates.

No one likes to see wealthy individuals getting by with paying little or no taxes. But what is available to redistribute at upper income levels simply isn't enough to make a dent in the total.

Corporation would expand to a $1 billion lending base, plus another $15 billion from the federal treasury in lendable funds and a total guarantee by Uncle Sam for the entire money base.

Borrowers would be private parties lacking the risk capital to open up a new plant in the area, enlarge upon an existing facility, go into offshore oil drilling, and take on other ventures with some promise of stimulating employment and utilizing available local resources now languishing for lack of investors.

Chief architect for the Coalition is Felix Rohatyn, chairman of New York's Municipal Assistance Corporation.

Big Mac, as it is dubbed in Wall Street, staved off utter collapse for New York City last year, but thus far Rohatyn has not been able to sell Congress on a total bailout.

Two Carter aides, Stuart Eisenstat and Orin Kramer, represented Jimmy at the conference. Eisenstat delivered a closing address to the meeting in which he stated the President-elect is aware of the problem and sympathetic towards those trying to wrestle with it. He did not, however, go further.

The Coalition faces an immediate stumbling block at home, one outlined most graphically by Connecticut's governor, Ella Grasso. This is the opposition within some of the state legislatures to giving up some measure of control over their local economies.

Governor Grasso remarked the Coalition might get off to a firmer footing if it could obtain Congressional approval before the statehouse power blocs discussed the subject.

A higher hurdle is the very situation which the Coalition seeks to bring back into balance.

Since the New Deal first moved into Washington 43 years ago the trend in Washington has been to redistribute the nation's wealth by a geographic formula.

Put in its simplest terms, it has siphoned Uncle Sam's tax dollars from the northeast and the midwestern states into the southern tier below the Mason-Dixon line.

The Tennessee Valley Authority was the first major thrust in that direction and while nothing so dramatic as TVA has since come along the money flow from north to south has been constant.

Likened to a family relationship, it is a case of the well-heeled uncle finding his pocketbook growing thinner every day to help out an impecunious nephew.

Everyone living south from the Ohio river well understands this financial transition and applauds it fully. Carter's sweep in the southern states obviously on something more than emotional appeal to see a southerner in the White House for the first time since James Buchanan's term concluded in 1861.

Carter may tip his hand prior to his first State of the Union message. He may not. The message, presumably could not ignore the Coalition because several of its members delivered the vote for Jimmy two weeks ago.

The Coalition's point is well taken, but it could be answered better by reversing the flow from the federal pipeline.

Puristically, one may wish the pipeline would be taken up entirely, but this is no longer the American way.

The best available compromise is to revise its distributive siphon.

Court Orders Six-Mill Tax Levy On BH

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON

Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns Monday ordered separate assessments totaling six mills be added to the City of Benton Harbor property tax rolls to help pay off $500,000 the city borrowed from the police and firemen's pension fund.

The three assessments of two mills each are to be added to the December, 1976, and the June and December, 1977, tax rolls, according to the order. The city was also ordered to pay $50,000 before Dec. 1, another $50,000 before June 15, 1977, and $55,000 before March 15, 1978, toward the principal. The city must also pay accrued interest. The two $50,000 and the $55,000 payments are in addition to money raised by the tax.

Byrns' order means that the owner of a home with $20,000 market value or $10,000 state equalized valuation will pay an additional $60 in taxes over the next year.

The judgment came after a stipulation to the order by attorneys representing the pension fund and city. The order says that by March 15, 1978, all principal and interest on the $500,000 is to have been repaid to the pension fund. St. Joseph Atty. Thomas Fette, counsel for the firemen, said the order does not violate the state constitution's section which sets a taxing limit of 20 mills, although 20 mills are already being levied in Benton Harbor.

Fette explained state statutes require collection of a judgment by spreading the judgment on the tax rolls, since a municipal corporation is immune from garnishment proceedings. Byrns in mid-June had ordered the city to repay the $500,000 illegally borrowed from the pension fund for what the city termed a cash-flow shortage. In August, the city voluntarily agreed to pay $250,000 in principal before Sept. 15 plus the interest accrued on the entire $500,000. The rest of the principal was to have been paid before Dec. 31 plus the interest due on that amount.

But, according to Fette, the city in September said it would be unable to repay the loan this year, so the new formula was ironed out. He added Benton Harbor has paid $45,000 on the interest on the loan accrued up to Sept. 15.

Benton Harbor's state equalized valuation according to the county's equalization report is $38.7 million, and Fette said each two-mill levy should raise about $115,000. The order proscribes that funds from each levy, plus the three other payments, are to go directly into the pension fund, and all remaining indebtedness on the principal is to be paid by March 15, 1978, plus any interest due.

The order by Byrns also noted that the city "shall make no layoffs or reduction of its police and firefighter personnel . . . due to a lack of funds caused by its repayment of principal and interest to the pension fund." Fette explained if a cash shortage by the city is attributable to repayment of the $500,000, police and firemen cannot be laid off. But he noted they could still be laid off if the city experiences a cash shortage because of some other reason. The order was stipulated to by Atty. K. Morris Gavin, on behalf of Benton Harbor, Atty. John Dewane, representing policemen, and Fette.

Seek Public Input On SJ Apartments

St. Joseph city commissioners last night asked for citizen reaction on a proposed 48-unit apartment complex and on two proposed ordinance changes to further regulate rummage sales and the parking of recreational vehicles.

The commission postponed for two weeks a decision on a special use permit for the apartments until city residents could give their view of the complex. Requesting a special use permit to build the complex are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith of St. Joseph. Commissioner Warren Gast had previously stated his opposition to the apartments being built for a number of reasons including a commission position that the city does not need any more apartments.

However, at last night's meeting Commissioners Joseph Hanley and William Gillespie spoke in favor of the complex.

Among reasons they gave were that the 4.65 acres of land at 1401 Langley avenue could not be developed for single family dwellings; the apartments would be an "asset" to the city; they would be a good source of tax revenue, and the complex would not deteriorate into low rent housing.

Both men said they wanted more input before putting the issue to a vote. Gillespie said, "I want more input than just one editorial." The Herald-Palladium has spoken out editorially against construction of the apartments.

The St. Joseph planning commission, in a letter presented to the city commission, recommended a special use permit be granted for construction, subject to the following conditions:

1. Detailed construction drawings and specifications be submitted.

2. Specifications submitted showing the widening of Langley avenue by eight feet from Michigan north about 400 feet to permit a turning lane for the entrance to the apartments. Cost would be paid by the developers.

3. Submit detailed landscape drawings.

The commission also wanted citizen reactions on the two proposed ordinance changes before taking a vote.

City Manager Gerald W. Heppeler said the present ordinance for rummages states a rummage can last no longer than three days and if the people holding the rummage advertise they must have a permit. He said city records show 157 permits were issued last year.

Possible changes discussed last night included requiring considered by the commission.

The present ordinance controlling the parking of recreational vehicles permits parking on the driveway or backyard and not on the front or side yard unless there is pavement there.

A possible change talked about last night would prohibit recreational vehicle parking on front or side yards even if they are covered by pavement.

Heppeler said citizen response to any of the three issues can be made by contacting his office, preferably by mail.

Recommendations for changes in rummage sale and parking regulations were made last summer by the Area Resources Improvement Council (ARIC).

In other business, the commission appointed eight men to serve as members of the Downtown Development Authority.

Those appointed and their terms are: George Keller, Jack Sparks, both four-year terms; Leroy Hornack, Clifford Emlong, three-year terms; Ted Bestervelt, Ray Carlson, for two years; John Fetters, Jack Sparks, one year.

Also a member of the board is Mayor Franklin Smith. The authority would make decisions concerning the downtown development district. However, major decisions made by the authority would need city commission approval before being enacted.

Five members of the board are property owners in the development district. They are Carlson, Keller, Hornack, Fetters,

The commission also referred to the planning commission a request from Florian Belic of Berrien Real Estate to rezone property at 222 and 224 Vail court from its present single family designation to the proper designation for an office building.

Heppeler said the rezoning is wanted so an 8,000 square foot office building to house Twin City Engraving Co., 1014 Main

On Monday, the three retained attorney William Haynes and said they would fight the suspensions or any further disciplinary action.

Jones, who had attended a tennis match at Olympia with his wife, Catherine, was shot in the back when he went to get his car at the nearby parking lot. His killer escaped with $1.

Kein said conditions were bad at the lot that "I feared for my life."

He said he had told his supervisor he did not want to be near the lot any more than he had to.

"As early as last year, I told him (his supervisor, Leo Bartnik) about people being mugged, robbed, pushed, dope and scalping tickets near the lot and wanted him to provide a security guard. He refused outright," Kein said.

Kein said he received a note Nov. 3 reprimanding him for leaving the parking lot lights on all night. He was accused of "wasting electricity and decreasing the lamp life" and told to use the 2½-hour timer.

Rutherford Massenberg, 17, is being held without bail on a murder charge in Jones' death.

Two Coloma-Watervliet Area Roads To Be Closed

Two roads in the Coloma-Watervliet area will be closed for about a half-day each this week so crews from the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad can make repairs to crossings. The crossing on Coloma road, about one mile west of Coloma, will close at 8 a.m. Wednesday morning and is expected to be open again in about four hours. The crossing on Red Arrow highway, about one mile east of Watervliet, will be closed during the same period Thursday. Detours will be marked on both days, according to Thomas Webb, engineer-manager for the Berrien county road commission.

Melissa McVey, 26, of 906 Court street, sustained burns to her hands and face after a gas oven she was lighting exploded in her apartment about 9 p.m. Monday. St. Joseph firefighters reported. Firefighters reported the explosion was caused by a buildup of gas in the oven that backedfire. There was no damage to the apartment. She was taken to the hospital by a friend.

Court Orders Six-Mill Tax Levy On BH

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns Monday ordered separate assessments totaling six mills be added to the City of Benton Harbor property tax rolls to help pay off $500,000 the city borrowed from the police and firemen's pension fund.

The three assessments of two mills each are to be added to the December, 1976, and the June and December, 1977, tax rolls, according to the order. The city was also ordered to pay $50,000 before Dec. 1, another $50,000 before June 15, 1977, and $55,000 before March 15, 1978, toward the principal. The city must also pay accrued interest. The two $50,000 and the $55,000 payments are in addition to money raised by the tax.

Byrns' order means that the owner of a home with $20,000 market value or $10,000 state equalized valuation will pay an additional $60 in taxes over the next year.

The judgment came after a stipulation to the order by attorneys representing the pension fund and city. The order says that by March 15, 1978, all principal and interest on the $500,000 is to have been repaid to the pension fund. St. Joseph Atty. Thomas Fette, counsel for the firemen, said the order does not violate the state constitution's section which sets a taxing limit of 20 mills, although 20 mills are already been levied in Benton Harbor.

Fette explained state statutes require collection of a judgment by spreading the judgment on the tax rolls, since a municipal corporation is immune from garnishment proceedings. Byrns in mid-June had ordered the city to repay the $500,000 illegally borrowed from the pension fund for what the city termed a cash-flow shortage. In August, the city voluntarily agreed to pay $250,000 in principal before Sept. 15 plus the interest accrued on

But, according to Fette, the city in September said it would be unable to repay the loan this year, so the new formula was ironed out. He added Benton Harbor has paid $45,006 on the interest on the loan accrued up to Sept. 15.

Benton Harbor's state equalized valuation according to the county's equalization report is $56.7 million, and Fette said each two-mill levy should raise about $115,000. The order proscribes that funds from each levy, plus the three other payments, are to go directly into the pension fund, and all remaining indebtedness on the principal is to be paid by March 15, 1978, plus any interest due.

The order by Byrns also noted that the city "shall make no layoffs or reduction of its police and firefighter personnel . . . due to a lack of funds caused by its repayment of principal and interest to the pension fund." Fette explained if a cash shortage by the city is attributable to repayment of the $500,000, police and firemen cannot be laid off. But he noted they could still be laid off if the city experiences a cash shortage because of some other reason. The order was stipulated to by Atty. K. Morris Gavin, on behalf of Benton Harbor, Atty. John Dewane, representing policemen, and Fette.

Seek Public Input On SJ Apartments

St. Joseph city commissioners last night asked for citizen reaction on a proposed 48-unit apartment complex and on two proposed ordinance changes to further regulate rummage sales and the parking of recreational vehicles.

The commission postponed for two weeks a decision on a special use permit for the apartments until city residents could give their view of the complex. Requesting a special use permit to build the complex are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith of St. Joseph.

The present ordinance controlling the parking of recreational vehicles permits parking on the driveway or backyard and not on the front or side yard unless there is pavement there.

A possible change talked about last night would prohibit recreational vehicle parking on front or side yards even if they are covered by pavement.

Heppner said citizen response to any of the three issues can be made by contacting his office, preferably by mail.

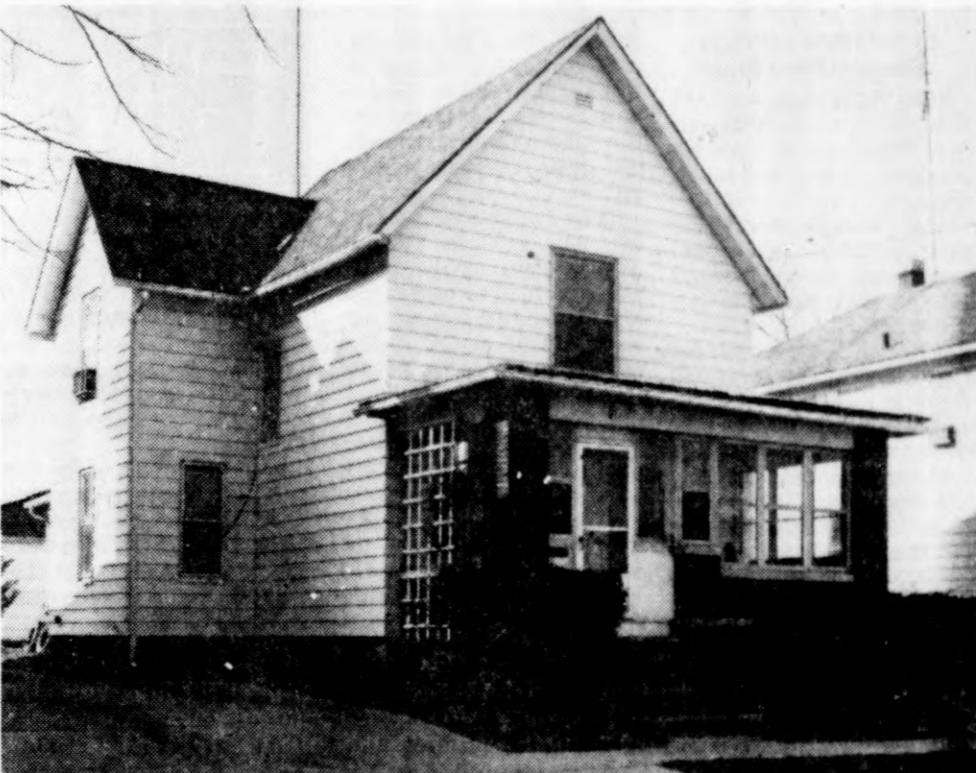

Recommendations for changes in rummage sale and parking regulations were made last summer by the Area Resources Improvement Council (ARIC).

In other business, the commission appointed eight men to serve as members of the Downtown Development authority.

Those appointed and their terms are: George Keller, Jack Sparks, both four-year terms; LeRoy Hornack, Clifford Emlong, three-year terms; Ted Bestervelt, Ray Carlson, for two years; John Fetter, Jack Sparks, one year.

Also a member of the board is Mayor Franklin Smith. The authority would make decisions concerning the downtown development district. However, major decisions made by the authority would need city commission approval before being enacted.

Feathery Fabrics

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A peek of leg here. A glance of belly there. Just a gleam of breast. But backs brazen and full to view.

Skin. Seventh Avenue is glorifying it in this season. Smooth and flawless, bumpy and soft. Dark, light, freckled. Skin is in.

And what better way for spring designs to expose and rejoice in the sensuality of the human form than through soft, feathery fabrics that cling, flow and become a living part of the body they caress.

Halston used matte jersey for his new wrap and tie, or peacock, pants. Each leg is wrapped from the waist and thigh, giving a side slit appearance and a sexy little glimpse of knees and calves.

Silk charmeuse, a rich and delicate fabric, was used for much of Halston's evening apparel. It formed the crisscross halter top to gowns. The same top by itself was an evening bra worn with long skirts or pants for a bare midriff look.

Oscar de la Renta liked bared shoulders. His putty-sleeved Cinderella gowns were sashed at the waist with wide strips of satin, to allow the billowing taffeta skirts to stand out like ripe mushrooms.

See-through country garden dresses were alluring in pale ice cream colors. Pastel rosebuds were embroidered on some.

Gil Amelio found 100 per cent rayon to be a sensual fabric. His crotchet dress in a dark blue rose print is open in front. Light blue ribbon runs down the sleeve and all edges.

Mary McFadden liked a bared back with many of her diaphanous tops and jackets. To achieve this effect, the garment ties in one spot at the neckline, leaving the back completely visible.

Her uneven hemline, pointed in the front and back, gives a lingering view of the upper leg. A Lurex chiffon in brilliant, silver and gold tones was used for these dresses. It is a fabric that moves when the wearer moves, and doesn't give in to stray breezes.

Pierre Cardin's kimonos are soft, illusory silks. They can be worn alone, for the woman who cares not, or over a tube top. A delicate, antique silk screen floral design adds a demure quality to the flowing jacket.

Qiana is used for Clovis Rufin's slinky, pencil-thin strapped gowns. In a short, black version, an intricate strap system holds the dress up and the body in. Cut low on the sides, there is a glimpse of torso. The longer dress fits snugly over the torso, revealing every fold and curve, and then falls loosely to the ankles.

Even the peasant, ethnic looking Gypsy or fantasy designs allow for flashes of skin. Most use a transparent material or drap scarves and ruffles in such a way that shoulders are definitely bared, breasts might be and legs just move with the flounces, which often are tucked up around the waist.

Giorgio di Sant'Angelo and Carol Hora used silky chiffon and soft cottons for their print, peasant dresses. Both loved the open sleeve and decolletage.

Scott Barrie's strapless and one-shoulder designs in chiffon abounded in brilliant, tropical colors and bright prints. Lace and ruffles complemented the full, see-through fashions.

The Sandwich is Favorite

Sandwiches may be an English creation, but they definitely have won a place as an all-American favorite.

Consumption peaks in August, when Americans on-the-go enjoy more than 300 million daily.

Risk-Taking Is Real Need

NEW YORK — Take up an exercise that involves risk and you'll be happier, feel healthier and look better.

Risk-taking is a real need, left over from mankind's early years when humans were forced to face danger almost daily to survive, says the November issue of Seventeen magazine.

Dr. Sol Roy Rosenthal, of the University of Illinois, Chicago, believes that because modern life offers few chances to take risks, many people are bored, restless and depressed and may even look to war as an outlet. The cure: forms of exercise that involve an element of risk, such as skiing, surfing, skydiving, skin diving, mountain climbing, polo and horseback riding.

"Risk exercises give us confidence, buoyancy and pride. It's a better high than one can get from drugs or alcohol, and there are only positive after effects. The body and mind re-pond well to small doses of danger," Dr. Rosenthal says. Risk exercises can even retard the aging process and improve your love life. While sports such as tennis and golf may keep you fit, they don't leave you with a euphoric sense of well-being.

But a word of caution: make sure your risk is calculated, not foolhardy. To get the full benefit of a risk exercise, you should be well trained in the sport.

Popular, Practical

NEW YORK (AP) — From the ski slopes to the supermarket in one year.

That's the story of the down jacket — destined to be one of this year's most popular outerwear fashions, according to the National Outerwear & Sports-wear association.

Jackets made of down have perennially been a favorite of skiers, and more recently of "backpackers." This year they're coming down from the mountains — as spectator wear, on shopping trips to the supermarket, for hiking, bicycle riding and just plain everyday leisure wear when temperatures drop this fall and winter.

Although the idea of using down as insulation is not new — it has been used in quilts, comforters, sleeping bags for years — most consumers have some misconceptions about it, Morton Bauman, executive director of the association points out.

Down is not feathers as many people believe. It is, instead, the under plumage of most waterfowl like geese or ducks. Feathers are the outer layer of a bird; down, a fluffy material, is the under layer which keeps the bird insulated from extreme heat or cold.

The active, outdoors set has been partial to down because it offers warmth without weight. But it also has other advantages. For example, the same down jacket which can keep you warm at 40 below zero will also be comfortable in 60 degree weather. The reason is that down acts as a thermal barrier, trapping dead air and reacting to body temperature. In addition, down is resilient, can be folded into a small area for packing and then snap back to its original shape.

Down jackets took a devious route to fame, fortune and fashion on Seventh Avenue. First, Henry Kissinger had to go to China and negotiate a rapprochement with the Red Chinese.

Then the United States Fashion industry decided to promote the Oriental look — which among other things, bulky, quilted styles.

This season, down outerwear is on the racks in a wide variety of styles and lengths. Most popular will be waist lengths and thigh lengths, the association predicts. There are some models just above the knee.

They come as warn-up jackets, duffel coats, ski styles and even vest types. They are available with hoods and without, with pile collars or fur collars. And they fasten together with zippers, snaps or buttons.

While they will still be made in the bulky style of past years, the most fashionable and most popular will be a slimmed down version which someone has said is like describing a streamlined elephant.

There will also be several difference types of down used in outerwear. While goose down is most popular and most often offered as the quality product, there is actually no difference between duck or goose down.

The consumer should inspect his jacket carefully to be sure there are no feathers popping through the lining. Inevitably some feathers get mixed in with the down, but the fewer the better.

With the growing popularity of down apparel, the inevitable shortages arise, so many jackets will be using a synthetic down. It is made generally of a crimped polyester in the form of a batting, and provides the same insulating qualities as genuine down. Down, however, is softer and more resilient, which are the quality features a consumer should look for, Bauman advises.

Synthetic down jackets will be more moderately priced than genuine down, and many of the experts believe that dollar for dollar it is probably the best value.

And for those fashion conscious shoppers who may be concerned that the wild bird population will be depleted in the quest for down, fear not. Down is a by-product of the food producing industries.

SLIMMER: This slimmed down version of the down filled jacket will be highly popular this season, according to the National Outerwear and Sports-wear association. This model is just below the waist in length and comes with a pile collar.

KEEP TAKING THE MEDICINE!

Too often, people will stop taking a medicine because they think that an illness has disappeared. This can be harmful, especially in cases of children who are given antibiotics to combat an infection. If your physician directs you to give a child a medicine four times a day for ten days, keep giving that prescription until it is all used up.

In studies where medicine was stopped before it was finished, over 20 per cent of the children showed lingering traces of infection, requiring another round of medication.

See-through country garden dresses were alluring in pale ice cream colors. Pastel rosebuds were embroidered on some.

Gil Aimbez found 100 per cent rayon to be a sensual fabric. His culotte dress in a dark blue rose print is open in front. Light blue roses run down the sleeve and all edges.

Mary McFadden liked a bared back with many of her diaphanous tops and jackets. To achieve this effect, the garment is in one spot at the neckline, leaving the back completely visible.

Her uneven hemline, pointed in the front and back, gives a lingering view of the upper leg.

A Lurex chiffon in brilliant, silver and gold tones was used for these dresses. It is a fabric that moves when the wearer moves, and doesn't give in to stray breezes.

Pierre Cardin's kimonos are soft, illusory silks. They can be worn alone, for the woman who cares not, or over a tube top. A delicate, antique silk screen floral design adds a demure quality to the flowing jacket.

Qiana is used for Clovis Rufin's slinky, pencil-thin strapped gowns. In a short, black version, an intricate strap system holds the dress up and the body in. Cut low on the sides, there is a glimpse of torso. The longer dress fits snugly over the torso, revealing every fold and curve, and then falls loosely to the ankles.

Even the peasant, ethnic looking Gypsy or fantasy designs allow for flashes of skin.

Most use a transparent material or drapé scarves and ruffles in such a way that shoulders are definitely bared, breasts might be and legs just move with the flounces, which often are tucked up around the waist.

Georgio di Sant'Angelo and Carol Hora used silky chiffon and soft cottons for their print, peasant dresses. Both loved the open sleeve and decolletage.

Scott Barrie's strapless and one-shoulder designs in chiffon abounded in brilliant, tropical colors and bright prints. Lace and ruffles complemented the full, see-through fashions.

Oscar de la Renta liked shoulders. His putty-sleeved Cinderella gowns were sashed at the waist with wide strips of satin, to allow the billowing taffeta skirts to stand out like ripe mushrooms.

Favorite objects for the craft were trays, sugar bowls and boxes, deer boxes, tea caddies and pots, coffee pots; banks, cases for knitting needle cases and other small, utilitarian household items.

Designs for these ranged from those copied from richly wrought oriental pieces to the simplest fruit and flowers motif.

Colors of American pieces were generally bright primary colors, while English jappers used golf leaf and designs requiring greater technical skill. Black was the favorite background color, although green and red in dark shades also were employed. A tortoise shell appearance was "in" for a long period and English craftsmen developed a technique for using pearl shell in ornamentation.

As a home craft, japanning was employed by a large number of "gentle lady's" in the early 19th century. By the 1820s, stencils which had been used to ornament fine furniture, were adapted for use by the tin industry.

Production methods of the tin plate retarded the size of objects somewhat. The thin sheets were about 10 x 14 inches and japanned trays were usually produced with a half sheet, a

KEEP TAKING THE MEDICINE!

Too often, people will stop taking a medicine because they think that an illness has disappeared. This can be harmful, especially in cases of children who are given anti-biotics to combat an infection. If your physician directs you to give a child a medicine four times a day for ten days, keep giving that prescription until it is all used up.

In studies where medicine was stopped before it was finished, over 20 per cent of the children showed lingering traces of infection, requiring another round of medication.

Risk-Taking Is Real Need

NEW YORK — Take up an exercise that involves risk and you'll be happier, feel healthier and look better.

Risk-taking is a real need, left over from mankind's early years when humans were forced to face danger almost daily to survive, says the November issue of Seventeen magazine.

Dr. Sol Roy Rosenthal, of the University of Illinois, Chicago, believes that because modern life offers few chances to take risks, many people are bored, restless and depressed and may even look to war as an outlet. The cure: forms of exercise that involve an element of risk, such as skiing, surfing, skydiving, skin diving, mountain climbing, polo and horseback riding.

"Risk exercises give us confidence, buoyancy and pride. It's a better high than one can get from drugs or alcohol, and there are only positive after effects. The body and mind re-pond well to small doses of danger," Dr. Rosenthal says.

Risk exercises can even retard the aging process and improve your love life. While sports such as tennis and golf may keep you fit, they don't leave you with a euphoric sense of well-being.

LMC Madrigal Singers To Hold Authentic Elizabethan Banquet

An authentic Elizabethan banquet, complete with boar's head, wild fowl and flaming pudding, will be held Sunday, Dec. 12, by the Lake Michigan college Madrigal Singers to celebrate the start of the holiday season noted for its festive choral singing.

A varied menu typical of the festival banquets of 16th century England will be served at the event which will be held at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville.

Originated for LMC by Barbara Born, director of choral activities, the Elizabethan banquet — an event historically related to madrigal music — is viewed as becoming an annual tradition at the college as a musical means of celebrating the opening of the Christmas season.

Two hundred guests have been invited to this year's banquet, including LMC faculty, administrators, parents of music students and area patrons of the college and its music department.

Costumes and pageantry will highlight the performances of the evening. Guests will be greeted in the foyer of Schuler's restaurant with brass music of the period to be performed by the LMC Brass Ensemble, under the direction of Dr. Donald Moely, head of the music department.

This will be followed by a procession of the musicians into the great Banquet Hall. A Yule log will be placed in the fireplace to warm the hall, and the Wassail bowl will be served for toasts, with which the gala evening will begin.

Traditional carols sung by the Madrigals will accompany the ceremonious serving of the Wassail bowl, the boar's head and the flaming pudding.

Tables will be set with linen and knives only. Ewers of water will be provided at each table for hand washing. Candles and greens will deck the hall. Guests will be entertained during the dinner hour by an old instruments consort, including harpsichord and recorders. After dinner, the music books will be brought to the tables according to custom. The Madrigals will entertain the guests with carols of the Elizabethan Court, and the Evening will end with the guests joining in the songs.

Dutch Soprano At Hope Thursday

HOLLAND — Dutch soprano Elly Ameling will be featured in concert Thursday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in Dimment Memorial Chapel on the campus of Hope college.

The concert is the fourth event of the Holland Great Performance series, co-sponsored by the Holland Concert Association and the Hope college cultural affairs committee.

Holland has reciprocal agreements with concert associations in the communities of Benton Harbor-St. Joseph, Muskegon and LaPorte, Ind.

Single admission tickets are $2, but will not be sold until 15 minutes before the performance if seats are available.

Since her American debut at Lincoln Center in 1968, Miss Ameling has made annual tours of the United States and Canada.

In New York City she has appeared in Lincoln Center's Mostly Mozart Festival, in concert at Alice Tully Hall, Carnegie Hall, Hunter College, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

She has performed with the Boston Symphony, the Chicago Symphony, and the National Symphony of Washington, D.C. She opened the Caramoor Festival in 1974, and was soloist with the Bach Choir of Bethlehem during the annual Bach Festival in the spring of 1975.

The bride wore an organza over taffeta empire gown trimmed with lace. A lace cap held her fingertip illusion veil and she carried carnations, baby's breath and roses.

Miss Michelle Ann Shaffer was maid of honor.

Johna Johnson, sister of the groom, was flower girl and ringbearer.

Serving as best man was Steven Roger Massey.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

Famed 'Old Farmer's Almanac' Oldest Continuing Publication

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Writer

The Old Farmer's Almanac is accurate about weather, wise about country philosophy and generally joyous about life. It was founded in 1792 and had George Washington and Abraham Lincoln as subscribers long ago. Today, the 1977 edition carries an ad "How To Make Money — Fast: Hatse Fishwurms, Crickets, 1000 Fishwurms $7.95, Carter Farm, Plains, Georgia."

The first editor was Robert B.

Thomas, a school teacher and farmer. His purpose was to advise farmers of weather conditions, movement of the tides and any oddities that might interest him. There were several other almanacs at the time. But Thomas with his system of cycles and rhythms made such accurate predictions that his fame grew and his magazine persists even into these harsh and technological times.

The Old Farmer's Almanac predicts the times of rising of the bright stars, the movements of the tides with alarming accuracy, the weather reports for months in advance and the movement of the planets. In fact it is so accurate that the Government stopped its publication for a time when it was learned during World War II that a German submarine trying to land on American soil had a copy of the Old Farmer's Almanac aboard. They used it for tide reports and weather.

Today's editor is Judson Hale, a Dartmouth graduate, who strives to keep the original spirit of the publication. He uses the same system of cycles and earth's rhythm regarding weather, and other astronomical systems regarding tides and stars. The results are remarkably accurate.

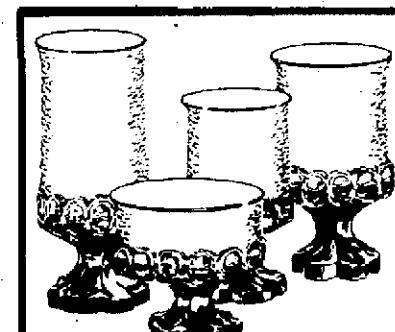

"The Almanac is unique, being America's oldest continuing publication," says Hale. "It has genuine historical value. I want to keep it lively and accurate and to pass it along to the next generation as it has been passed to our generation — a heritage of American life."

Besides the large number of astronomical calculations and the Farmer's Calendar, there are many bizarre and amusing articles. For example, the series of exchanges about "Hey, How Did This Mouse Ever Get Into My Bottle of True Brew Beer?" Or the long and detailed articles on using dandelions for coffee, jelly, dandelion greens and wine. Very useful if your lawn is strewn with yellow dandelions. Also what's being done to save the stately elm and the spreading chestnut tree.

There are several such articles, plus a few jokes for the long winter evenings. Such as,

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Greasy Hands Embarrass Her

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married for nine years to an auto mechanic whose hands get covered with grime. When we were going together he often showed up with cracked and bleeding hands because he has sensitive skin and the cleaning agents were very hard on him. Now he uses ordinary soap and his hands never look clean.

The problem is actually mine, not his, since I'm the one who is embarrassed when we go out socially. I imagine everyone is looking at my husband's hands (especially his fingernails) wondering why he doesn't do something about them. He is an elder in the church and I just about die when he passes the collection basket.

It's becoming more and more difficult to get our eight-year-old son to wash his hands before meals. He says, "Daddy's hands are dirtier than mine." I would appreciate any help you can give me. — The Nag (His Name For Me)

Dear Wife: Can your husband work in rubber gloves, the type surgeons wear? Buy him a pair and ask him to try it. Another alternative is a somewhat new product — a liquid which forms an invisible "glove." After applying this coating the grease and oil wash off with ordinary soap and water.

You might also check the drugstore for a hypo-allergenic mechanic's soap. One of these three suggestions should work. Let me know, will you?

They'll Know

Dear Ann: I was interested in your response to "Shifted In Flint." You said, "The ex who slings mud tells more about himself than he tells about his former spouse." I'm not sure you're right.

My ex blabbed to everyone who would listen — made me out to be a money-grubbing shrew. His entire family bought the story and sided with him. So did most of our neighbors and friends.

Each of us remarried this past year. The children have become terribly insecure. Their paternal grandparents, aunts and uncles are on their father's side and have made it clear to the kids.

I now feel I made a big mistake. I should have told my side of the story instead of being such a lady and keeping my mouth shut. — Pollyanna Who Paid

Dear Polly: The party in a failed marriage who bad-mouths a former spouse comes out looking fourth-rate and convinces no one of anything. People base their judgments on their own experiences with individuals. So — my advice stands. I wouldn't change a word of it.

Help An Animal

Dear Ann Landers: Our next-door neighbor owns a St. Bernard dog — their third in three

Their first dog was kept on a choke chain. He soon became too large for the chain which was never adjusted. Eventually it rubbed the dog's skin raw and his neck became bloody. When the neck began to heal it grew over the chain and the chain was actually embedded in the dog's neck. He died a few months after.

Their second dog died of worms or starvation — we don't know which. Now they have another dog. She is getting weak and bony.

This dog barks at night and interferes with our sleep. Recently the smell from the dog's refuse became so disgusting we called the Health Department. Soon after our house was splattered with dozens of eggs. What can we do? — Angry

Dear A: Notify the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at once. Your neighbors should not be permitted to own a dog. Get busy and do some animal a big favor.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged by parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Is there any other place to get another trick? Yes, there is. With a little luck he can score four club tricks.

One way to get four club tricks is to hang down his ace. If that drops a singleton queen he is home. Otherwise the lead of the ace will not give him a chance for more than three tricks in the suit.

However, there is a reasonable chance to score four club tricks if he leads toward his hand and finesse the 10. If the finesse works, he continues by playing his ace and will be home safely if East started with either queen and one or queen and two clubs. This represents a total probability of about 31 per cent.

Ask the Jacobys

South starts with seven top tricks as a starter for the nine he needs. He also can be sure of one extra club trick irrespective of where the queen is. That will give him eight. Where can he find a ninth?

Given time he can set up a diamond, but he isn't going to have time. The opponents have been unkind enough to attack in hearts.

Fun Fair Set

COLOMA — Pier-Eaman schools fun fair will be held Saturday, Nov. 20, from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Pier school, Coloma.

Events will include a Chinese auction, cake and cookie walk, games, pocket lady and a country store. Popcorn and refreshments will be available.

includes Mrs. Ronald Lauralee Inman and Mrs. Gary (Vikki) Strunk, co-chairmen, Mrs. Kathie Peters, Mrs. Dennis (Vickie) Faris, Mrs. Keith (Jean) Roberts and Mrs. Sally Dasse.

She suggests using a cluster of inexpensive baskets — each filled with a different autumnal fruit. Fresh apples, oranges, pears, bananas and bunches of grapes make a colorful display and do double duty as snacks or a light dessert. Vegetables, such as brightly-hued gourds, Indian corn, dark green acorn squash and pumpkins could be used in a similar arrangement. Artificial versions of these are available if preferred.

a big carving board make an interesting, off-beat centerpiece and a practical one, too," the home adviser says.

For a more traditional look, try a mixture of candles or flowers in glorious fall colors — white, gold and russet. "Don't worry about using candlesticks of different types and heights or combining several kinds of vases," she suggests, "the variety will add a touch of distinction."

If the center of the table is reserved for Tom Turkey, decorate each place setting individually. Small votive candles, napkins swirled attractively in colorful rings or fanned out to resemble the gobbler's tail, and tiny vases with a single flower, one for each guest, look pretty and special. "You can add small baskets of nuts mixed with raisins for the adults, and perhaps little candy turkeys for the children," the adviser suggests.

In recent years Thanksgiving has become increasingly popular as a prelude to Christmas and as a gala sports occasion. "Most of all," says Winfield, "it's important because it's a time for families and friends to enjoy getting together and to remember how lucky they are to have each other."

Thanksgiving Table Holiday Focal Point

At Thanksgiving more than at any other time, the table becomes the focal point of the celebration. It's where family and friends gather not only for the holiday feast, but also for warm welcomes, fond reunions and good conversation.

Age and custom have made turkey, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie the basics of a festive Thanksgiving menu. If entertaining for the holiday, make the table setting as inviting and seasonal as possible.

"Thanksgiving is traditionally a harvest festival," Anne Winfield, home adviser for a leading department store chain says, "so fruits, vegetables and flowers are naturals for table decor."

She suggests using a cluster of inexpensive baskets — each filled with a different autumnal fruit. Fresh apples, oranges, pears, bananas and bunches of grapes make a colorful display and do double duty as snacks or a light dessert. Vegetables, such as brightly-hued gourds, Indian corn, dark green acorn squash and pumpkins could be used in a similar arrangement. Artificial versions of these are available if preferred.

Another edible centerpiece can be made using various kinds of breads and muffins. "Loaves of French or Italian bread, cornmeal muffins, herbed loaves, banana or cranberry nut bread and some decorative holiday breads set on a big carving board make an interesting, off-beat centerpiece and a practical one, too," the home adviser says.

For a more traditional look, try a mixture of candles or flowers in glorious fall colors — white, gold and russet. "Don't worry about using candlesticks of different types and heights or combining several kinds of vases," she suggests, "the variety will add a touch of distinction."

If the center of the table is reserved for Tom Turkey, decorate each place setting individually. # SJ Schools Adopt $7 Million Budget

The St. Joseph board of education last night adopted a $7 million general fund operating budget and voted to advertise for separate bids for the demolition of Milton junior high school and the sale of the cleared 2½-acre site.

Adoption of the budget followed a public hearing that drew opposition to the inclusion of a 1-mill building and site fund from the board-appointed Citizens' Advisory Council.

"Historically, building and site funds have been separate from the general operating budget," Advisory Council Chairman Mrs. Joanne Averill said. She asked that the building and site fund be removed from the operating budget and that all money spent on building maintenance be accounted for separately.

"I think it's a way to balance the budget to avoid a deficit," Mrs. Averill said after the hearing.

District Business Manager Dennis Percy said all money spent on building maintenance has been accounted for and will be in the future.

Board President Ray Dunke said the building and site fund money will be used for only for what voters approved last spring: purchase property, construction or maintain buildings. The building and site levy this year will bring in about $130,000, it was reported.

The $7,002,850 operating budget for fiscal 1976-77 is about 5 per cent higher than the 1975-76 budget. The budget lists the local property tax of 31.46 mills levied for operating as producing $4,164,100. This excludes the 1-mill building and site levy and 3.150-mill debt retirement levy, listed as line items in the budget. The operating tax will be 74 per cent of the budget income. The local property tax last year produced 85 per cent. State aid will bring in 18 per cent, compared to 13.8 per cent last year.

Percy said the state equalized valuation of the district was reduced from $140.8 million to $132.9 million, because of the new state single business tax. This and a new state formula resulted in compensation to the district, where estimated state aid per student will be about $235, compared to about $144 last year.

Expenditures call for 64.6 per cent for instruction, 11.6 per cent for custodial and utilities, 10.2 per cent for fixed charges, such as employee insurance and other benefits 3.5 per cent for transportation, 2.6 per cent, maintenance, and 2.7 per cent for administration.

Bid openings for the Milton demolition and land sale are targeted for the next board meeting, Monday, Dec. 13, Percy said. It's not known if the board will act on the bids at that time.

The board last night agreed unanimously that the Milton site for 10 years after conveyance of deed must be used as a public park or public facility. After that, land usage would be open to negotiations, it was reported.

Milton school was closed this year. Demolition cost, estimated at between $70,000 and $80,000, would be paid by the district. No mention was made last night of an informal offer of $50,000 for the cleared site by an anonymous party who reportedly would lease the land to the City of St. Joseph for $1 per year. The board earlier confirmed such an offer.

In general business, the board:

Adopted a school calendar for 1977-78 and set tuition rates for the current school year at $533.35 for students in kindergarten through sixth grade, and $591.09 for students in grades seven through twelve.

Voted to expel an 18-year-old special education student for alleged "gross misdemeanors within the meaning of the school code." He reportedly has since enrolled in Michigan Lutheran high school. Supt. Burton Aldrich after the meeting said the student was involved in assaults. In faculty matters, Mrs. Charlotte M. Kesterke who has been with the district over 22 years, was released from her contract to enter retirement because of health reasons.

SJ Schools Adopt $7 Million Budget

The St. Joseph board of education last night adopted a $7 million general fund operating budget and voted to advertise for separate bids for the demolition of Milton junior high school and the sale of the cleared 2½-acre site.

Adoption of the budget followed a public hearing that drew opposition to the inclusion of a 1-mill building and site fund from the board-appointed Citizens' Advisory Council.

"Historically, building and site funds have been separate from the general operating budget," Advisory Council Chairman Mrs. Joanne Averill said. She asked that the building and site fund be removed from the operating budget and that all money spent on building maintenance be accounted for separately.

"I think it's a way to balance the budget to avoid a deficit," Mrs. Averill said after the hearing.

BANGOR — The Arlington township board last night agreed, at the request of several Scott Lake shores residents, to begin proceedings that could lead to boating, fishing and swimming restrictions on the lake.

The township board will ask the state's department of natural resources to schedule a public hearing on restriction proposals to be made at a later date.

BH Crash Tips Truck; Driver Hurt

Benton Harbor police said one driver was injured in a car-truck collision that flipped the pickup truck on its side Monday about 3:40 p.m. at the intersection of May street and Bishop avenue.

The injured truck driver, Peter Smith, Jr., 48, of 3523 Fieldtree road, Benton Township, did not require hospitalization, police reported.

The other driver, Velma May Brown, 62, of 1221 Jennings avenue, Benton Harbor, was not hurt and she was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way, police said.

School Farm Is Rented Out

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan school board granted a three-year lease last night to H.B. Irwin of Elm Valley road, Buchanan, on 42 acres of the school's farm.

The lease calls for Irwin to furnish all seed, fertilizer and labor and for the school district to receive one-third of the grain harvested each year. The lease will expire Feb. 1, 1980. The farm is located off Andrews road in Buchanan township.

In other areas, the board approved seeking bids on three new school buses immediately so they can be delivered prior to April 1, 1977, when a price increase of $2,000 each is expected. The move was recommended by Paul Montgomery, school business manager.

Supt. Richard Daugherty reported there will be a meet-

Silver Coins Are Taken In Burglary

COLOMA — A break-in of a Coloma township residence late Monday morning netted thieves over $100, according to township police.

Taken from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Tom DeRosa Jr., 4788 WD-O-Paw drive, was a plastic container holding $100 in silver coins, all minted prior to 1964; an additional $25 in change from a coin box on a dresser, a six-shot .32 caliber pistol, and an autographed Bulova wrist watch.

The break-in was discovered around 11:15 a.m. by the DeRosa's daughter, Lauren, 13, after arriving home from school. Police reported entry into the house was made through a window on the northeast side of the house.

CHIANG'S SON NAMED

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) — Nationalist China's ruling Kuomintang party elected Premier Chiang Ching-kuo chairman of the party at its 11th national congress today.

Chiang had been appointed chairman by the standing committee of the party's central committee after the death of his father, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, in April 1975.

and will call for a $606 assessment on each lot in the district.

The other district was created in the vicinity of Florence street to finance a one-block sanitary sewer extension estimated to cost $31,065. The sewer is to be installed on Florence from McMaster to the city limit and will call for an $851 assessment on each lot.

The council actions followed a public hearing on the proposals attended by about 12 people.

No one present offered any objections to the projects, but a letter was read from Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Reist, of 305 Louise street, which claimed the proposed sewer project assessment would impose a hardship on the couple.

Bonds are to be sold to pay for the projects.

City Atty. Herbert Phillipson said property owners would be able to spread their assessments over 10 years at an estimated interest rate of about eight per cent. The first payment is to be due by March 1, 1977.

In other areas, the council extended a contract with the Solid Waste Disposal Co. for the exclusive right to haul trash and garbage in the city until December, 1978.

James Crawley, owner of Solid Waste, said the existing $3.50 monthly charge per household will remain in effect through 1977.

Richard Anderson, who identified himself as owner of the Dowagiac School of Karate and Self Defense, 132 South Front street, complained to the council that his rent in the privately-owned building was being raised $100 to $350 a month in January. He did not identify the owner nor give a reason for the increase.

He said he realized there was nothing the council could do about it. He said he wanted to advise the council that the sharp rent hike will force him out of business.

Councilmen said that if they can come up with any ideas on how to save the business they would contact him.

Dowagiac Adopts School Budget

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac school board last night adopted a final budget for the 1976-77 school year calling for total expenditures of $5,902,481.

The new budget calls for spending $792,316 more this year for school operations than was spent last year.

The largest increase was in teacher salaries which is estimated to cost $153,946 more than last year.

Other major increases include $133,104 more this year for contracted services; $68,174 more for retirement payments; $87,604 more for health insurance payments; $54,437 more for transportation salaries; $44,721 more for electricity; and $40,960 more for new equipment purchases.

The new budget estimates total revenue at $5,446,771. That leaves an estimated deficit of $455,713.

School administrators said the deficit would be made up by dipping into a general fund balance as of last June 30 which totaled $1,381,072.

The general fund balance next June 30 is expected to be $925,358.

Total revenue from local property taxation is estimated at $2,018,786. State aid is estimated at $2,106,745. The remaining income will come from a variety of sources.

The budget is based on a 1976 property tax levy of 26.315 mills, of which 24 mills will go for operations and 2.315 mills will go for debt retirement.

Last year's total levy was 25.691 mills, of which 24 mills was for operations and 1.691 mills was for debt retirement.

The board adopted a resolution asking that the legal drinking age in Michigan be raised from 18 to 20. The Administrator Si Miller told the board that the high school band's application to play at activities connected with next year's Kentucky Derby in Louisville has been approved.

Weather, Cats Hot Topics In Lansing

ZOLTON FERENCY

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It was the first time the House had convened in a month, yet the hottest topic of the day was whether counties should be allowed to regulate cats and the weather.

House lawmakers took no important action Monday night in their first session after the elections, though consolations were generously passed out to the three legislators who lost their seats.

One bill, however, raised some "meows" from the floor. Sponsored by Rep. Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, it would have let counties enact ordinances providing for the regulation of cats.

Though Owen said it would not have required cats to be licensed, it would have let the Humane Society or other agencies pick up and "dispose" of stray cats.

But the debate came on an amendment, proposed by Rep. John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, that would also have let counties enact ordinances providing for "weather modification."

"I'd like to question whether that is germane to the bill," declared Rep. Thomas Brown, D-Westland.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, a Democrat, promptly ruled Engler's amendment was not germane because the bill dealt with cats, and had nothing to do with weather.

"There's an expression 'It's raining cats and dogs,'" Engler retorted. "My question is, if I add dogs to the rain, would we then have a germane bill?"

At that point the "meows" from impatient House members grew louder, and the bill — without Engler's amendment — was moved into position for a final vote, expected sometime this week.

Engler said after the session he was trying to make a point with his amendment. He has been trying to pass a bill to give counties the authority to spend money for cloud seeding and other rain-creating techniques.

Ferency May Rejoin Democratic Fold

By SUSAN AGER

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Zolton Ferency, standard-bearer for the Human Rights Party since its inception, says he will announce next week whether he will return to the Democratic Party he once headed in Michigan.

A former state party chairman who bolted the party several years ago in disgust over its Vietnam War policies, Ferency said Monday he was "leaning" toward returning to the Democratic fold.

He said he would announce his decision at a press conference next Monday, after meeting Sunday with HRP members.

Liberal Democrats say Ferency has indicated he wants to return to the party, in part because of frustration over the failure of minor parties to affect policy.

Ferency said Monday he's leaning toward coming back to the fold partly because of a "repressive" new state election law that makes it tougher for minor parties to get on the ballot.

"It seems like 90 per cent of the time you're spending time, money and effort in order to stay alive, and only 10 per cent doing something. That's a waste, it seems to me," he said.

Now a professor at Michigan State University, Ferency was state Democratic chairman in 1965-67. During that period he ran unsuccessfully for the state Supreme Court and twice for governor.

He has also run unsuccessfully on the HRP ticket for governor.

His opposition to President Johnson and criticism of some other party leaders left the party at the turn of the decade with some deep divisions.

But United Auto Workers Vice President Douglas Fraser and other liberals in the party have said they want Ferency back.

The Democratic party refused in August to nominate him for the state Supreme Court, though he got a third of the votes of the 3,000 party delegates. Running on the HRP ticket instead, he got 22 per cent of the vote and lost.

Slump In Car Sales Kills Boom Hopes

By OWEN ULLMANN

Detroit (AP) — Hopes for a strong start of the new model-year waned in early November as lingering strike effects at Ford and a continued slump at American Motors pushed the pace of domestic car sales 1.5 per cent below year-earlier levels.

The decline, reported Monday, marked the third consecutive 10-day period in which the sales tempo was off from the year before to provide another sign of a cooling off in the new-car market.

Industry analysts said retail deliveries of new autos were flat even when adjusted for the Ford strike, adding the market was "as flat as the economy."

Small-car specialist AMC, which cut the base price on its Gremlin by $253 on Nov. 5 in hopes of stimulating sales of little autos, showed the steepest decline, with sales in the first 10 days of the month off 31 per cent from a year ago.

A spokesman for the smallest of the U.S. automakers said it was "too early" to tell if the price cut — from $3,248 to $2,995 — helped perk up sales. "We'll have a better indication during the second 10 days of November," he said.

Ford, which reported a 13 per cent decline, said it was still feeling the effects of a four-week United Auto Workers strike which ended in early October. The firm said the strike impact is lessening, however, and the firm is back to near-normal production.

On the plus side, General Motors' sales rose 5 per cent — its Oldsmobile and Cadillac divisions reported new records for the period — and Chrysler sales were up 4 per cent.

Industrywide, the automakers sold 220,000 cars in nine selling days, compared with 188,948 in eight days a year ago. That's a 1.5 per cent decline based on the daily sales rate, which fell to 24,489 from 24,369 a year ago. The daily rate is Detroit's yardstick for measuring gains and drops.

In another move to counter the small-car slump, AMC is offering rebates of up to $225 to retired persons, and GM is paying a $200 rebate with the purchase of one of its subcompacts. The rebates were launched after Nov. 10, however, and thus did not affect sales in the latest period.

Sales a year ago had recovered dramatically from the fall of 1974, when the market was in a severe recession. But the tempo then was mediocre compared with the boom sales in the early 1970s.

The automakers still forecast 1977-model year sales of up to 11.3 million, second only to the 11.8 million sold in model year 1973.

Domestic car sales for 1976-to-date are 7,411,744, up 23 per

GM Talks Moving Slowly

Detroit (AP) — Working against a midnight Thursday strike deadline, the United Auto Workers and General Motors continued subcommittee level sessions that lasted late into the night Monday as they sought a contract settlement for 380,000 GM workers.

"There are just three days to go before a strike deadline ... and GM still has not replied in the pattern areas in which the corporation's offer was short," a union spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman said eight subcommittee meetings Monday focused on topics ranging from health care to grievance procedures. But there were no new maintainable sessions to iron out differences involving the major economic contract provisions, the spokesman said.

Last Wednesday, GM made its first economic offer, calling it "within the framework" of the pattern agreement established at Ford Motor Co. following a four-week strike.

The union countered the following day with additional economic proposals to overcome "the shortfalls" in GM's offer. The two sides have not met at the maintainable since then.

A national strike against GM would be unprecedented, because the UAW has never struck a second company in the one contract year after staging a walkout against the target automaker.

SEN. PHILIP HART
'Day' Plans Scrapped

'Philip Hart Day' Plans Scrapped

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Plans to designate Dec. 10 as Philip Hart Day in Michigan have been scrapped at the dying senator's request.

Instead, a resolution from a panel of top Michigan officials praising Hart's "legacy of humanity, compassion and integrity" will be presented to his Senate staff Wednesday in Washington.

Hart's top assistant, Sid Woolner, said Monday the Democratic senator is physically unable to accept the resolution personally. He has been suffering from cancer of the lymph glands for almost a year.

Gov. William Milliken, a Republican, announced a few weeks ago that plans were underway to have Dec. 10, Hart's 64th birthday, set aside as a special day to honor him.

But Woolner said Monday Hart read a newspaper account of the plans and was "very concerned ... that people really shouldn't be spending their time honoring him, that there were so many other important things to do in this world."

Woolner called the governor and state Rep. Jackie Vaughn, who also was pushing for a Phil Hart Day, and asked them to call off the plans.

"To the staff it sounded like a wonderful idea because we all think so highly of him, but he's too modest for that," Woolner said of Hart, who has been confined to his home for the last several weeks.

First elected to the U. S. Senate in 1958, Hart announced he would retire late last year, before learning he had cancer.

The resolution passed by the State Administrative Board and sent to Washington Monday along with a letter from Milliken says Hart typifies "all that is admirable in enlightened political practice."

The board is made up of top Michigan officials.

Slump In Car Sales Kills Boom Hopes

By OWEN ULLMANN

DETROIT (AP) — Hopes for a strong start of the new model-year waned in early November as lingering strike effects at Ford and a continued slump at American Motors pushed the pace of domestic car sales 1.5 per cent below year-earlier levels.

The decline, reported Monday, marked the third consecutive 10-day period in which the sales tempo was off from the year before to provide another sign of a cooling off in the new-car market.

Industry analysts said retail deliveries of new autos were flat even when adjusted for the Ford strike, adding the market was "as flat as the economy."

Small-car specialist AMC, which cut the base price on its Gremlin by $253 on Nov. 5 in hopes of stimulating sales of little autos, showed the steepest decline, with sales in the first 10 days of the month off 31 per cent from a year ago.

A spokesman for the smallest of the U.S. automakers said it was "too early" to tell if the price cut — from $3,248 to $2,995 — helped perk up sales. "We'll have a better indication during the second 10 days of November," he said.

Ford, which reported a 13 per cent decline, said it was still feeling the effects of a four-week United Auto Workers strike which ended in early October. The firm said the strike impact is lessening, however, and the firm is back to near-normal production.

On the plus side, General Motors' sales rose 5 per cent — its Oldsmobile and Cadillac divisions reported new records for the period — and Chrysler sales were up 4 per cent.

Industrywide, the automakers sold 220,400 cars in nine selling days, compared with 198,948 in eight days a year ago. That's a 1.5 per cent decline based on the daily sales rate, which fell to 24,489 from 24,869 a year ago. The daily rate is Detroit's yardstick for measuring gains and drops.

In another move to counter the small-car slump, AMC is offering rebates of up to $225 to retired persons, and GM is paying a $200 rebate with the purchase of one of its subcompacts. The rebates were launched after Nov. 10, however, and thus did not affect sales in the latest period.

Sales a year ago had recovered dramatically from the fall of 1974, when the market was in a severe recession. But the tempo then was mediocre compared with the boom sales in the early 1970s.

The automakers still forecast 1977-model year sales of up to 11.3 million, second only to the 11.8 million sold in model year 1973.

GM Talks Moving Slowly

DETROIT (AP) — Working against a midnight Thursday strike deadline, the United Auto Workers and General Motors continued subcommittee level sessions that lasted late into the night Monday as they sought a contract settlement for 390,000 GM workers.

"There are just three days to go before a strike deadline ... and GM still has not replied in the pattern areas in which the corporation's offer was short," a union spokesman said Monday.

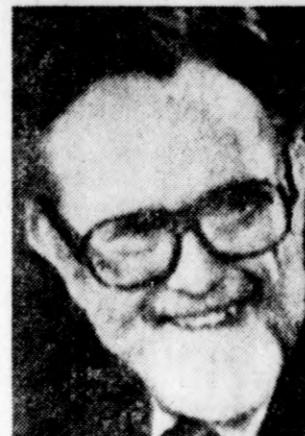

The spokesman said eight subcommittee meetings Monday focused on topics ranging from health care to grievance procedures. But there were no new maintainable sessions to iron out differences involving the major economic contract provisions, the spokesman said.

Last Wednesday, GM made its first economic offer, calling it "within the framework" of the pattern agreement established at Ford Motor Co. following a four-week strike.

The union countered the following day with additional economic proposals to overcome "the shortfalls" in GM's offer. The two sides have not met at the maintainable since then.

A national strike against GM would be unprecedented, because the UAW has never struck a second company in the one contract year after staging a walkout against the target automaker.

SEN. PHILIP HART
'Day' Plans Scrapped

'Philip Hart Day' Plans Scrapped

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Plans to designate Dec. 10 as Philip Hart Day in Michigan have been scrapped at the dying senator's request.

Instead, a resolution from a panel of top Michigan officials praising Hart's "legacy of humanity, compassion and integrity" will be presented to his Senate staff Wednesday in Washington.

Hart's top assistant, Sid Woolner, said Monday the Democratic senator is physically unable to accept the resolution personally. He has been suffering from cancer of the lymph glands for almost a year.

Gov. William Milliken, a Republican, announced a few weeks ago that plans were underway to have Dec. 10, Hart's 64th birthday, set aside as a special day to honor him.

But Woolner said Monday Hart read a newspaper account of the plans and was "very concerned ... that people really

Woolner called the governor and state Rep. Jackie Vaughn, who also was pushing for a Phil Hart Day, and asked them to call off the plans.

"To the staff it sounded like a wonderful idea because we all think so highly of him, but he's too modest for that," Woolner said of Hart, who has been confined to his home for the last several weeks.

First elected to the U. S. Senate in 1958, Hart announced he would retire late last year, before learning he had cancer.

The resolution passed by the State Administrative Board and sent to Washington Monday along with a letter from Milliken says Hart typifies "all that is admirable in enlightened political practice."

The board is made up of top Michigan officials.

cent from 5,994,828 a year ago. Chrysler is up 33 per cent, GM 29 per cent and Ford 16 per cent, while AMC is off 25 per cent.

Here are the unit car sales for each company in the period this year, the same period last year, 1976-to-date, and 1975 to date:

GM: 131,129 vs. 111,231; 4,111,613 vs. 3,179,265. Ford: 52,814 vs. 53,973; 1,945,279 vs. 1,678,378. Chrysler: 30,201 vs. 25,732; 1,141,771 vs. 856,055. AMC: 6,256 vs. 8,012; 213,081 vs. 281,130.

Carter Picks Aides Slowly, Carefully

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter is beginning what he says is a "careful and thorough and deliberate" process to name the top officials who will help him run the government.

Carter also is moving on to a series of meetings with key Washington leaders, including some of the Ford administration officials he is going to replace with his own appointees.

Carter, speaking Monday at his second news conference since election day, said the route he would follow in naming his Cabinet would include his own interviews of leading candidates. He said in some cases the candidates might not know what jobs they were being considered for.

He also said tax rebates and government spending were tools that could be used to stimulate the economy if it needs a boost after the Jan. 20 inauguration. That was the first time Carter has mentioned tax rebates, as opposed to tax cuts, which he has often referred to as a possible device to spur the economy.

However, he cautioned that unemployment ranging from 5 per cent to 7 per cent "would be a likely prospect" over the next four years. He said he still believed his goal of a 4 to 4.5 per cent rate could be attained over a longer period of time. It is currently 7.9 per cent.

Carter will meet next week in Washington with Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who has been warning that too much economic stimulation could fuel inflation.

Carter said he thinks he and Burns can work "harmoniously" and that he understands Burns will stay on in his post as Fed chairman, an independent post that Carter cannot fill until Burns' term runs out more than a year from now.

Carter said he also may meet with President Ford before the end of the month.

Carter also has sessions planned with top congressional and government officials over the next week, starting with a visit with House and Senate Democratic leaders Wednesday.

LOWEST POINT IN FOUR MONTHS

Industrial Production Slips

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. industrial production slipped in September and October to the lowest point in four months, the first such drop since the economic recovery began 19 months ago.

Sustained changes in the industrial index are taken as key signals of economic shifts. However, the figures for only two months are regarded as too skimpy to show a clear trend.

The Federal Reserve Board report Monday on industrial production measures the output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities. The drop, reflecting slower economic growth and some work stoppages, was the strongest signal yet that the economy might be headed down or at least growing more slowly than necessary to make a dent in the jobless rolls.

It's been two weeks since Jimmy Carter said that continued poor economic indicators would make a tax cut a strong possibility once he takes office Jan. 20. The indicators have been poor ever since.

First, unemployment moved up a tenth of 1 per cent to 7.9 per cent for October. Retail sales were only a whisker above where they were four months ago. And then the industrial output report Monday.

Earlier in the day, Carter had raised for the first time the possibility of tax rebates to stimulate the economy. He mentioned the option in expressing his willingness to work with Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns.

The Federal Reserve has the power to determine independently whether to control economic growth by restricting the money supply. Burns has repeatedly asserted that restraint is needed in expanding the money supply to avoid pushing inflation above its present 5.8 per cent rate. He has more than a year left as chairman and has said he intends to finish that term.

Carter said that if there were differences between Burns and him, Carter would have to decide "about increasing the money supply through tax rebates and spending."

Carter's top economic adviser has been saying since June that the economy needs $10 billion to $15 billion in extra government stimulus.

Carter's remarks were his first mention of tax rebates, which are ladled out in a single dose and usually provide a quicker, more concentrated stimulus than a tax cut that is spread out over several months.

The 1974 antirecession tax rebates amounted to $17 billion and averaged a $200 Treasury check per taxpayer.

One government economist, Maynard S. Gómez of the Commerce Department, said despite what he called a pervasive and broad decline in industrial production over the past two months, there's still time to wait for November and December's statistics before deciding on policy options.

"The economy doesn't show a whole lot of strength," he said. Some increase in business investment could already be taking place and result in the growth of total economic output, or Gross National Product, stronger than the fall quarter's annual rate of 4 per cent.

"It's possible, but I'm not confident," he said.

The Federal Reserve said output of the nation's mines, factories and utilities dropped one-half of one per cent in October. And the September figures, which originally were level from August, were revised to show a drop of two-tenths of one per cent.

The Federal Reserve said strikes in the car and farm equipment industries contributed to the decline, but not more than one-third of October's car production was steady in October at an annual rate of 2.7 per million units, but output of home appliances, carpeting and furniture were off for the second month.

Business equipment production, an indicator of business spending, was off by one per cent largely due to the farm equipment shut downs.

DO IT WITH MIRRORS. More than one magical effect can be gained with mirrors in interior decor.

Once upon a time mirrors were taken for granted. There was a tendency to put one over every mantel, or over the sofa if you didn't have a montepiece. But fashions change, and today's mirrors are much less routine items of decor.

They are valuable. You can use a mirror to gain illusion or space in small areas, such as a narrow room. You can even hold a few mirrors to catch and reflect the light, banishing murky shadows from dark rooms or areas.

Mirrors also bring extra color to a room. The colors of walls, of flowers, of draperies, or accessories lead a double life when a mirror reflects them. Be careful when you move a chair, though. Even a small mirror reflects the back, too! Last but not least, every woman needs a full-length mirror somewhere...to check a hem line, to make up a smile, or to look at her figure.

Missing Aircraft Is Found

L'ANSE, Mich. (AP) — A two-month search for a missing airplane has ended with the discovery of its wreckage near the small Upper Peninsula town of Herman.

A State Police at the L'Anse post said Monday night they found the personal effects, including a wallet, of Allen Griffith, 51, of Lakeview, Mich., the plane's owner and pilot.

Bone fragments were found in the wreckage, police said, but have not been identified as human remains.

The twin-engine Beech aircraft had been reported missing Sept. 20 on a flight from Lakeview to Houghton with two men aboard. It had last been spotted by radar some 20 miles northeast of Menominee.

Police said other personal effects have been found, but none definitely linked to Jerry Cook of Dorr, who was supposed to have been on board the plane.

Schools Will Get State Aid In Two Parts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan school districts will receive their December state school aid payments in two parts, because the state doesn't have enough cash to pay the entire $220.9 million at once, according to state officials.

Following a pattern begun last February, half of the bi-monthly payment will go out to schools Dec. 1, and the rest on Dec. 17. An expected $230 million in tax revenues due to the state treasury Dec. 15 will provide the second half of the payment, state treasury officials said.

Every state school aid payment since February has been made in two parts, a spokesman for the state Department of Treasury said Monday. Monies collected monthly from sales, use and withholding taxes must be used to pay other bills, and too little has been left over to fund the

Husband Appears Six Months After She Buried Him

SEIDALIA, Mo. (AP) — Three years after he disappeared, and six months after his burial service, Harold Goldberg wrote to his wife to say he was alive and well. He said a loss of memory was responsible for his disappearance, but that created a new mystery that remains unsolved: Who's the man in Goldberg's grave?

Irene Goldberg said she had been reluctant to believe her husband was dead. But last April, a decomposed body pulled from the Missouri River was identified as Goldberg on the basis of a scar, a bent finger and missing teeth. With that, Mrs. Goldberg arranged a funeral and resigned herself to being a widow.

Early this month, her husband's letter arrived. He had lost his memory while driving home from a business trip in January 1974, he said, and was working under a new name at a resort in Forsyth, 135 miles away in the Ozarks. He said his memory had been refreshed when a visitor recognized him.

Goldsberg, a cook and restaurant owner, said in a telephone interview that just before he lost his memory "I got to feeling kind of sleepy. I stopped along the highway and went to sleep."

He said that's the last thing he remembers, except for vague recollections of stops in Ogden, Utah; Athens, Ga.; and Springfield, Mo. He said he also remembered going to work for Jack Crockett, operator of the Elks Club in Independence, Kan., and at some point adopting the name Harold Gordon.

When Crockett moved to Forsyth to take over a lakeside lodge and cafe, he took Goldsberg along as his cook. "We kind of more or less adopted the old boy," Crockett said. He added that his three children "kind of thought the world of him."

Crockett described Goldsberg, 67, as outgoing. He said Goldsberg once sat at a table with Susan Ford when the President's daughter visited the lodge. "He sent the President a loaf of cinnamon bread," Crockett said.

Crockett said a recent visitor to the lodge asked him if his cook's name was Goldsberg. Crockett said no, but he later asked the cook if he was really Harold Goldsberg.

The cook paused for a moment and then said: "Yes, I am," Crockett recalled. A short time later, Goldsberg wrote to his wife. On Nov. 7, Mrs. Goldsberg went with friends to Forsyth and took Goldsberg home to Sedalia. "We're going to have to work things out and put the pieces together again," Mrs. Goldsberg said.

She said Goldsberg's memory was slowly returning and he has been recalling bits and pieces of his life. He suffers periods of dizziness and headaches, she said. "Sometimes I can remember a lot of things; sometimes I can't," said Goldsberg. "You have a faint recollection that you know somebody, but you don't know where you met them. It's terrifying."

Meanwhile, the man in the grave remains a mystery. Authorities say that because the body had deteriorated so much when it was found they won't even try to exhume it for a new identification.

Conservatives Worry State GOP Chief

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Republican Party risks becoming a regional party of narrow philosophy and little effectiveness if conservatives take it over, according to Michigan GOP Chairman William McLaughlin. McLaughlin said the coming battle between the party's moderates and conservatives for control of the GOP would determine whether it remains one of the two major party or shrinks into a minor party.

"Sure, I'm worried," he said.

Officers Of Head Start Unit Chosen

MRS. EMMA FIELDS
Head Start chairman

DECATUR — Mrs. Emma Fields of Benton Harbor has been elected chairman of the Tri-County Council for Child Development, Inc., here for 1976-77.

The council is the sponsoring board for Tri-County Head Start, serving Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties. Mrs. Fields replaces Mrs. Maxine Ivens of Dowagiac as chairman. Other officers elected were Mrs. Helen Grund, Paw Paw, vice chairman; Mrs. Jeanne Hager, Benton Harbor, secretary; and Mrs. Ivens, treasurer.

Watervliet Firemen Snuff Blaze

WATERVLIET — Watervliet firemen were called to extinguish a fire yesterday in a stack of building insulation material next to the Knights of Columbus hall on Paw Paw avenuehere.

The fire broke out about noon when a bar kettle being used by roofers overheated, workers at the site reported. There were no injuries.

Separatists Win Victory

allow them to accept the middle course proposed by the Liberal party."

He said a major factor was the Official Language Act, which his government passed in 1974. The law made French the province's official language and tried to force children of immigrants into French-language schools by requiring those whose native tongue was not English to pass a proficiency test in that language in order to attend English schools.

Bourassa said the legislation "was not enough for the French in this province and yet it was too much for the English to some extent."

There was no immediate comment on the election outcome from Charles Bronfman, the millionaire distiller, sportsman and Liberal party supporter, who said just before the election that if the Pequites won, he would take his company, Seagrams, and his baseball team, the Montreal Expos, out of the province.

Sheriff May Close Jail

BALDWIN, Mich. (AP) — Lake County Sheriff Robert Johnson says if he doesn't get paid on schedule he may close the county jail. County commissioners, charging the lame-duck sheriff has been living in Florida since Sept. 3, last week voted to withhold his salary. They also ordered Johnson to repay some $2,000 he has collected while living out of the state. Johnson, who lost a bid for re-election this year, said Monday the law guarantees him his salary regardless of how much work he does, and insisted the county board has no authority over his pay. He has requested a meeting with the commissioners "as soon as possible" to iron out the dispute. Unless he gets his paycheck Thursday, he said, he will take "some sort" of action — possibly closing the jail.

QUITS CONTEST

LONDON (AP) — Miss Liberia has followed Miss Mauritius and Miss Swaziland in pulling out of the Miss World beauty contest.

At least three hunters were injured Monday. Richard Bowen, 39, of Scotts, was shot in the hip about 9:30 a.m. while hunting in Barry County, according to police. Bowen was hospitalized in serious condition in Battle Creek.

Bird Habitat Supported

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Audubon Society has voted to oppose development of one of Lake Huron's last remaining migratory bird habitats. The society's board of directors said Tuesday they have passed a resolution urging the Army Corps of Engineers in Detroit to refuse to issue permits required to dredge and fill portions of the marshy area. The marsh is located along the southern edge of Sand Point, a strip of land that extends into the western shore of Saginaw Bay. According to the society, the Corps is considering a proposal to develop the area. Members of the Sand Point Association asked the Audubon Society to investigate the proposal and take a stand.

Higher Budget At MSU

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan State University Board of Trustees has approved a budget request of $179.4 million for the 1977-78 year, an increase of $44.8 million over its current general fund budget. The request will be sent to Gov. William Milliken and the state legislature. Some 16 percent of the school's general fund operating money usually comes from the state, with the rest contributed in student tuition and from other sources. MSU President Clifton R. Wharton Jr. said the requested increase was an effort to stop a recent erosion in university funding, as well as to provide some "modest" improvement in the school's programs.

Trespass Bill Advances

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Sportsmen would need written permission before they could enter most private land in Michigan under a bill nearing final state legislative approval. On a vote of 29-1, the state Senate sent to the House a bill which would require written permission for person to enter land that is farmed, fenced or posted against trespassing. The law would apply to hunters, fishermen, snowmobilers and off-road vehicle users. The bill constitutes a major change in the state land use law, since only oral permission is currently required. The bill results in part from abuses by sportsmen on private land, including shooting livestock, breaking down fences, destroying trees and crops, and littering.

Seeks Another Big Payoff

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Grosse Pointe Farms housewife who already has pocketed $212,500 in Michigan lottery winnings will try to pick up another $100,000 in Thursday's televised lottery show. Margaret M. Peters won the $212,500 in her first two appearances on the "Michigan" program. To win another $100,000 and qualify as the biggest "Michigan" winner yet, she will have to survive the challenges of six new contestants on this week's show. The current record winner is Shelly Bryant of Flint who won $300,000 in the first two "Michigan" shows. The show's contestants are selected from those persons who have matched both winning numbers on the weekly 50-cent lottery ticket. All contestants will win at least $4,500. Mrs. Peters, 55, plans to use some of her prize money to take a second honeymoon in Hawaii.

Bank Shortage Investigated

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI and Michigan National Bank West Metro officials have confirmed an investigation is underway into a cash shortage at the Livonia bank's Six Mile-Newburgh branch. Sources close to the probe said over the weekend the shortage may be nearly $1 million. Andrew Brodhead, president of West Metro, would not comment on the alleged shortage. "But I cannot deny there is an investigation by the FBI," he said. An FBI spokesman said the investigation had begun "recently" and is "still ongoing," but would not elaborate or confirm the amount of the shortage. West Metro has 11 locations in the Livonia area. It is a wholly owned subsidiary of Michigan National Bank, and has about $150 million in total assets.

"If it gets painted into a narrow philosophical base, it could become a minor party," he said. "It can survive a conservative takeover, but it couldn't come back. I don't see the party dying, but it is possible it would get less and less effective."

The alternative, McLaughlin said, is to expand the party's base by trying to attract voters in the "big states and big cities" — the black, other minorities and young people.

"You have to change your image, and compete where you haven't competed before," he said.

He countered conservative claims the country is leaning to the right and would respond to a conservative platform. "Ford was pretty conservative," he shrugged. "So how come we didn't win?"

McLaughlin said he and Gov. William Milliken will be active in pushing for a moderate GOP. But if the party is taken over by conservatives, he said, "I assume we can get it together in Michigan and win elections no matter how it goes nationally. But if the party gets that image, it will make our job harder."

McLaughlin said he would be interested in the national chairman's job if Mrs. Smith steps down. But he said he has been too strong an advocate of liberal Republicanism to be acceptable to the conservatives even if the moderates win.

fatally wounded early Monday morning while hunting about five miles south of Pentwater. Vasquez was hit in the chin when his rifle discharged after he dropped it. He died about 10:30 a.m. at Oceana Hospital in Hart.

Police reported Wilfred Jacobs, 56, of McMillan, died of a heart attack while hunting in Schoolcraft County and Donald Richard Jaguseli, 47, of Plymouth, who was hunting in Missaukee County's Butterfield Township.

At least three hunters were injured Monday. Richard Bowen, 39, of Scotts, was shot in the hip about 9:30 a.m. while hunting in Barry County, according to police. Bowen was hospitalized in serious condition in Battle Creek.

Lawton Sets Uniform Bus Discipline

LAWTON — The Lawton school board last night was informed that students in the district are now under a uniform and consistent school bus discipline policy. Supt. Ray Bandow told board members he had set uniform disciplinary measures after receiving complaints that some students were punished more harshly than others.

Under the policy, the first report of misconduct on a school bus will bring the student a warning and his parents will be notified of the infraction.

A second report of misconduct will result in the student losing bus privileges for three days. Third and subsequent reports of misconduct will result in the loss of bus privileges for 10 days.

In other areas, it was announced that elementary school Principal Jerry Howard has submitted his resignation to take a job as assistant middle school principal in Fennville.

Howard's resignation will be acted on by the board as soon as a replacement is found.

Bandow said he expected a replacement could be found within a month. Howard had been principal for the past year.

The board announced it has rejected all bids for constructing a concession stand at the athletic field. Board members said three bids, ranging from $29,000 to $25,000, were too high.

Board members said they hope to build the stand with volunteer help and donations from the Lions and athletic boosters clubs.

The board voted to purchase its fleet, workman's compensation and comprehensive business insurance policies from the Farm Bureau at a total cost of $15,270. The firm submitted the lowest of four bids.

A $1 million umbrella policy is to be purchased from the Garrett agency, Kalamazoo, at a cost of $1,175. That was also the lowest of four bids.

Decatur Bank Is Honored

DECATUR — The First State Bank of Decatur has been awarded a centennial business award by the state historical society, the Van Buren county historical society and the Decatur Bicentennial committee. In ceremonies at the Decatur township hall Sunday, the bank was recognized for service to the area since its founding in 1870 as the then First National Bank of Decatur. The award was presented by Frank C. Wilhelm, executive director of the state historical society.

Conservatives Worry State GOP Chief

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Republican Party risks becoming a regional party of narrow philosophy and little effectiveness if conservatives take it over, according to Michigan GOP Chairman William McLaughlin. McLaughlin said the coming battle between the party's moderates and conservatives for control of the GOP would determine whether it remains one of the two major party or shrinks into a minor party.

"Sure, I'm worried," he said.

Officers Of Head Start Unit Chosen

MRS. EMMA FIELDS
Head Start chairman

DECATUR — Mrs. Emma Fields of Benton Harbor has been elected chairman of the Tri-County Council for Child Development, Inc., here for 1976-77.

The council is the sponsoring board for Tri-County Head Start, serving Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties. Mrs. Fields replaces Mrs. Maxine Ivens of Dowagiac as chairman. Other officers elected were Mrs. Helen Grund, Paw Paw, vice chairman; Mrs. Jean Hager, Benton Harbor, secretary; and Mrs. Ivens, treasurer.

Watervliet Firemen Snuff Blaze

WATERVLIET — Watervliet firemen were called to extinguish a fire yesterday in a stack of building insulation material next to the Knights of Columbus hall on Paw Paw avenue.

The fire broke out about noon when a tar kettle being used by roofers overheated, workmen at the site reported. There were no injuries.

He said a major factor was the Official Language Act, which his government passed in 1974. The law made French the province's official language and tried to force children of immigrants into French-language schools by requiring those whose native tongue was not English to pass a proficiency test in that language in order to attend English schools.

Bourassa said the legislation "was not enough for the French in this province and yet it was too much for the English to some extent."

There was no immediate comment on the election outcome from Charles Bronfman, the millionaire distiller, sportsman and Liberal party supporter, who said just before the election that if the Pequists won, he would take his company, Seagrams, and his baseball team, the Montreal Expos, out of the province.

Sheriff May Close Jail

BALDWIN, Mich. (AP) — Lake County Sheriff Robert Johnson says if he doesn't get paid on schedule he may close the county jail. County commissioners, charging the lame-duck sheriff has been living in Florida since Sept. 3, last week voted to withhold his salary. They also ordered Johnson to repay some $2,000 he has collected while allegedly living out of the state. Johnson, who lost a bid for re-election this year, said Monday the law guarantees him his salary regardless of how much work he does, and insisted the county board has no authority over his pay. He has requested a meeting with the commissioners "as soon as possible" to iron out the dispute. Unless he gets his paycheck Thursday as scheduled, Johnson said, he will take "some sort" of action — possibly closing the jail.

Bird Habitat Supported

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Audubon Society has voted to oppose development of one of Lake Huron's last remaining migratory bird habitats. The society's board of directors said Tuesday they have passed a resolution urging the Army Corps of Engineers in Detroit to refuse to issue permits required to dredge and fill portions of the marshy area. The marsh is located along the southern edge of Sand Point, a strip of land that extends into the western shore of Saginaw Bay. According to the society, the Corps is considering a proposal to develop the area. Members of the Sand Point Association asked the Audubon Society to investigate the proposal and take a stand.

Board Jobs Trigger South Haven Dispute

BY TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — One member of the South Haven Board of Public Utilities (BPU) was removed and another was put on notice for removal by the South Haven city council last night.

The actions were triggered by Councilman Norvan Books because of a city charter provision and touched off a clash between Books, other commissioners and Mayor Richard Lewis.

Books left the meeting when the commission first voted against removing the men. The commission later voted to remove the one member immediately and replace the other by Dec. 20.

Involved in the dispute were Stanley Adams and BPU chairman Raymond Giegerich.

Adams, whose term was to end in April, was removed immediately and replaced by Robert Salasky, 1073 Monroe boulevard. The removal vote was 5 to 1.

Giegerich was to be replaced by the Dec. 20 meeting, according to the council. His term was to end in 1979.

Both men are in their second full five-year terms, but had been appointed initially to fill unexpired seats on the board.

Books sought their removal because of a city charter provision which bans an appointee to a board from succeeding himself more than once.

Mayor Richard Lewis acknowledged that the city attorney had determined Books' contention was correct.

Lewis, in a prepared statement, charged that Books initiated the issue because he had a "run-in" with one of the board members.

Lewis further charged that Books and Albert Pierce, former city manager, were conspiring to "make the current administration look bad."

Pierce, who still lives in South Haven, was fired after a 4 to 3 vote of the council last April.

Mayor Lewis encouraged the council to act judiciously.

A motion by Books to dismiss both Adams and Giegerich immediately was defeated 4 to 3. Supporting Books were aldermen Robert Warren and Matthew Goerg. Opposed were Lewis and aldermen Ronald Kozlik, Joseph Seiler and Rex Lineberry.

After the motion was defeated Books stormed out of the meeting charging the local government was being run "like Watergate."

Seiler accused Books of violating the city charter also while the commission's representative to the city planning commission.

According to Seiler, Books was absent frequently which he contended was a charter violation.

After Books left, the council, on Lewis' suggestion, voted 5 to 1 to remove Adams.

Kozlik cast the only dissenting vote.

Lewis then invited suggestions from the public on candidates for the position to succeed Giegerich.

In other matters, council approved an increase in the electric rates for customers of the BPU effective with bills received Dec. 1.

The across-the-board half cent per kilowatt hour increase is needed to match a hike in the cost of power the city purchases from its supplier, the Indiana & Michigan Electric company.

Council had increased rates 40 per cent last month, but it was determined that the hike was not enough, resulting in a deficit situation for the utility.

Calling the newest increase a "stop-gap measure," BPU controller Wilbur Lynam told council members that a complete review of the rate structure is underway.

Lynam admitted that the utility has come under criticism because some high volume users are buying electricity at a rate cheaper than what it costs the city to purchase it from I & M.

He said the utility is considering a flat rate concept instead of the current sliding structure on the basis of volume.

The new rate hike will increase bills anywhere from 10 per cent for low volume customers to as much as 25 per cent for high volume users.

The typical residential customer will find his bill go up about $2.50 per month to $20.50, according to Lynam.

The council paid tribute to former city attorney William Brown who died last week.

James Edwards, owner of E-Jay Therme Products, which is located in South Haven township, asked the council to reconsider its decision not to allow him to connect to a city water line. Council denied his request at its Nov. 1 meeting on grounds that South Haven township does not have a zoning ordinance.

Edwards said he would be willing to annex the property on Blue Star Memorial highway to the city. He called the council decision unfair, noting the city has extended water and sewer services into the township previously.

Council agreed to advertise for bids to have private haulers be responsible for the citywide refuse pickup that is now handled by the street department.

The council noted that its landfill is full and that a new site in South Haven township won't be ready for use for another year.

The low $12,485 bid of G & M Painting company of Ecorse to paint the water tower in the industrial park was approved.

Council agreed to seek bids to sell a 10-year-old three-wheel motorcycle which is no longer used by the police department.

Ohioan Is Elected Director At Clark

BUCHANAN — William W. Wommack, vice chairman of the board of directors of the Mead Corp., Cincinnati, Ohio, has been elected to the board of directors of Clark Equipment Company, Buchanan.

Clark is a major world-wide manufacturer of axles and transmissions, construction machinery and material handling equipment. It employs more than 23,000 people in its 32 plants, 22 of which are in the United States and Canada and 10 abroad.

In addition to his direc-torships at Mead and Clark, Wommack is a board member of National Lime and Stone Company and the First National Bank of Cincinnati and is chairman of the Strategic Planning Institute of Boston.

Wommack was treasurer and comptroller for the Ottawa River Paper Company when that company merged with Mead in 1968. From 1958 to 1963, he worked in the Mead Containers division, first as administrative assistant to the president, then as vice president of manufacturing.

Berrien's Mental School Will Not Be Fenced Off

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs village council was told last night that the proposed school for the mentally impaired and trainable children here would not be surrounded by a fence.

Donald Cameron, an official of the Berrien county intermediate district's superintendent, said the youngsters attending the school would be supervised closely, making a fence unnecessary.

In other action, the council adopted a citizen participation plan as a condition of the federal community development grant received by the village last year. The plan provides for informing residents of available funding, types of programs permissible and the timetable for filing applications, as well as giving citizens a chance to express their opinions on proposed applications. The grants are made by HUD for housing, rehabilitation and public works.

The council voted to reject all bids received for demolition of four old houses in the village, and to return the bid bonds. The clerk was authorized to re-advertise for bids to be opened at the next council meeting, Dec. 6.

The council accepted the low bid of $385 from Cooper and Carlson Heating and Air Conditioning, Stevensville, for removal and replacement of the heating unit in the Tudor road pavilion house.

The council also accepted the bid of $750 from Weaver Floor Sanding Service, St. Joseph, to sand and finish the main floor of the pavilion at Indian Grove.

The council approved the request by Action Ambulance to pay a one-month advance of $171 to the ambulance company and to meet its payroll this month. The village contracts with the firm for ambulance service.

The council was told that Action has asked the village and Oronoko township to form a new corporation that will handle financing and provide a part-time manager for the ambulance service. No action was taken on this request, pending further study and discussion with Action.

The village clerk was authorized to contact businesses for removal before Dec. 6 of the antenna and guy wires from the roof of the building which houses the village hall and the Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police station.

Board Jobs Trigger South Haven Dispute

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — One member of the South Haven Board of Public Utilities (BPU) was removed and another was put on notice for removal by the South Haven city council last night.

The actions were triggered by Councilman Norvan Books because of a city charter provision and touched off a clash between Books, other commissioners and Mayor Richard Lewis.

Books left the meeting when the commission first voted against removing the men. The commission later voted to remove the one member immediately and replace the other by Dec. 20.

Involved in the dispute were Stanley Adams and BPU chairman Raymond Giegerich.

Adams, whose term was to end in April, was removed immediately and replaced by Robert Salasky, 1073 Monroe boulevard. The removal vote was 5 to 1.

Giegerich was to be replaced by the Dec. 20 meeting, according to the council. His term was to end in 1979.

Both men are in their second full five-year terms, but had been appointed initially to fill unexpired seats on the board.

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs village council was told last night that the proposed school for the mentally impaired and trainable children here would not be surrounded by a fence.

Donald Cameron, an official of the Berrien county intermediate district's superintendent, said at two present schools for the youngsters there have been no complaints from neighbors.

The $2 million structure is to be built by the intermediate district behind the intermediate school district offices already located there.

In other action, the council adopted a citizen participation plan as a condition of the federal community development grant received by the village last year. The plan provides for informing residents of available funding, types of programs permissible and the timetable for filing applications, as well as giving citizens a chance to express their opinions on proposed applications. While in law school, Dunfield also served as law clerk for a number of Ann Arbor attorneys. He and his wife, Dianne, have one son, Nathan, and reside at 800 Court street, St. Joseph. (Staff photo)

Court Fines Eau Claire Man For Shooting Swan

Steve A. Durham, 22, of Maple street, Eau Claire, was sentenced to maximum fine and costs totalling $200 yesterday for shooting a swan. Sentence was imposed by Berrien District Court Magistrate Justine Smith after Conservation Officer William Edwards recommended the maximum. Durham, who pleaded no contest, also was ordered to pay $10 for restitution and a $3 conservation fee. In an advisory note to the court, Edwards wrote that hunters who shoot swans sometimes give the excuse they mistook the swan for a snow goose. "Anyone who can't tell a long neck swan from a little snow goose hadn't better be shooting at anything white," Edwards wrote. Edwards said the swan was killed Nov. 4 in Pipestone township.

The village clerk was authorized to contact businesses for removal before Dec. 6 of the antenna and guy wires from the roof of the building which houses the village hall and the Berrien Springs village Oronoko township police station.

Rose Bowl Only Post-Season Game On U-M's Mind

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Orange, Sugar, Cotton Bowls? Coach Bo Schembechler of Michigan almost refuses to acknowledge the existence of those major post-season football games — until after the Wolverines' showdown Saturday in Columbus against arch-rival Ohio State.

Fourth-ranked Michigan

must win to tie eighth-ranked Ohio State for the Big Ten championship and probably earn a trip to the Rose Bowl. Any indication by Schembechler of what other bowl game the Wolverines might prefer if they lose would suggest a lack of confidence in this week's result.

Last year Michigan lost to Ohio State, 21-14, and the Buckeyes went to the Rose Bowl. However, for the first time the Big Ten allowed other conference teams to play in bowl games and runner-up Michigan went to the Orange Bowl. The Wolverines lost to Oklahoma, 14-6.

"I don't know anything about anything other than the Rose Bowl," Schembechler said Monday.

"I have not talked to anybody about bowls and I don't want to."

He did say that "most likely" his players would have a say in which bowl they'd prefer, but he prefers not to consider the option now.

The Wolverines were scouted by representatives from the major bowls as early as the season opener.

Schembechler, as usual in preparation for the Ohio State clash, will close practice and not allow player interviews.

That was also the case last week following the 16-14 loss to Purdue.

Michigan has a 6-1 conference record and an 8-1 overall. The Buckeyes have an 8-1-1 season mark but are 6-0 in the league.

Last year during "Ohio State Week" a photographer stringing for a wire service was caught taking pictures of Michigan's practice. His film was confiscated and quite a stir was created.

"I've got a crew of goons that are gonna patrol down there," Schembechler said with a grin, forewarning potential practice intruders.

Schembechler expects to have everyone ready to play, including defensive end-punter John Anderson and defensive back Jim Bolden. Anderson missed last Saturday's 38-7 triumph over Illinois because of sprained knee ligaments. Bolden suffered a bruised thigh in the game.

The Wolverine coaching staff were tickled Kirk Lewis on offense and Bo Morton on defense. Middle guard Dale Kelz was the scout team player of the week, tailback Lawrence Reid the top rookie and kicker Bob Wood the specialty team standout.

Edge Lowly Bills 17-10

Bad Cowboys Win

DALLAS (AP) — Wide receiver Drew Pearson of the Dallas Cowboys had just caught nine passes for 135 yards, but he displayed a hang dog look on the sidelines as the final seconds ticked away in a 17-10 victory Monday night over the Buffalo Bills.

"Boy, he's going to chew us out this time," Pearson said to a teammate. The other player added.

"He" is Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who has a 9-1 team that is playing bad and winning. In fact, the Cowboys are off to their finest start in their 16-year history in the National Football League.

Pearson said later, "We are professionals and if we don't play up to our level than we should expect to be chewed out."

He was told that Landry says he never chews out players.

Pearson answered with a smile, "If he says he doesn't chew us out — then he doesn't."

Landry did not sound like the

of a tongue-lashing.

Dallas is playing well enough to lead St. Louis by one game in the National Conference Eastern Division. The teams meet in a Thanksgiving Day showdown at Texas Stadium.

"It still all comes down to that game," said Landry.

Dallas played good defense but had an almost non-existent rushing game. Virtually the only offense was passes from quarterback Roger Staubach to his favorite receiver, Pearson.

The duo clicked for 61 yards in 13 seconds on two passes just before the end of the first half for the go-ahead touchdown after Buffalo had tied the score 7-7 on a 29-yard touchdown pass from Gary Marungi to Reuben Gant.

Dallas led briefly 7-0 in the second quarter on Preston Pearson's two-yard touchdown run.

The payoff was a 21-yard touchdown pass from Staubach to Drew Pearson.

Staubach admitted, "Our offensive performance wasn't good at all."

Buffalo offensive guard Reggie McKenzie said, "I think Dallas can get back to the Super Bowl, but it's going to be tough. They are going to have to get by some tough teams. They were there last year, weren't they? They are good enough."

Defensive end Sherman White of the Bills grudgingly admitted the touchdown pass from Staubach to Pearson was "the prettiest play I ever saw. That was the play that did it. Landry is a great coach and Dallas is an excellent team."

Davis' CFL Career Ends

Tampa Bay Holds Rights To Star Running Back

TORONTO (AP) — The Canadian Football League career of running back Anthony Davis has come to an unceremonious ending.

Davis, the heralded college superstar who arrived in Canada six months ago with a five-year, $1-million contract, bought the contract back from the Toronto Argonauts Monday and said he hoped to pursue a career in the National Football League.

The Tampa Bay Buccaneers, coached by John McKay, held his NFL rights. McKay enached Davis when the running back started at the University of Southern California.

Argos owner Bill Hodgeson, who had hoped the 23-year-old Davis would be the bright, new superstar the Toronto team needed to win the Grey Cup, made the announcement of Davis' departure just one week after the Argos lost their final game of the regular season to Hamilton and finished out of the playoffs.

There also were reports of a rift between Davis and Argos Coach Russ Jackson. Davis, injured early in the season, complained that the Argos were not using him enough, a fact brought out by his season statistics.

"A.D. is a great athlete," said Dick Shatto, the Argos managing director. "But if you have someone in your organization who is not completely happy, then it's best for both parties that he have the opportunity to try his skills elsewhere."

Hodgeson and Davis signed the necessary papers to free Davis from his contract. In return for the release, Toronto received an undisclosed cash settlement. The Argonauts placed Davis on CFL waivers last week. When the other eight teams in the CFL showed no desire to pick up his large contract, he became a free agent.

Prior to joining the Argonauts, Davis played a half-season with the Southern California Sun before the World Football League franchise folded along with the league.

In 13 games this season, Davis rushed 104 times for 417 yards and two touchdowns. His longest run was 48 yards. Davis also caught 37 passes for 408 yards and two TDs.

He set Argos records for returning 27 kickoffs a total of 701 yards and he returned five punts 96 yards.

Soccer Deadlock Still Unsolved

VANCOUVER (AP) — Canadian World Cup soccer team officials failed Friday to solve a deadlock with the United States over a site for the playoff game between the two countries.

If there is no agreement, the time and place of the game will be set by FIFA, soccer's international headquarters in Zurich, Switzerland.

FIFA gave the two countries 10 days to make arrangements for the game at a neutral site before Dec. 31, but lengthy telephone negotiations between here and New York produced no results.

The 10-day period runs out this weekend.

A spokesman for the Rhode Island attorney general's office said Barnes would be asked to return to the state to voluntary but if he refuses, extradition proceedings may be initiated.

Year ago this month, Barnes was ordered by a federal court jury to pay $10,000 to former Providence College teammate Larry Kettvirts for a broken jaw received in the assault. Kettvirts had sought $1.5 million.

Barnes also received a one-year suspended prison sentence.

The warrant charges Barnes violated his probation on Oct. 9, when he was arrested for allegedly carrying an unloaded handgun in his luggage when it was checked at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The Pistons management handed Barnes his most recent suspension last week for missing games and practice sessions. Earlier in the year, he was suspended for failing to show up at pre-season camp, and later for not being at practice.

Barnes has yet to play a regular season game for Detroit's National Basketball Association team. He currently has a cast on an injured ankle.

If convicted of violating his parole, Barnes could be forced to serve the one-year suspended term.

Barnes has yet to play a regular season game for Detroit's National Basketball Association team. He currently has a cast on an injured ankle.

If convicted of violating his parole, Barnes could be forced to serve the one-year suspended term.

A spokesman for the Rhode Island attorney general's office said Barnes would be asked to return to the state to voluntary but if he refuses, extradition proceedings may be initiated.

Year ago this month, Barnes was ordered by a federal court jury to pay $10,000 to former

Providence College teammate Larry Kettvirts for a broken jaw received in the assault. Kettvirts had sought $1.5 million.

Barnes also received a one-year suspended prison sentence.

The warrant charges Barnes violated his probation on Oct. 9, when he was arrested for allegedly carrying an unloaded handgun in his luggage when it was checked at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The Pistons management handed Barnes his most recent suspension last week for missing games and practice sessions.

Earlier in the year, he was suspended for failing to show up at pre-season camp, and later for not being at practice.

Rose Bowl Only Post-Season Game On U-M's Mind

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Orange, Sugar, Cotton Bowls? Coach Bo Schembechler of Michigan almost refuses to acknowledge the existence of those major post-season football games — until after the Wolverines' showdown Saturday in Columbus against arch-rival Ohio State.

Fourth-ranked Michigan

must win to tie eighth-ranked Ohio State for the Big Ten championship and probably earn a trip to the Rose Bowl. Any indication by Schembechler of what other bowl game the Wolverines might prefer if they lose would suggest a lack of confidence in this week's result.

Last year Michigan lost to Ohio State, 21-14, and the Buckeyes went to the Rose Bowl. However, for the first time the Big Ten allowed other conference teams to play in bowl games and runner-up Michigan went to the Orange Bowl. The Wolverines lost to Oklahoma, 14-6.

"I don't know anything about anything other than the Rose Bowl," Schembechler said Monday.

"I have not talked to anybody about bowls and I don't want to."

He did say that "most likely" his players would have a say in which bowl they'd prefer, but he prefers not to consider the option now.

The Wolverines were scouted by representatives from the major bowls as early as the season opener.

Schembechler, as usual in preparation for the Ohio State clash, will close practice and not allow player interviews.

That was also the case last week following the 16-14 loss to Purdue.

Michigan has a 6-1 conference record and in 9-1 overall. The Buckeyes have an 8-1-1 season mark but are 7-0 in the league.

Last year during "Ohio State Week" a photographer stringing for a wire service was caught taking pictures of Michigan's practice. His film was confiscated and quite a stir was created.

"I've got a crew of goons that are gonna patrol down there," Schembechler said with a grin, forewarning potential practice interlopers.

Schembechler expects to have everyone ready to play, including defensive end-punter John Anderson and defensive back Jim Bolden. Anderson missed last Saturday's 38-7 triumph over Illinois because of sprained knee ligaments. Bolden suffered a bruised thigh in the game.

The Wolverine coaching staff named wingback Jim Smith and safety Jim Pickens as their offensive and defensive "Champions of the Week." Smith caught six passes for 127 yards, Wood the specialty team standout. Pickens was excellent on pass coverage.

Runnersup for the awards and named "Hustlers" of the week were tackles Kirk Lewis on offense and Bo Morton on defense. Middle guard Dale Keitz was the scout team player of the week, tailback Lawrence Reid the top rookie and kicker Bob Wood the specialty team stand-

Bad Cowboys Win

DALLAS (AP) — Wide receiver Drew Pearson of the Dallas Cowboys had just caught nine passes for 135 yards, but he displayed a hang dog look on the sidelines as the final seconds ticked away in a 17-10 victory Monday night over the Buffalo Bills.

"Boy, he's going to chew us out this time," Pearson said to a teammate. The other player nodded.

"He" is Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who has a 9-4 team that is playing bad and winning. In fact, the Cowboys are off to their finest start in their 16-year history in the National Football League.

"It still all comes down to that

Pearson said later, "We are professionals and if we don't play up to our level than we should expect to be chewed out."

He was told that Landry says he never chews out players.

Pearson answered with a smile, "If he says he doesn't chew us out — then he doesn't."

Landry did not sound like the Cowboys were in for too severe of a tongue-lashing.

Dallas is playing well enough to lead St. Louis by one game in the National Conference Eastern Division. The teams meet in a Thanksgiving Day show-down at Texas Stadium.

Dallas led briefly 7-0 in the second quarter on Preston Pearson's two-yard touchdown run.

The payoff was a 21-yard touchdown pass from Staubach to Drew Pearson.

Staubach admitted, "Our offense performance wasn't good at all."

Buffalo offensive guard Reggie McKenzie said, "I think Dallas can get back to the Super Bowl, but it's going to be tough. They are going to have to get by some tough teams. They were there last year, weren't they? They are good enough."

Defensive end Sherman White of the Bills grudgingly admitted the touchdown pass from Staubach to Pearson was "the prettiest play I ever saw. That was the play that did it. Landry is a great coach and Dallas is an excellent team."

Davis' CFL Career Ends

Tampa Bay Holds Rights To Star Running Back

TORONTO (AP) — The Canadian Football League career of running back Anthony Davis has come to an unceremonious end.

Davis, the heralded college superstar who arrived in Canada six months ago with a five-year, $1-million contract, bought the contract back from the Toronto Argonauts Monday and said he hoped to pursue a career in the National Football League.

The Tampa Bay Buccaneers, coached by John McKay, held his NFL rights. McKay coached Davis when the running back starred at the University of Southern California.

Argos owner Bill Hodgson, who had hoped the 24-year-old Davis would be the bright, new superstar the Toronto team needed to win the Grey Cup, made the announcement of Davis' departure just one week after the Argos lost their final game of the regular season to Hamilton and finished out of the playoffs.

There also were reports of a rift between Davis and Argos Coach Russ Jackson. Davis, injured early in the season, complained that the Argos were not using him enough, a fact brought out by his season statistics.

"A.D. is a great athlete," said Dick Shatto, the Argos managing director. "But if you have someone in your organization who is not completely happy, then it's best for both parties that he have the opportunity to try his skills elsewhere."

Hodgson and Davis signed the necessary papers to free Davis from his contract. In return for the release, Toronto received an undisclosed cash settlement. The Argonauts placed Davis on CFL waivers last week. When the other eight teams in the CFL showed no desire to pick up his large contract, he became a free agent.

Prior to joining the Argonauts, Davis played a half-season with the Southern California Sun before the World Football League franchise folded along with the league.

In 13 games this season, Davis rushed 104 times for 417 yards and two touchdowns. His longest run was 48 yards. Davis also caught 37 passes for 408 yards and two TDs.

He set Argos records for returning 27 kickoffs a total of 701 yards and he returned five punts 96 yards.

Warrant Issued On 'Bad News'

PROVIDENCE (AP) — The news isn't getting any better for Marvin "Bad News" Barnes.

The Detroit Pistons forward — now on his third team suspension this year — was named Monday in a warrant signed by Providence, R.I. Superior Court Judge William M. Mackenzie, for allegedly violating the terms of a probationary sentence.

Barnes has been serving a three-year probation after being convicted in Superior Court two years ago of assaulting a former Providence College teammate with a tire iron.

Barnes also received a one-year suspended prison sentence.

The warrant charges Barnes violated his probation on Oct. 9, when he was arrested for allegedly carrying an unloaded handgun in his luggage when it was checked at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The Pistons management handed Barnes his most recent suspension last week for missing games and practice sessions. Earlier in the year, he was suspended for failing to show up at pre-season camp, and later for not being at practice.

Barnes has yet to play a

Soccer Deadlock Still Unsolved

VANCOUVER (AP) — Canadian World Cup soccer team officials failed Friday to solve a deadlock with the United States over a site for the playoff game between the two countries.

If there is no agreement, the time and place of the game will be set by FIFA, soccer's international headquarters in Zurich, Switzerland.

FIFA gave the two countries 10 days to make arrangements for the game at a neutral site before Dec. 31, but lengthy telephone negotiations between here and New York produced no results.

The 10-day period runs out this weekend.

Pitt Continues Poll Lead

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Pittsburgh's still-comfortable lead over UCLA was narrowed slightly in The Associated Press' college football ratings released today.

Meanwhile, Southern California, Michigan and Texas Tech retained the 3-4-5 spots, while Georgia climbed into a sixthplace tie with Maryland.

Oklahoma returned to the Top Ten after a four-week absence and unbeaten Rutgers cracked the Top Twenty for the first time this season.

Pitt ran its record to 10-0 with a 24-16 triumph over West Virginia last Saturday. The Panthers received 44 first-place votes and 1,206 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of 63 sports writers and broadcasters.

UCLA, a 4-14 winner over Oregon State, got 13 first-place ballots and 1,093 points. Pitt's margin last week was 1,226-1,093 and UCLA also sliced Pitt's edge in first-place votes from 49-7 to 44-3.

Southern Cal, which beat Washington 20-3, received one first-place mention and 866 points, while Michigan, the No. 1 team for most of the season until a loss to Purdue two weeks ago, rebounded to beat Illinois 38-7 and was accorded two first-place votes and 834 points.

Texas Tech, one of the nation's four unbeaten teams along with Pitt, Maryland and Rutgers, walloped Southern Methodist 34-7 and received one first-place vote and 786 points.

The other two first-places went to Maryland and Texas A&M, No. 11 in the new rankings. Georgia, seventh last week, rose to fifth with 711 points.

Nebraska and Alabama were 9-10 last week, but the Cornhuskers lost to Iowa State 37-28, while the Crimson Tide bowed to Notre Dame 21-18.

The Second Ten consists of Texas A&M — 16th a week ago but a 31-10 winner over Arkansas — followed by Notre Dame, Iowa State, Colorado, Oklahoma State, Penn State and Alabama, with Missouri and Rutgers tied for 19th.

Last week's Second Ten was Missouri, Houston, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Florida, Texas A&M, Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Colorado and South Carolina.

Iowa State, one of six teams from the Big Eight Conference in the latest Top Twenty, had been ranked only once before this season, but the surprising 8-2 Cyclones have the best overall record in the league following their triumph over Nebraska.

Meanwhile, Penn State, No. 10 in the preseason ratings, had been out of the rankings for six weeks following a 1-3 start. The Nittany Lions boosted their record to 7-3, Rutgers boasts a 10-0 record following a come-from-behind 29-20 victory over Tulane.

Arkansas dropped out by losing to Texas A&M, while Florida was upset by Kentucky 28-9 and Wake Forest knocked off South Carolina 10-7.

Legal Gambling Changes Sports Audience--Rozelle

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle

said widespread legal sports gambling would drive families from football stadiums and make bettors suspicious of every important game play.

Rozelle testified on Monday in the first day of a federal court suit brought by the NFL to halt Delaware's Scoreboard Lottery which offers the first state-operated sports pool betting in the nation.

If such games were widely copied in other states, Rozelle said, it threatens the integrity of pro football and argued that Delaware was violating NFL trademark and property rights by tying its point spreads did not coincide with their bets.

The NFL filed for a permanent injunction to halt Delaware's Scoreboard Lottery and is seeking a cash award of damages from proceeds of the 10-week-old betting games.

Although Rozelle predicted serious problems for pro football if legalized sports betting became widespread, under questioning by defense attorneys, he acknowledged that the NFL had taken no legal steps against betting operations in two other states and did not claim violation of property rights in the publication of a number of books on football or football betting that were introduced as evidence.

NFL attorneys told the court they object to the "forced association" with gambling because it threatens the integrity of pro football and argued that Delaware was violating NFL trademark and property rights by tying its point spreads did not coincide with their bets.

He also described Montana as isolated, but said he knew little of the game played there except that it was played along the lines of a bingo or punchboard game.

Rozelle told the court that Nevada's sports betting operation was geographically isolated, had been operating for years and posed less of a threat of being widely copied than Delaware's system which is operated by the state lottery office.

He also described Montana as

But South Haven still fell a few seconds short of the school's first perfect season.

After dropping a 16-14 overtime decision to Vicksburg in their season opener, the Rams reeled off eight straight victories to equal the top mark in history.

"We're satisfied," Steudle said. "We would have liked to have gotten them all, but I was real glad with the season. I was pleased with the fact that after losing the opener in overtime our kids came back and played

South Haven coach Gary Steudle believes this year's Ram football team may have been the best ever.

But South Haven still fell a few seconds short of the school's first perfect season.

After dropping a 16-14 overtime decision to Vicksburg in their season opener, the Rams reeled off eight straight victories to equal the top mark in history.

"We're satisfied," Steudle said. "We would have liked to have gotten them all, but I was real glad with the season. I was pleased with the fact that after losing the opener in overtime our kids came back and played outstanding football."

Steudle now holds a commanding lead among area coaches in winning percentage with a brilliant 40-11 record (.784) in six years at the helm. And he returns 16 of 22 starters next year.

South Haven finished among the southwestern Michigan leaders in all four major offensive categories. The Rams were second in scoring (37.0 points per game), first in total offense (387.8), second in rushing (297.2) and fourth in passing (89.6). South Haven also set Wolverine conference records for points scored, rushing and passing while sharing the league title with Plainwell.

And two of the team's brightest prospects are back next season. Quarterback Perry Palanca is just a junior and standout running back Shelby Gamble only a sophomore.

Palanca threw 20 touchdown passes and scored seven more himself. He also passed for 13 two-point conversions.

Gamble, on the other hand, was second in the area with 1,310 yards rushing and was among the scoring leaders with 11 touchdowns for 66 points.

Larry Bodtke won the scoring title, tallying 14 touchdowns and adding six conversions for 96

Area Deer Season Opens With Bang

Southwestern Michigan's deer season opened with a big bang Monday, and Department of Natural Resources wildlife biologists are predicting a total kill as good or better than last year.

The DNR estimates that some 5,000 to 6,000 whitetails will be harvested in our seven-county district this season. Last year's kill was 4,650.

Successful hunters are urged to bring in the head (antlers included if male) or entire

There's a possibility of the state leasing southern Michigan land for hunting.

A proposal, Senate Bill 1071, would raise funds through a $1 "access stamp" for leasing private land from farmers for hunting.

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs, which drafted the bill, says SB 1071 could double the amount of land available for hunting in the southern Lower Peninsula.

It has already passed the Senate and House conservation committees and is now on the House floor. SB 1071 was introduced by Sen. Richard J. Allen (R-Alma).

According to Thomas J. Washington, MUCC executive director, approximately $600,000 would be raised annually through the purchase of the $1 stamp by all persons who hunt on land in the southern Lower Peninsula. This, he says, could finance the leasing by the state of about 300,000 acres.

The bill has received "tremendous acceptance" from the Michigan Farm Bureau, Washington told MUCC directors at their last board meeting.

Washington sees the bill as a big step toward reducing hunter trespass problems while making additional private land available to hunters. A clause in the bill absolves property owners of any liability that might be incurred by persons while hunting on their property.

Assuming that the bill is enacted, rules would be promulgated to set a limit on the number of persons who would be allowed to hunt on the leased land at any one time, depending on the acreage leased.

A "sunset" amendment affixed to the bill provides that the program would be discontinued at the end of five years if it does not prove functional.

"The Life of Isle Royale," a new, 144-page ecological handbook by naturalist Napier Shelton, has been published by the National Park Service.

The soft-cover volume, which is illustrated with color photographs, drawings and a map of the half-million-acre Lake Superior park in Michigan, continues a series of ecological handbooks prepared by Interior Department's Park Service. They are designed to introduce the park visitor to the plant and animal communities at a particular park as well as the park's geological history.

The book is available for $3.30, under stock number 024-005-00619-2, from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. A check or money order payable to the Superintendent of Documents and covering the full purchase price of the order must accompany each order.

The Winchester Group of Olin Corporation is recalling 11 production lots of nationally sold Wildcat brand .22-caliber long rifle ammunition. Excessive pressure in these cartridges makes them potentially hazardous to shoot because they could cause personal injury or gun damage.

The ammunition being recalled is identified by codes that contain LF03, LF12, LF22 and all LF codes followed by a two-digit number greater than 22. The numbers 1, 2 or 3 may precede the LF in the code, and one or more letters may follow the two-digit number.

The code letter and numbers appear on the inside tick flag of each 50-round box and on the upper right corner of the end panel of 5,000-round cases.

Anyone possessing such ammunition should return it to his dealer for replacement, the company said.

The belt buckle has an antique finish and raised letters with the new Heddon design, while the T-shirts have slogans like: "Big Bad Bassman," "Keep on Cohn," "Wizard of Walleye" and "Heddon." The decals have the same sayings.

There are also "slide rules" for bass fishing and Great Lakes fishing. They tell what type of equipment to use and when.

Goose Kill Sets Record At Allegan

Allegan's goose harvest this fall set a recent-year record, according to unofficial figures reported by the Department of Natural Resources.

Hunters harvested 2,019 honkers this season, compared to 1,187 last year. This year's total includes 532 at the high-banks and 1,487 at the Fenwick farm. Last year there were 833 killed at the highbanks and 866 at the farm.

Hunters numbers were down from last year. There were a total of 12,486 this year compared to 13,984 last season.

Safety Tips Offered For Deer Hunters

Going deer hunting? James R. Walker, a hunter safety specialist for the Department of Natural Resources, offers some timely tips for those who are.

Walker says smart — and safety conscious — hunters will wear clothing marked in bold "blaze orange" colors, which are "highly visible" in the outdoors.

"Remember, animals are 'spooked' more by movement than color or shape, and the ability of the hunter to 'freeze' when the moment of truth arrives is the difference between getting that deer and coming home empty handed," notes Walker. "Fluorescent orange-colored hunting clothing is not mandatory in Michigan, but in states where it is, sig-

Dave Arnold, deer specialist for the Department of Natural Resources, says snowshoes should be "regular equipment" and snowmobiles a "darned good idea" for any hunter daring enough to stalk deer in an area where average snow depths often reach seven feet. The Natural Resources Commission recently approved the special hunt, which is aimed at reducing the winter population of whitetails by 300. DNR biologists say the area is overbrowsed and that scores of deer are likely to starve and be wasted if the hunt were not held.

Hunting will be by permit only for three-day periods and only hunters with unfilled 1976 deer tags are eligible to participate. Permits will be available by mail from the DNR in Lansing after the November firearm season ends.

"Aside from the important ecological reasons which necessitated the hunt, the special Beaver Basin season points to a super opportunity for the breed of sportsman who seeks a challenge that demands an extra effort," states Arnold. "People with high blood pressure, and those who are not in tip-top physical condition, might better stay home and watch a football game on television. That's not a suggestion; it's a warning."

Beaver Basin is located in a 45-square-mile area along Lake Superior in Alger County and is part of the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore. Terrain is rugged, says Arnold, who spent several years in his DNR career as a district biologist near the special hunt area.

He says the basin was previously owned by the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Company and operated as a private resort and hunting club. Deer, until recently, were fed artificially during the winter and the "new" owners, the National Parks Service, says it cannot continue the feeding program.

"The special hunt is a result of this unnatural situation," says Arnold, "and to permit large numbers of deer to be wasted by certain starvation is not only professionally repugnant, but it would be a senseless waste of good meat and recreation at a time when we can ill afford to waste either of these resources."

The Natural Resources Commission, before unanimously approving the hunt (which ex-

Sportsmanship Crucial In Field

Sportsmen participating in one of Michigan's most popular outdoor events — the current firearm deer season — are reminded by Department of Natural Resources Director Howard A. Tanner to "place their sense of sportsmanship first" when action begins.

Tanner says he cannot overemphasize the importance of safety, respect and proper conduct of hunters in the field — especially in the deer season that is expected to attract nearly 70,000 hunters, or roughly one of every five Michigan males over the age of 14.

"True sportsmen fully appreciate the values associated with hunting, including respect for fellow hunters, wildlife and both public and private property," says Tanner. "But because sportsmen, too, are human beings, perhaps they should refresh themselves on the standards that make for good safety practices and proper conduct in the field."

"This is especially important with the large number of hunters afield," Tanner adds. "While the great majority of hunters will conscientiously consider this advice and enjoy a good hunt, there will unfortunately be those who will not."

Tanner states that these so-called "slob" hunters — those whose outdoor ethics are lacking or who abuse the state's game laws — are of special concern in the Department and conservationists throughout the state.

tends through March 1, 1977, or until 300 deer are harvested, heard testimony from a Northern Michigan University graduate student whose studies supported DNR Wildlife Division research.

Lloyd Fante, the student, told Commissioners at their November meeting in Lansing, that his graduate work has centered on the Beaver Basin deer problem. He said he spent 100 days during the last two winters in the basin and estimated that 623 and 651 deer yarded there during the respective seasons.

Fante told Commissioners 140 deer starved in Beaver Basin last winter. He said he personally counted 60 dead animals.

"The few bad hunters place the entire hunting fraternity in a negative light with the non-hunting public," he says. "They also cheat the people of Michigan of our resources by illegally taking game or by irresponsibly mistreating our lands."

Tanner says sportsmen can help weed bad hunters out of the picture by reporting apparent game law violations to one's nearest DNR Conservation Officer. If unable to reach an officer, one may call toll-free to the DNR's law enforcement "hot line" (1-800-292-7800) and provide details.

Confidentiality of reports of violations is guaranteed, although citizens using the "hot line" need not leave their names, Tanner notes.

"Sportsmen in the past have sometimes been reluctant to inform on game law violators," he states. "While I can perhaps understand this feeling, I frankly think it is out of date. It is time we all joined together in a common effort to clamp down hard on the un-sportsmanlike hunters and game law violators."

Fishing Report

Lake trout success is down, but the Department of Natural Resources says the fish are still in shallow water in Lake Michigan along the southwestern Michigan shoreline.

Salmon success is falling very fast in rivers. Fall fishing is about over for chinook and coho at the Berrien Springs dam on the St. Joseph River and the Allegan dam on the Kalamazoo River. The snagging season closed Monday.

But steelhead fishing continues to improve on area rivers, according to the DNR. Conservation officers are also reporting a resurgence of bluegill and perch success on inland lakes. Some jumbo perch have been creel on Diamond and Donnel Lakes in Cass county.

— Watch that muzzle! A major cause of accidents is careless handling of firearms by members of the same hunting group, while loading, unloading and just plain standing around talking.

— Dress warmly and consider your health before going into the woods. What kind of shape are you in? Are you overweight or are you trimmed down and toughened up in anticipation of the coming deer season? Do you have a good compass and a map of the area where you plan to hunt?

Fanter told Commissioners 140 deer starved in Beaver Basin last winter. He said he personally counted 60 dead animals.

"The few bad hunters place the entire hunting fraternity in a negative light with the non-hunting public," he says. "They also cheat the people of Michigan of our resources by illegally taking game or by irresponsibly mistreating our lands."

Tanner says sportsmen can help weed bad hunters out of the picture by reporting apparent game law violations to one's nearest DNR Conservation Officer. If unable to reach an officer, one may call toll-free to the DNR's law enforcement "hot line" (1-800-292-7800) and provide details.

Confidentiality of reports of violations is guaranteed, although citizens using the "hot line" need not leave their names, Tanner notes.

"Sportsmen in the past have sometimes been reluctant to inform on game law violators," he states. "While I can perhaps understand this feeling, I frankly think it is out of date. It is time we all joined together in a common effort to clamp down hard on the unsportsmanlike hunters and game law violators."

Fishing Report

Lake trout success is down, but the Department of Natural Resources says the fish are still in shallow water in Lake Michigan along the southwestern Michigan shoreline.

Salmon success is falling very fast in rivers. Fall fishing is about over for chinook and coho at the Berrien Springs dam on the St. Joseph River and the Allegan dam on the Kalamazoo River. The snagging season closed Monday.

But steelhead fishing continues to improve on area rivers, according to the DNR. Conservation officers are also reporting a resurgence of bluegill and perch success on inland lakes. Some jumbo perch have been creelied on Diamond and Donnel Lakes in Cass county.

TODAY*Doctors Say Home Is Safest

NEW YORK (AP) — The safest place for a baby to be born is at home, two doctors have told an obstetrical conference here. Dr. Robert Mendelsohn of the University of Illinois was among those who contended Monday that a baby born in a hospital is more likely to suffer damage than one born at home. "Doctors intervene too much in what is a natural process," he added. "They act as if pregnancy is a nine-month disease that needs their help to be resolved." Mendelsohn said doctors rely too much on drugs, anesthesia, analgesics and inducing birth. He said the risk of accidents and infection is greater in hospitals. The doctors also discourage breast-feeding, he said. Ignoring the mother's and babies' psychological needs.

Syria To Extend Control

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — With Beirut under its undisputed control, the Syrian army prepared today to extend its peacemaking grip to the rest of Lebanon. The capital, occupied in a swift and peaceful invasion Monday, spent its first night without a single shot or explosion after 19 months of civil war. An Arab League spokesman said plans were being made for other Syrian units of the Arab peacekeeping force to occupy Tripoli and Sidon, Lebanon's second and third largest cities and both Muslim strongholds, before the end of the week. Armored reinforcements were reported to have crossed the border from Syria within the past 24 hours to move into Tripoli, 60 miles north of Beirut. Leftist Moslem militias there were reported still exchanging artillery fire with the neighboring Christian town of Zagharta, as they have been doing throughout the civil war.

Vietnam Seeks UN Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Vietnam began campaigning today for General Assembly pressure on the United States to reverse the Security Council veto it cast against Vietnamese membership in the United Nations. But nothing the assembly did was expected to have any effect on the Americans. U.S. Ambassador William W. Scranton told the council the failure of the Hanoi government to "account satisfactorily" for 800 American servicemen missing in action in the Vietnam war raised doubts about Vietnam's humanitarianism and consequently about its fitness to join the United Nations. Scranton said if Vietnam would "abandon trading on the sorrows of families to attain its ends, normalization of relations could then flow swiftly." The council voted 14 to 1 on Monday in favor of recommending that the General Assembly admit Vietnam to membership, but the dissenting vote from one of the five permanent members — the United States — killed the recommendation.

Just Research, Says New York

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — A financial aide to the New York City Council says it was just research, not an interest in legalizing prostitution, that made him ask Nevada officials about their profits from licensed brothels. Donald Schnakenberg, assistant director of finance for the council, said Monday he was trying to find out the full cost of enforcing New York City's laws against prostitution, which flourishes in many areas of Midtown Manhattan. But one Nevada official suggested that New York, beset by severe money problems, would be smart to consider legalizing prostitution as a way to pick up some quick cash. Schnakenberg said he wrote to Nevada's secretary of state, Bill Swackhamer, for the data, and was referred to officials in Lyon, Storey and Churchill counties where ordinances make bordelloes legal. Just after his inquiries were sent, residents of Lincoln County, Nev., also voted to legalize brothels.

Reports $15-Million Surplus*Post Office Makes Profit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service says its success in trimming its work force has helped it post its first surplus in four years.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar said the service's $15-million surplus in the quarter that ended Sept. 30 means it probably will not have to raise the cost of mailing letters next year.

The government-subsidized mail agency, which lost $1.2 billion in the fiscal year that ended last June 30, still expects to lose $300 million in fiscal 1977, which began last month, Bailar said. But that is down from an earlier forecast of a $1-billion loss.

"We're not out of the woods yet. Nevertheless, this is a major accomplishment," he said at news conference called on Monday to announce the $15-million surplus, which ended a string of quarterly deficits that stretched back to 1972.

"I'm hopeful there will not be a rate increase in 1977," he said.

In Plains, Ga., aides to President-elect Jimmy Carter said the turnaround was not going to change his plans to reorganize the Postal Service and make it more subject to control by the White House.

Bailar said during his campaign that he intended to ask Congress to again make the postmaster general a presidential appointee, instead of an appointee of the Postal Service's board of governors.

He said the Postal Service was wasteful and inefficient and vowed to "make it dependable again."

Bailar called the continuing reduction in the postal work force the most important factor in the surplus. More than 50,000 jobs have been eliminated through attrition since January, 1975, and the payroll now stands at 664,000, he said.

"We have gradually reduced the number of people on the payroll. It's been in every craft, in every department and at every level," Bailar said.

Since labor costs account for about 86 per cent of the Postal Service's expenditures, Bailar has focused his efforts to balance the postal budget on this area. The 50,000 jobs translates into a $900-million savings for the current fiscal year, he added.

During the past two years, thousands of vacancies have been filled by involuntary transfers of workers no longer needed at their old posts, he said. In the past, these vacancies would have been filled by hiring new workers.

"We are going to keep on trying to reduce our manpower where we can do so without any drop off in service," Bailar told reporters.

Postal labor leaders congratulated Bailar on the unanticipated surplus, but were unenthusiastic about the way it was accomplished.

Francis Filiboy, president of the American Postal Workers Union, said: "We don't necessarily approve of the methods that were used in reaching this result, but they were in accordance with the contract. So we'll have to deal with that in the negotiations for the next contract."

James Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, said: "I'm very happy that they're seeing the black side of the ledger, but the savings to some extent have been at the expense of our members. When routes are eliminated, the remaining letter carriers must absorb additional work."

The Postal Service has lost nearly $1 billion since it was created in 1971 to replace the old Post Office Department.

State Officials; Closing Base May Cost U.S. More

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's top elected officials say it may cost the federal government more money to close Kinceloe Air Force Base than to keep it open.

In testimony submitted Monday at a public hearing on the proposed closing of the eastern Upper Peninsula base, the officials said the added cost of unemployment, welfare, and health care benefits and the lost tax base might be greater than the savings realized from the closing.

"The cost savings to the federal government is actually a cost shift by the Air Force of cost to state and local governments and other federal agencies," Republican Sen. Robert Griffin said in a statement.

More than 650 persons crowded the Sault Ste. Marie National Guard Armory to hear some 20 witnesses testify about the proposed closing. More testimony was to be taken by the Air Force today.

Griffin, Sen. Philip Hart, Gov. William Milliken and Sen.-elect Donald Riegle all said they opposed the base closing.

Milliken said Michigan studies showed closing the base would mean a loss of 4,200 military and civilian jobs and another 1,900 persons thrown out of related work.

He said the closing would cost the state about $17.5 million including $15 million in unemployment benefits, $1.3 million in welfare, Aid to Dependent Children, Medicaid and others, and $1.2 million in lost state tax revenues.

Milliken said federal officials are "duty-bound" to come up with a formula to compensate the area for its economic loss, "and to indemnify the community for the social and economic hardship" directly related to the closing of the base.

"What does the loss of Kinceloe mean to a state that is already last in getting its fair return from its federal dollars?" Hart asked in a prepared statement.

"What is the cost to the quality of life for citizens living in an area already depressed, if by an act of government, they are to be plunged into an economic abyss from which many will never be able to return?" Hart's message read.

Several witnesses referred to estimates that unemployment in the area would jump to 40 per cent if Kinceloe were closed, with a 23 per cent population loss, a 25 per cent loss in school enrollment and a 20 per cent drop in personal income.

Retired Air Force Col. O.J.

Sundstrum, representing the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce, suggested the government close K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base in Marquette instead.

He said Marquette has a booming economy with a growing iron production industry and would not be as hard hit by a base closing.

Air Force officials said they expected their final economic and environmental impact statements to be complete by Jan. 6, and a final decision on whether the base will close to be made sometime in February.

State Officials; Closing Base May Cost U.S. More

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's top elected officials say it may cost the federal government more money to close Kincheloe Air Force Base than to keep it open.

In testimony submitted Monday at a public hearing on the proposed closing of the eastern Upper Peninsula base, the officials said the added cost of unemployment, welfare, and health care benefits and the lost tax base might be greater than the savings realized from the closing.

Bridgman Mulls Water Study

By JOHN DYE

South Berrien Bureau

BRIDGMAN — A proposed detailed study of Bridgman's water system got mixed responses from city commission members last night, but they agreed to give the idea more thought at a Dec. 8 meeting.

The recommendation for the study, which could cost between $10,000 and $15,000, was made by Commissioner Charles Gilmore.

Gilmore said additional information about the proposed study would be presented at the session next month. He said the study was needed to determine the future of the system now serving over 500 customers and as a basis for the commission to consider future requests for water service.

Mayor Ronald Gelesko and Commissioner Vernon Standard both voiced support of the proposed study. Gelesko said he thought it was "terrible" that some areas of the city do not have water service.

Commissioner Alfred Tolas, on the other hand, questioned the price of the proposed study and asked if it was really needed.

As outlined by Gilmore and city engineering consultant David Gieber, the study would consider whether the system should be expanded, or abandoned and water purchased from Lake township instead. It would also study potential growth of users; future equipment needs; the present condition of equipment and water lines; future rates for water service and the estimated costs if recommendations made after the study was completed were to be implemented.

Gieber, of Bargur Engineering, St. Joseph, said the study could take six months to complete and estimated a " ballpark" cost of the proposal at between $10,000 and $15,000.

In other areas, the commission passed a resolution informing the state highway department that it intends to rebuild the Rambo road railroad crossing by the end of July, 1977. The action followed a report from Milford Mellon, city superintendent, that the department has informed the city it will issue an order closing the crossing because no work has been done.

Pay Hike Voted By BH Schools

The Benton Harbor board of education last night ratified a one-year contract with the school system's 200 paraprofessionals that gives them average pay increases of 7.5 per cent.

Base pay under the new contract for paraprofessionals with a high school diploma will increase from $2.55 to $2.80 an hour. Those workers with two years of college will now receive $3.10 an hour compared with the $2.85 under the old contract. The base raises are nearly 10 per cent but those at the top steps averaged only 5 per cent.

The paraprofessionals, represented by the Paraprofessional Union of the American Federation of Teachers ratified the new contract Oct. 21, 1976.

Those workers employed by the board are non-certified teacher aides working in general classrooms or in special education.

Also included in the contract is an additional paid holiday during the Christmas recess.

The board also approved the 1976-77 Chapter III budget of $36,216. The budget is state aid that allocated for special programs or teacher aides to help disadvantaged students. There are 2,709 students enrolled under the program this year, an increase of 272 students.

Gersonde Equipment Company, 2460 South M-189, Benton township, was awarded a $42,000 contract for four bus chassis, and Great Lakes Coach company was awarded a $31,440 contract for four bus bodies. The buses will replace 1969 model 66-passenger school buses for which the board no longer receives state reimbursement.

The actual low bid for bus chassis was from Zerbel GMC Truck Sales at $41,908, but it was recommended that the board adopt the Gersonde bid because the contract offered a fiberglass till hood not available with the Zerbel bid. The additional cost is $300 per unit.

The buses will cost $18,500 each including chassis and body.

The board voted to expel from the regular school program a 16-year-old ninth grade boy who assaulted another student Sept. 20. The boy was given permission to attend adult night school.

The board also set non-resident tuition rates at $181.99 for elementary students and $388.51 for secondary, an increase of about $50, according to Larry D. Rankens, group director of business and finance. Only three students are registered under the program.

The hiring of three new teachers was approved, four teachers were placed on tenure and seven other teachers completing their first year of teaching were placed on second year probation.

Kayser Equipment Company, 2460 South M-189, Benton township, was awarded a $42,000 contract for four bus chassis,

THROUGH TWIN CITIES BH Okays I-94 Business Loop

The Benton Harbor city commission last night unanimously adopted a resolution supporting an I-94 business route through the Twin Cities which includes the "river route" through St. Joseph and the controversial I-94 penetrator through St. Joseph township.

The resolution adopted by the city commission is the same as that approved by the St. Joseph city commission Oct. 25. Benton Harbor's statement, like St. Joseph's, will be sent to the State Highway department.

Commissioner Arnold Bolin, who read the commission's statement, said the I-94 business loop would be "economically advantageous for the city."

In Benton Harbor, preliminary plans call for the proposed I-94 business loop to come across the St. Joseph river at the new bridge and then veer north to connect with Klock road. Klock road is proposed to be extended to Waukonda avenue and Waukonda would connect with East Main street business route to I-94.

The statement by the city commission says the business loop should have suitable access to Benton Harbor's downtown and Riverview drive business areas.

The three-part business route through the Twin Cities endorsed by the two city commissions calls for, in order of construction priority, (1) the I-94 penetrator across St. Joseph township from I-94 to Niles avenue using the old New York Central railroad right-of-way, (2) a route through St. Joseph city from Niles avenue along the St. Joseph river and also, the portion in Benton Harbor and Benton township, and (3) a connector for the two stages of part two.

In other areas, Commissioner Alfred Williams, declared he did not take part in authorizing the city to file suit against Mrs. Donna Cooke, former legislative coordinator for former Mayor Charles Joseph and the commission, seeking money the city paid her. Williams also said he believes she is entitled to additional money which she claims the city owes her.

Benton Harbor City Atty. Yvonne Hughes filed suit for the city Oct. 15 in Berrien District court against Mrs. Cooke and James Peebles, Jr., former city manager, seeking $2,400 city officials claim Mrs. Cooke was paid although she did not report for work.

City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said he authorized Atty. Hughes to file the suit after direction from city commissioners at a workshop session. Farmer said under the city charter official commission action was not needed to authorize the suit.

Farmer said last night that Mrs. Cooke continued to receive her pay from May 19, the day after the recall election, to Aug. 5, when the city commission voted to fire her. He said Mrs. Cooke did not show up at city hall for work after May 19.

Williams was a member of the "Clean Slate" group of candidates which included former Mayor Joseph. He was the only member of the group who survived the May 18 recall election.

The commission approved a license for the Twin City Cab lines to operate a fifth cab in the city.

The commission voted to advertise for bids for demolition of substandard houses at 683 Buss, 227 Jefferson, and 394 Brunson streets. Extensions were granted to owners of properties at 732 Buss and 343 Brunson streets.

The commission set a public hearing Dec. 8 on demolition of houses at 347 Jefferson court, 268 Lincoln, 703 Riverside, 612 Pipestone and 1065 Bishop streets.

Bridgman Mulls Water Study

South Berrien Bureau

BRIDGMAN — A proposed detailed study of Bridgman's water system got mixed responses from city commission members last night, but they agreed to give the idea more thought at a Dec. 6 meeting.

The recommendation for the study, which could cost between $10,000 and $15,000, was made by Commissioner Charles Gilmore.

Gilmore said additional information about the proposed study would be presented at the session next month. He said the study was needed to determine the future of the system now serving over 500 customers and as a basis for the commission to consider future requests for water service.

Mayor Ronald Gelesko and Commissioner Vernon Standard both voiced support of the proposed study. Gelesko said he thought it was "terrible" that some areas of the city do not have water service.

Commissioner Alfred Tolas, on the other hand, questioned the price of the proposed study and asked if it was really needed.

As outlined by Gilmore and city engineering consultant David Gieber, the study would consider whether the system should be expanded or abandoned and water purchased from Lake township instead. It would also study potential growth of users; future equipment needs; the present condition of equipment and water lines; future rates for water service and the estimated costs if recommendations made after the study was completed were to be implemented.

Gieber, of Barger Engineering, St. Joseph, said the study could take six months to complete and estimated a "ballpark" cost of the proposal at between $10,000 and $15,000.

In other areas, the commission passed a resolution informing the state highway department that it intends to rebuild the Rambo road railroad crossing by the end of July, 1977. The action followed a report from Milford Mellon, city superintendent, that the department has informed the city it will issue an order closing the crossing because no work has been done.

Work on the project has been delayed while the city and Lake township work out details on payment of the rebuilding. Lake township residents would be forced to drive a considerable distance to gain access to the city if the crossing was closed.

The commission approved a boundary survey and a topographical (physical features) survey of Weko beach, both to be conducted by Barger at a total estimated cost of $2,650 to $3,250.

Mellon and Clerk Phyllis Weber were instructed by the council to sign a contract with Consoer-Townsend Associates, Chicago, to make a study of the city's sewer facilities. It is part of an overall study including Lake township; Baroda village and township, and the northern half of Weesaw township, Mellon said.

The commission approved sending Mellon and Mrs. Weber to a seminar in Chicago Dec. 3 on revenue sharing funds, at a cost of $80.

Benton Harbor City Atty. Yvonne Hughes filed suit for the city Oct. 15 in Berrien District court against Mrs. Cooke and James Peeples, Jr., former city manager, seeking $2,408 city officials claim Mrs. Cooke was paid although she did not report for work.

City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said he authorized Atty. Hughes to file the suit after direction from city commissioners at a workshop session. Farmer said under the city

Pay Hike Voted By BH Schools

The Benton Harbor board of education last night ratified a one-year contract with the school system's 200 paraprofessionals that gives them average pay increases of 7.5 per cent.

Base pay under the new contract for paraprofessionals with a high school diploma will increase from $2.55 to $2.80 an hour. Those workers with two years of college will compare the $3.10 an hour compared with the $2.85 under the old contract. The base raises are nearly 10 per cent but those at the top steps averaged only 5 per cent.

The paraprofessionals, represented by the Paraprofessional Union of the American Federation of Teachers ratified the new contract Oct. 21, 1976.

Those workers employed by the board are non-certified teacher aides working in general classrooms or in special education.

Also included in the contract is an additional paid holiday during the Christmas recess.

The board also approved the 1976-77 Chapter III budget of $536,216. The budget is state aid that allocated for special programs or teacher aides to help disadvantaged students. There are 2,709 students enrolled under the program this year, an increase of 272 students.

Gérsonde Equipment Company, 2450 South M-139, Benton township, was awarded a $42,000 contract for four bus chassis, and Great Lakes Coach company was awarded a $31,440 contract for four bus bodies. The buses will replace 1969 model 66-passenger school buses for which the board no longer receives state reimbursement.

The actual low bid for bus chassis was from Zerbel GMC Truck Sales at $41,908, but it was recommended that the board adopt the Gérsonde bid because the the contract offered a fiberglass tilt hood not available with the Zerbel bid. The additional cost is $200 per unit.

The buses will cost $18,560 each including chassis and body.

The board voted to expel from the regular school program a 16-year-old ninth grade boy who assaulted another student Sept. 20. The boy was given permission to attend adult night school.

The board also set nonresident tuition rates at $181.99 for elementary students and $388.51 for secondary, an increase of about $50, according to Larry D. Rankens, group director of business and finance. Only three students are registered under the program.

The hiring of three new teachers was approved, four teachers were placed on tenure and seven other teachers completing their first year of teaching were placed on second year probation.

St. Joseph Township Drainage Meeting Next Monday

St. Joseph township trustees will hold a special meeting next week to discuss enlarging the Royalton Heights drain as a possible way to cure drainage problems experienced by residents of the Pinebrook subdivision.

The topic was not discussed at last night's meeting because all of the property owners involved hadn't been notified, Treasurer Isadore DiMaggio explained. It will be discussed Nov. 22 at 7:30 p.m. at Fairplain West elementary school.

Residents of Pinebrook subdivision, located downhill from the site of The Herald-Palladium's new plant in the southwest quadrant of the I-94-Niles Avenue interchange, said earlier that they think the new plant will aggravate basement flooding and other drainage troubles they now experience.

DiMaggio said last night that the board will discuss a possible resolution that would remove the 10-acre site of the publishing plant from the Pinebrook residents' drainage district and place it in an expanded Royalton Heights drainage district.

The water could be run into the Royalton Heights drain through Eaton Park, DiMaggio said. It was noted that all people concerned with the project will be allowed to speak at the meeting before any action is taken by the board.

School Yule Gifts Out At Paw Paw

BY DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw school board last night failed to pass in a 3 to 3 tie vote a proposal to send Christmas baskets to school employees this year.

Cost of the baskets was not to exceed $10 each. About 200 employees would have been involved.

"I'm not anti-Santa Claus," said board member Robert Teske, who voted against the motion. "But it is hard for some people to understand how when we're becoming more and more financially pressed...how we can spend money this way."

Two years ago the board gave each teacher a $10 gift certificate as a Christmas bonus. Last year, employees received Christmas cards.

Board member Gloria Jean Berry urged that to avoid any future confrontations the board's policy committee should set a firm policy on Christmas spending.

Voting to send the baskets were Kenneth Taylor, William Rhines, and Douglas Howe, with Teske, Mrs. Berry and Betty Rasmussen against. Robert LaRue was absent.

In other areas, the board broke a long standing policy against taking tuition students by granting a request by Mrs. Ronald Novak, that her son, Kevin, be allowed to attend the district's middle school.

Professional Group Elects Ex-SJ Man

Dean L. Kimmerly, 43, formerly of St. Joseph, has been elected a regional vice president of the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD), the professional society recently announced.

Kimmerly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Kimmerly, 1121 State Street, St. Joseph, and is a graduate of St. Joseph High School and Wayne State University. He is presently director of employee relations at Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center, Chicago. He and his wife Barbara and their three children live in Downers Grove, Ill.

Kimmerly was formerly chairman of the Lake Michigan college board of trustees.

The Grass May Be Shorter

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A couple of Louisiana scientists think they may have the key to grass that needs cutting only once in 72 days. But don't junk the lawnmower just yet. "We hope that if we are able to give our full time to research, we should have some definite results within a few years," said Dr. G. S. Rai of Southern University in New Orleans. Dr. Rai and Dr. Mohindar S. Ograham, also of Southern University, were among scientists who discussed their projects at the First Conference on Scientific Research in the National Parks. They said they have been studying chemicals that retard the growth of grass. "Lawn mowing is essential in the South with its warm summer climate and it can be a very time-consuming operation," said Dr. Rai. They said several chemicals in varying concentrations made the grass more beautiful instead of browning it. The chemicals, they said, may be sprayed on the grass or applied to the soil. Experiments are continuing on several strains of grass and on the soil's microorganisms.

the Pinebrook residents' drainage troubles might not be solved even if the Palladium moved into the Royalton Heights drain. The problem could be in the design of the Pinebrook drain.

Also last night DiMaggio, who is the township's representative to the Community Emergency Service Corp., said that Action Ambulance is in financial trouble. The corporation subsidizes Action with about $3,000 monthly, DiMaggio said.

Last week Action was paid its subsidy a month in advance so it could pay debts and payroll, he reported. DiMaggio said that Action suffers from "poor accounting and poor management," adding that the corporation will meet today and discuss the possibility of taking over management of the ambulance company. The corporation is composed of the city of St. Joseph and the townships of St. Joseph, Lincoln, Royalton and Sodus.

It was announced that construction of the $276,900 township hall is on schedule and will be completed April 1.

Architect Wayne Hatfield told trustees that foundations and basement are in place, allowing work to continue through the winter.

Also last night the board:

Lincoln township will put up the

— Tabled a request for a donation made by Paul Goedeke, president of the St. Joseph-Lincoln Senior Citizens center, 509 Main street, St. Joseph. Goedeke said that some 258 people over 60 live in the township and are eligible for services from the center.

The center covers the City of St. Joseph and Lincoln and St. Joseph townships, offering a variety of services, he told the board. Lincoln township, Stevensville, Shoreham and St. Joseph have all donated money, Goedeke said, but the board tabled the request to see if the center's services are duplicated by other agencies.

— Accepted the resignation from the parks commission of Marvin Waldenmaier, who will be replaced at a later time.

— Tabled approval of the Oakbrook subdivision, to be located on Cleveland avenue south of Hawthorn until questions of how the sewer and water connections are to be inspected can be settled.

— Voted to participate in an Environmental Protection Agency study, at a cost of about $2,500 to the township. The EPA will study all sewers that lead into the Joint Sewage Treatment plant.

Also last night the board:

— Voted to spend $4,500 for "temporary repairs" to keep part of the Hickory Creek sewer interceptor from collapsing. Lincoln township will put up the

— Tabled a request for a donation made by Paul Goecke, president of the St. Joseph-Lincoln Senior Citizens center, 500 Main street, St. Joseph. Goecke said that some 258 people over 60 live in the township and are eligible for services from the center.

The center covers the City of St. Joseph and Lincoln and St. Joseph townships, offering a variety of services, he told the board. Lincoln township, Stevensville, Shoreham and St. Joseph have all donated money, Goecke said, but the board tabled the request to see if the center's services are duplicated by other agencies.

— Accepted the resignation from the parks commission of Marvin Waldenmaier, who will be replaced at a later time.

— Tabled approval of the Oakbrook subdivision, to be located on Cleveland avenue south of Hawthorn, until questions of how the sewer and water connections are to be inspected can be settled.

— Voted to participate in an Environmental Protection Agency study, at a cost of about $2,500 to the township. The EPA will study all sewers that lead into the Joint Sewage Treatment plant.

U.S. Has Alaskan Pipeline For Sale

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Here's one for the person who has everything: There's a pipeline for sale here by the General Services Administration.

Not THAT pipeline. The military surplus pipeline for sale and the crude oil pipeline under construction by the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. between Prudhoe Bay and Valdez are two different entities.

The pipeline system on the auction block runs 600 miles between Haines in southeastern Alaska and Fairbanks in the interior.

The original cost of the pipeline was about $43 million.

David Head, regional administrator of the GSA, said no sale date has been set but late spring appears likely.

Actually the auction will be a lease-sale combination, he said.

Plans call for the government to lease the 300 miles of pipeline, including five pumping stations, in Alaska — with 300 miles of pipeline and six pumping stations in Canada to be sold.

The lease-sale must go in a package to a single firm or consortium.

The reason for leasing the Alaska package is because of unsettled land ownership questions, including everything from native land claims to wildlife refugees.

"Some of the buried parts need to be replaced, but they're not all that bad. Our staff has been over every inch of the line and we have a wealth of detail available."

The GSA hopes petroleum industry firms will be interested in buying the pipeline, and has written 387 of them about the sale.

There is speculation outside the GSA that some of the companies proposing natural gas pipelines through Alaska might want that right of way, if only to keep it out of the hands of competitors.

The Alaska section of the pipeline system will be sold once the land questions are settled.

No minimum price will be set because of what Barnes termed the "uniqueness" of the offering.

"We're pretty excited about it," he said. "This is going to be a very good for someone. The right of way alone is valuable."

Included in the package is the government's 50-foot, right-of-way corridor in Alaska — plus the 60 miles of eight-inch diameter pipe, the 11 pumping and booster stations along the route, the tanker pier and 200 acres of terminal facilities in the ice-free port of Haines, tank storage at Haines and Tok of 75,000 barrels capacity and a complete stock of spare parts.

The military completed building of the pipeline in October 1965 but later stopped using it for a variety of reasons.

One was that some buried parts needed expensive repairs. There had been a few spills and the Army was becoming concerned about environmental safety.

In addition, requirements for the products transported by the pipeline diminished, and rail and highways were proving to be more economical ways of getting the jet fuel and other

Weapon Carrier Gets Stiff Term

A Detroit man was sentenced yesterday in Berrien Circuit court to 40 months to 3 years in prison for carrying a concealed pistol in an automobile.

Sentenced to prison by Judge William S. White was Walter E. Anthony, 23, for carrying a concealed weapon — a .38 pistol — April 26 in a car on I-94 near Bridgeman.

Judge Julian E. Hughes sentenced Quincy L. Leonard, 17, of 818 Ogden avenue, Benton Harbor, to three years probation for attempted breaking and entering at the apartment of Norma Young, 1817 Union street, Benton township, on Aug. 16.

In arraignments before White:

Robert Herman, 53, of 553 Kublik drive, Benton township, pleaded innocent to a charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct (formerly statutory rape) with an 11-year-old girl Aug. 9 in St. Joseph.

Anthony L. Postelli, 22, of 2892 Territorial road, Benton township, pleaded innocent to a charge of armed robbery — the theft of cash from Rogers Party store in Benton township at gunpoint on Oct. 21.

Donald L. Thompson, 20, of 2456 Kurt road, Benton township, pleaded innocent to two charges of armed robbery — allegedly robbing Ivan Hazucha and Randall Sawyer of $1,240 with a handgun Oct. 20 at Angelo's party store in Benton township.

Charles D. Yetke, 30, of Urbana, Ill., stood mute, and had innocent pleas entered, to charges of possession of cocaine and delivery of marijuana Oct. 19 in Benton township.

Camera Club's Third Travelogue Is African Film

"Africa — Beyond the Zambezi," an adventure film that took four years to make, will be featured by the Twin City Camera club next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at St. Joseph high school auditorium.

Ron Shanin, an aeronautical engineer turned modern day explorer, shot the film, which is the third travelogue in the Twin City Camera club's travel and adventure series. The Sunday showing begins at 2:30 p.m. and the other two at 8 p.m.

Shanin has made specialty of producing films about the remote areas of Africa and has traveled extensively in many African countries. His photographs have appeared in several national-circulation magazines and some of his films have been shown on television.

Alcohol-Fueled Test Cars Finish 5,000-Mile Tour

BRASILIA (AP) — Three cars fueled entirely with alcohol have completed a 5,000-mile tour of Brazil to publicize alcohol as a substitute for gasoline.

Technicians for the Brazilian air force, which sponsored the marathon, said the modified engines performed flawlessly in all weather and got 36 miles to the gallon on asphalt and 30 miles on a 950-mile stretch of dirt road.

The three cars — a Volkswagen 1300, a Dodge Polara and a Gurgel jeep — were welcomed home at the air force research center in São José dos Campos Monday by a military band playing the popular samba song "You Think that Whisky is Water?"

gineers refuse to predict how much alcohol fuel would cost if produced on a scale sufficient to fill even part of the country's needs. But the air force and other advocates say large-scale production from the abundant local sugar cane would eventually bring the cost way down.

Alcohol as a fuel is entirely free of pollutants, its advocates say. Its exhaust consists of carbon dioxide and water vapor, the same exhaust produced by a human being exhaling.

Air force engineer Miguel Azevedo, who drove one of the cars, said the alcohol fuel improved acceleration because of its higher octane content and reduced engine wear because it was cleaner.

Construction of 52 alcohol distilleries has been proposed. Opponents argue that the cost of the program would outweigh any increases in the price of crude oil imposed by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. But advocates of the program see it as an opportunity for patriotic industrial pioneering as well as a means of saving precious foreign exchange.

"The energy which comes from sugar cane offers enormous opportunities for the development of our country," said an editorial in the Jornal do Brasil. "Alcohol should not be viewed simply as a substitute for oil but as an opportunity for Brazilian control of a technology unique in the world."

The ministry of industry and commerce says it has received several inquiries from abroad about the technology. Volkswagen has a fleet of alcohol-fueled Volkswagens touring the country to promote the idea, and Fiat's Brazilian subsidiary says it has modified engines on some of its cars to burn alcohol.

Van Buren Farm Bureau Opens Membership Drive

PAW PAW — The Van Buren county Farm Bureau has kicked off its 1977 membership campaign with a goal of increasing its membership to 1,403.

Donald Thornton, membership chairman, said last year's membership was 1,354.

Those present members who wish to continue their participation in the member service programs, including Blue Cross-Blue Shield, must renew their memberships on or before Jan. 31, according to Thornton.

Local farm leaders involved in the membership campaign are Les Dowd, Richard Reynolds and Jon Mills, all of Lawrence; Max Hood, Glen Ampey, Harry Webb and David Tomas, all of Paw Paw; Vernon Wilkinson, Jr., of Dowagiac; Alfred Erny of South Haven; wight Brown and Mrs. Donald Thornton, both of Lawton; John Roosevelt of Decatur; Edgar C. Austin of Mattawan; and Robert Mulac of Bangor.

BRASILIA (AP) — Three cars fueled entirely with alcohol have completed a 5,000-mile tour of Brazil to publicize alcohol as a substitute for gasoline.

Technicians for the Brazilian air force, which sponsored the marathon, said the modified engines performed flawlessly in all weather and got 36 miles to the gallon on asphalt and 30 miles on a 950-mile stretch of dirt road.

The three cars — a Volkswagen 1300, a Dodge Polara and a Gurgel jeep — were welcomed home at the air force research center in Sao Jose dos Campos Monday by a military band playing the popular samba song "You Think that Whisky is Water?"

The use of alcohol as a fuel in combustion engines is not a new idea. But with Brazil spending nearly $4 billion a year to import 80 per cent of the oil it uses, some government officials see the country's sugar cane crop — the world's largest — as a potential source of alcohol to substitute for gasoline.

Alcohol as a fuel is entirely free of pollutants, its advocates say. Its exhaust consists of carbon dioxide and water vapor, the same exhaust produced by a human being exhaling.

Air force engineer Miguel Azevedo, who drove one of the cars, said the alcohol fuel improved acceleration because of its higher octane content and reduced engine wear because it was cleaner.

Gasoline in Brazil now costs about $1.60 per gallon. Engineers refuse to predict how much alcohol fuel would cost if produced on a scale sufficient to fill even part of the country's needs. But the air force and other advocates say large-scale production from the abundant local sugar cane would eventually bring the cost way down.

Construction of 62 alcohol distilleries has been proposed. Opponents argue that the cost of the program would outweigh any increases in the price of crude oil imposed by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. But advocates of the program see it as an opportunity for patriotic industrial pioneering as well as a means of saving precious foreign exchange.

"The energy which comes from sugar cane offers enormous opportunities for the development of our country," said an editorial in the Jornal do Brasil. "Alcohol should not be viewed simply as a substitute for oil but as an opportunity for Brazilian control of a technology unique in the world."

The ministry of industry and commerce says it has received several inquiries from abroad about the technology. Volkswagen has a fleet of alcohol-fueled Volkswagens touring the country to promote the idea, and Fiat's Brazilian subsidiary says it has modified engines on some of its cars to burn alcohol.

'Affirmative Action' Facing Court Test

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Can a medical school reject a white student with test scores higher than minority students admitted under a special program? Or is that racial discrimination in reverse?

The Supreme Court may agree to wrestle with that question. If it does, its answer could carry great consequences for affirmative action programs in education and business throughout the nation.

The justices on Monday temporarily set aside an order by the California Supreme Court striking down a program at the University of California-Davis Medical School that gives admission preference to minority students.

The state court ruled last month that the school's "special students" program discriminates against whites because it takes into consideration an applicant's race.

While not denying the racial and ethnic aspect of its program at Davis and other UC campuses, the university's regents said they were attempting "to bring historically underrepresented minorities and ethnic groups into the mainstream of our country's educational and professional life."

The charge of "reverse discrimination" was made by Alan Bakke, a 36-year-old white civil engineer who twice was turned down for admission to the medical school.

He charged that he was discriminated against because UC-Davis admitted 16 lower-rated students, all minority members.

The Supreme Court gave the UC regents 90 days to appeal the state court's ruling, saying it will hold in abeyance the order dismantling the affirmative action program pending the appeal.

Many civil rights groups — including the NAACP, the Mexican American Legal Defense Fund and the National Conference of Black Lawyers — have urged the regents to drop the case.

Those organizations, noting that the California court indicated that special programs for the disadvantaged might be ruled constitutional if poor whites were included, apparently feel the Bakke case is not the best test to gain a Supreme Court ruling that such programs are valid.

They fear an adverse ruling could jeopardize affirmative action programs in schools as well as in working places.

The UC regents are expected to consider those requests in meetings Thursday and Friday.

"My view is that the university definitely should proceed to the Supreme Court," regents' attorney Donald Reidhar said in a telephone interview Monday. "My expectations are that the regents will agree."

Chances appear good that the court will accept the case if an appeal is filed.

Two years ago, the justices declined to rule in a similar case involving Marco DeFunis, Jr., a white Phi Beta Kappa student who was rejected in 1971 by the University of Washington law school, which also had a special admission program for minorities.

By a 5 to 4 vote the court decided DeFunis' case was moot because he had been admitted to the law school under a lower court's order pending appeal, and he was about to graduate.

The court agreed Monday to hear arguments in a case where a worker alleges that he lost his job because of religious discrimination.

Larry G. Hardison claims he was fired as a repairman at Trans World Airlines' maintenance base in Kansas City, Mo., because of his religious beliefs. A member of the Worldwide Church of God, Hardison had refused to work on three successive Saturdays in 1973, explaining that his religion precluded work from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday.

The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals agreed with Hardison that TWA was guilty of discrimination. It ruled that the airline did not try hard enough to work out the scheduling problems caused by Hardison's religious scruples.

TWA appealed to the high court, arguing that it could not accommodate Hardison without infringing on the collective bargaining rights of other employees.

In other matters, the court:

—Decided in the case of Minor Moody, who was convicted of manslaughter and second degree murder on the Fort Apache Indian Reservation in Arizona, that the U.S. Parole Commission does not have to grant immediate parole revocation hearings. —Refused to consider the constitutionality of a curfew imposed by Middletown, Pa., which prohibits persons under 18 from being away from their homes at night when unescorted or without prior approval. About 3,000 U.S. cities and towns have similar curfews.

New Buffalo Schools Consider Merit System For Pay Boosts

trict employees in questioning the school board here last night about pay raises, learned they may be put on a merit system to determine salary hikes.

Jack Kennedy, superintendent of bus drivers and maintenance personnel and spokesman for the group last night said: "We (bus drivers, maintenance, clerical and cafeteria help) wanted the board to commit themselves that we're going to get a raise."

He said the district employs about 45 non-certified people, who've been waiting since July 1 for a raise. The group is non-union, Kennedy said.

Charles Wilens, board president, told the employees last night the board could not give a definite answer concerning pay hikes at the present time, until a proposal that would set up a merit system for determining pay hikes for non-certified employees could be worked out. He said the task of re-evaluating each employee evaluation time.

The board did announce that a work session on the matter would be held Monday, Nov. 21, at 8:15 p.m. It will be followed by a special meeting of the board in the superintendent's office.

Kennedy said he hasn't seen what is being proposed so would hesitate on making any comment at this time.

Concerning contract negotiations with the New Buffalo Education Association, Wilens said the board will review a prepared report at next Monday's meeting on last Thursday's negotiations.

He said no definite date has been set for further negotiations with the NEBA. Walter Schwarz, superintendent, told the board the teacher's committee and board committee would attempt to hold another meeting without a state mediator. New Buffalo teachers have been working all year without a contract.

In other areas, the board hired Miss Marjorie Dalzotin as an additional first grade teacher. Robert Heit, elementary principal told the board the addition of a fourth, first-grade class reduces first grade class sizes from an average of 31 to

Ronald Morrison, high school principal, reported October's heating bill was $2,500 more than the bill in October of last year due to the unseasonably cold weather.

He also reported that high school enrollment is 430, down 15 from the fourth Friday count in September, while junior high enrollment is up two to 262.

Morrison said parent-teacher conferences at the junior-senior high will be Wednesday, from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Report cards will be handed out to parents at that time and no classes at the junior-senior high will be held in the afternoon.

Pullman Man Gets 5 Months In Theft

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Pullman man was sentenced yesterday in Van Buren circuit court here to a five-month county jail term in connection with the theft of a color television set from a South Haven township home last Aug. 17.

Judge Meyer Warshawsky imposed the sentence on Thurmond Nunn, 23, 796 South 5th street, who had pleaded guilty earlier to a charge of attempted larceny in a building filed as a result of the theft.

In other cases, Dr. Timothy M. McManus, 43, Red Arrow highway, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to charges of resisting arrest and malicious destruction of property.

The resisting arrest charge was filed after a state police officer went to investigate a dispute between Dr. McManus and his son at the family home July 10.

The malicious destruction charge involves damage done to a motorcycle owned by Artie Joe Roy, Paw Paw, on July 13. Troopers said the motorcycle was struck by a shotgun blast following an argument between Roy and McManus.

Dennis Joe Berry, 23, route 1, Coloma, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a building stemming from a July 24, 1975 break-in at Gard's Drug Store, Sister Lakes.

Dona Land, 21, North Van Buren street, Bloomingdale, pleaded innocent to a charge of uttering and publishing a forged check for $106 Sept. 21 in Bloomingdale.

Court Will Review Detroit School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court will review an appellate court order that the state of Michigan must pay for part of four Detroit public school education programs.

million — or 50 per cent of the total cost — of Detroit school programs for in-service training, testing, reading and guidance counseling.

The order was included as part of Detroit's school desegregation plan.

State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said he was "happy" with the federal system," Kelley said Monday.

In his appeal for a Supreme Court review, Kelley told the justices the state should not have to take up Detroit school system financial problems that resulted from "unwillingness of the voters to approve an increase in the property tax

"The constitutional violation of segregation caused the deterioration both of quality of education and of school facilities," the school board said in its brief opposing the high court's consideration of the appellate order. "Educational components are designed to correct conditions caused by segregation."

SOUTH HAVEN — Alternatives to financing a proposed $1.2 million building improvement program at South Haven Community hospital will be reviewed by the hospital authority's board during the next month in the wake of a millage proposition defeat Nov. 2. The board reviewed the nearly two-to-one defeat of the one-mill, three-year levy during its regular monthly meeting last night, concluding that the proposal fell victim to a general anti-tax sentiment by the electorate. Administrator Wayne Eagleson said the board also believed voters were confused because there were a number of propositions for state and county issues. GALIEN — The Galien school board last night voted to purchase two new school bus chassis from the only bidder, West Motors, Niles.

The firm's bid was $8,606 for each chassis.

The board also agreed to purchase two new bus bodies from the McFadden Corp. of Lansing at a cost of $7,045 each. McFadden submitted the lowest of three bids.

Both buses will replace existing buses more than seven years old.

In a related matter, the board voted to pay a $1,052 repair bill for a school bus which had been sent in for repairs last March with a blown engine.

Payment of the bill to the Tom Hall Ford dealership in Three Oaks had been withheld for the past six months because the replacement engine did not work properly.

Board members said the Ford Motor Co. has agreed to make whatever repairs are necessary to get the bus running, triggering payment of the bill.

In other areas, the board adopted a resolution supporting a joint program of board and staff inservice training.

All Galien employees will be asked to attend the program without re-imbursement. A fried chicken dinner will be served free to participants. The school's cost for the dinner was estimated at $161.

The board accepted the resignation of Wyman Miller as athletic director. Miller cited personal reasons in the resignation.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Vera Potter, a teacher for the past 28 years. She is to retire at the end of the semester.

The board rejected a request to return to work after an extended sick leave from Mrs. Irene Tucker. The board policy requires employees to retire at age 65 and Mrs. Tucker was 65 in September while still on leave.

The board voted to hire a full-time secretary to work in the guidance and athletic director's offices.

The board did announce that a work session on the matter

APARTMENT COMPLEX LAYOUT: Architect's drawing shows proposed site plan for 48-unit apartment complex with total cost estimate of more than $1 million. Included would be eight buildings with six units per building. There would be 12 one-bedroom, 24 two-bedroom units, 12 two-bedroom with den

(or three-bedroom) units, swimming pool, putting green and paddle tennis court. Included would be 16, three-bay, enclosed garages. St. Joseph city commission is scheduled to take action on whether to grant special use permit necessary to build complex in two weeks.

New Buffalo Schools Consider Merit System For Pay Boosts

NEW BUFFALO — Non-certified New Buffalo school district employees in questioning the school board here last night about pay raises, learned they may be put on a merit system to determine salary hikes.

Kennedy said he hasn't seen what is being proposed so would hesitate on making any comment at this time.

Concerning contract negotiations with the New Buffalo Education association, Wilens said the board will review a prepared report at next Monday's meeting on last Thursday's negotiations.

He said no definite date has been set for further negotiations with the NBEA. Walter Schwarz, superintendent, told the board the teacher's committee and board committee would attempt to hold another meeting without a state mediator.

New Buffalo teachers have been working all year without a contract.

In other areas, the board hired Miss Marjorie Dalzotta as an additional first grade teacher. Robert Heit, elementary principal told the board the addition of a fourth, first-grade class reduces first grade class sizes from an average of 31 to

Ronald Morrison, high school principal, reported October's heating bill was $2,500 more than the bill in October of last year due to the unseasonably cold weather.

He also reported that high school enrollment is 430, down 15 from the fourth Friday count in September, while junior high enrollment is up two to 262.

Morrison said parent-teacher conferences at the junior-senior high will be Wednesday, from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Report cards will be handed out to parents at that time and no classes at the junior-senior high will be held in the afternoon.

Pullman Man Gets 5 Months In Theft

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Pullman man was sentenced yesterday in Van Buren circuit court here to a five-month county jail term in connection with the theft of a color television set from a South Haven township home last Aug. 17.

Judge Meyer Warshawsky imposed the sentence on Thurmond Nunn, 23, 796 South 58th street, who had pleaded guilty earlier to a charge of attempted larceny in a building filed as a result of the theft.

In other cases, Dr. Timothy M. McManus, 43, Red Arrow highway, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to charges of resisting arrest and malicious destruction of property.

The resisting arrest charge was filed after a state police officer went to investigate a dispute between Dr. McManus and his son at the family home July 10.

The malicious destruction charge involves damage done to a motorcycle owned by Artie Joe Roy, Paw Paw, on July 13. Troopers said the motorcycle was struck by a shotgun blast following an argument between Roy and McManus.

Dennis Joe Berry, 23, route 1, Coloma, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a building stemming from a July 24, 1975 break-in at Gard's Drug Store, Sister Lakes.

Dona Land, 21, North Van Buren street, Bloomingdale, pleaded innocent to a charge of uttering and publishing a forged check for $106 Sept. 21 in Bloomingdale.

Royalton Home Hit By Fire

Tri-Unit firemen extinguished a fire Monday morning at the Art Tilly residence, 5415 Tilly road, Royalton township.

Tilly reported the fire was discovered about 9:30 a.m. in the basement ceiling and floor joists. He said it started when embers from the first floor fireplace went through the fireplace foundation and ignited the wood joists below.

Tilly said his sons, Dale, 24, and Doug, 27, who live next door had started to put the fire out with a garden hose and the extinguishment was completed by firemen. He estimated damage at between $1,500 and $2,000.

Court Will Review Detroit School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court will review an appellate court order that the state of Michigan must pay for part of four Detroit public school education programs.

million — or 50 per cent of the total cost — of Detroit school programs for in-service training, testing, reading and guidance counseling.

The order was included as part of Detroit's school desegregation plan.

State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said he was "happy" with the federal system," Kelley said Monday.

In his appeal for a Supreme Court review, Kelley told the justices the state should not have to take up Detroit school system financial problems that resulted from "unwillingness of the voters to approve an increase in the property tax limitation for school operating purposes."

The Detroit Board of Education and those who brought the original desegregation suit against the state said expansion of the four education programs was a legitimate remedy to the effects of past discriminatory policies.

"The constitutional violation of segregation caused the deterioration both of quality of education and of school facilities," the school board said in its brief opposing the high court's consideration of the appellate order. "Educational components are designed to correct conditions caused by segregation."

Don Land, 21, North Van Buren street, Bloomingdale, pleaded innocent to a charge of uttering and publishing a forged check for $106 Sept. 21 in Bloomingdale.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Shakes Jitters

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market added to Monday's gains today, registering continued approval of comments by President-elect Jimmy Carter at his press conference Monday afternoon.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose more than two points at the outset. Gainers took a 2-1 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Carter told reporters he didn't foresee the need for wage and price controls barring extreme circumstances.

He also said he intended to talk with Chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve, business leaders and others about the economy.

Investors seemed to take such comments as reassurances against their doubts about how well Carter and Wall Street would get along.

Today's early prices included Exxon, up  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 48%; Flintkote, ahead  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 21; Kaufman & Broad, off  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 94, and Westvaco, up  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 26%.

On Monday the Dow Jones Industrial average climbed 7.73 to 935.42.

Advances outpaced declines by better than a 3-2 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .32 to 53.42.

Big Board volume came to 16.71 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .16 at 98.39.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Retiree Can Drop Low Dividend Stock

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I wrote to you years ago and followed your advice in building a portfolio. Now that we are 78 (husband) and 69, and could use more income, I feel some of these stocks should be sold: Abbott Laboratories, A.T.&T., Commonwealth Edison, Firestone, General Motors, People's Gas, Procter & Gamble, Reynolds, Santa Fe, Seaboard, Sears, Standard Oil of Indiana, Texaco, Greyhound, Wisconsin Electric, Norfolk & Western, Exxon.

A. If I was helpful in directing you to such a portfolio over the years I'm happy.

Now that you want income more than growth potential you are correct in thinking of some changes. And since you seem to know your way around, you can continue making your own decisions.

Some of the stocks, it seems to me, are obvious "hold" candidates: A.T. & T., Commonwealth Edison, General Motors, Wisconsin Electric, Power, Exxon, for example. Some yield much less in current return:

Abbott, Procter & Gamble, Sears — for example.

If you divided Abbott's .88-cent annual dividend by the market price of $234 (on the day your letter arrived) you get a yield of slightly above 1.6 per cent; when you divide Procter & Gamble's $2.20 dividend by a market price of $92 you get a yield slightly below 2.4 per cent. Obviously these are not the high yields toward which retirees should direct their investing.

It is difficult to be arbitrary with a list of such uniformly high quality. But just let's say you shouldn't stay with any common yielding less than 5 per cent. Proceeds of the sales should go into AAA or AA bonds, insured savings certificates, or top quality preferreds.

I think this is a good example of "happy" investing.

Q. I plan to buy a lifetime annuity. One company pays a larger benefit than several others I've contacted. Would it be wise to contact several others? Are insurance companies regulated by the government?

A. Always shop around for annuity benefits. But limit your shopping to reputable companies licensed to do business in your state.

Insurance companies are regulated by state superintendents of insurance departments.

Q. I am administrator for a $60,000 pension fund. Most of our employees are age 30 to 45. What securities should we hold?

A. You can get suggestions ranging from 100 per cent in Treasury bonds to 100 per cent in glamour growth stocks.

If your job is merely to preserve this cash for a fixed-dollar payout you could obviously be 100 per cent safe by investing in Treasury bonds or insured savings certificates.

If you want to try to increase this stake so as to be in a position to pay higher benefits over the years as the dollar declines in strength, you must go into quality growth stocks, and assume the risks these imply.

Shulsky welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column. For information on corporate and tax-exempt bonds, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Interest On Home Loans May Dip

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The cost of home mortgages might be coming down in 1977.

That pleasant prospect comes from the people who should know, the officials of the nation's savings and loan associations, who make the majority of home mortgage loans.

"Savings are coming in at a great rate and we're starting to pile up money," said a representative of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, which is holding its annual meeting here.

"When you've got a lot of merchandise on the shelf and you want to move it at lower prices," he explained, noting that savings held by the associations rose about $50 billion in the past year to a total of $340 billion.

Homebuyers aren't used to good news of this sort, but in a way they can thank themselves. It takes savings to make mortgages, and a good many of those who borrow for mortgages are savers also.

Those savings have soared in the past two decades or so, helping build total assets of the associations to more than $380 billion, compared with a mere $16.9 billion in 1950.

Savers at the associations earn 3.25 per cent interest on ordinary passbook accounts, and 7.75 per cent on six-year certificates of deposit. But borrowing charges have averaged about 8.75 per cent.

Because of this spread, which the league calls "an unprecedented development during recent years," the associations have managed to significantly improve their sometimes unsteady earnings.

It is for this reason that economists of the league now feel that a decline of one-half per cent on mortgage charges is likely in 1977, with an upturn in home sales following as a direct consequence.

League economists now project 1.8 million new housing starts in 1977, compared with an expected total of 1.5 million this year. They anticipate an unusually large rise in the multi-family market.

Members in the eastern division earned from $181 to $216 per ton for an average of $188 in 1976, compared with $197 for their 1975 grapes, a large portion of which was also sold this year. Western division members earned from $162 to $202 for a $192 average. The report cited several accomplishments during the business year including:

—Nation-wide distribution of Red and White grape products.

—Establishment of Welch Food, Japan.

—Acquisition of Welch Foods' first non-foods business — a floral products marketing concern operating in the Detroit area.

The report also noted record sales of Welch's frozen grape juice concentrates and an expansion of the network of franchised bottlers of Welch's sparkling grape soda.

Price remains the big restraint on sales of new homes. The league spokesman said it is unlikely now that many new, single-family homes can be found anywhere but in the South for less than $40,000 to $45,000.

But, with the price of money falling — albeit remaining relatively high — the league expects sales in 1977 to show decidedly more strength than this year.

"Sometimes we can't figure it out," he said, "but people are coming up with the money to buy when they need to."

Market Shakes Jitters

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market added to Monday's gains today, registering continued approval of comments by President-elect Jimmy Carter at his press conference Monday afternoon.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose more than two points at the outset. Gainers took a 2-1 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Carter told reporters he didn't foresee the need for wage and price controls barring extreme circumstances.

He also said he intended to talk with Chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve, business leaders and others about the economy.

Investors seemed to take such comments as reassurances against their doubts about how well Carter and Wall street would get along.

Today's early prices included Exxon, up  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 49%; Flintkote, ahead  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 21; Kaufman & Broad, off  $\frac{1}{8}$  at 94; and Westvaco, up  $\frac{3}{8}$  at 26%.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 7.73 to 935.42.

Advances outpaced declines by better than a 3-2 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .32 to 53.42.

Big Board volume came to 16.71 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .16 at 98.39.

None Hurt In Ausco Explosion

St. Joseph firemen were called to Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co., Graves street, about 9:30 a.m. today by an explosion in a cupola.

J. E. Collyer, manager of industrial relations, reported there were no injuries from the blast, but foundry molding operations were shut down for the rest of the day and possibly tomorrow.

He said the explosion apparently was caused when water leaked into the cupola and generated steam.

Scrap steel and iron are melted in the cupola, and Collyer said, "Our problem right now is to relieve the cupola before the molten metal is solidified."

Welch Sales Hit Record

By JOHN FENNELL
Staff Writer

Welch Foods, Inc. had record 1976 sales of $160 million and proceeds of $24.2 million for distribution to members of National Grape Co-operative Association, Inc.

Welch Foods is a wholly owned subsidiary of National Grape and has one of its plants at Lawton. The co-operative is comprised of grape growers in Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Arkansas and Washington.

Although sales and proceeds were the highest in the co-operative's 31 year history, the gains represent only modest increases over 1975, according to the co-operative's 1976 annual report.

Sales rose over $2 million and proceeds $1.4 million, according to the report.

Members in the co-operative's eastern division (New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Arkansas and Missouri) received $191 to $236 per ton, an average of $213, on the sale of their 1974 grape crop. The sale was completed this year.

Members in the western division earned from $181 to $216 per ton for an average of $198 to date for their 1975 grapes, a large portion of which was sold this year.

Eastern division members have received from $175 to $216 per ton for an average of $198 to date for their 1975 grapes, a large portion of which was sold this year.

Price remains the big restraint on sales of new homes. The league spokesman said it is unlikely now that many new single-family homes can be found anywhere but in the South for less than $40,000 to $45,000.

But, with the price of money falling — albeit remaining relatively high — the league expects sales in 1977 to show some strength this year.

"Sometimes we can't figure it out," he said, "but people are coming up with the money to buy when they need to."

Berrien District Court Has 10 Ask For Hearings

Six Indiana men charged with robbing two hitchhikers at knifepoint were among 10 people who demanded preliminary examinations Monday on felony charges in Berrien Fifth District court.

The six men are accused of robbing Brian R. Daley and Anthony R. Altman, both of New Buffalo, early Sunday in New Buffalo township. Daley and Altman told police they were threatened with a knife and rubbed of $3, a watch and a pair of work gloves.

Jailed under $15,000 bonds each after arraignments were William W. Walters, 21, Westville; Larry K. and Robert A. Dull, 18 and 21, Wanatah; Ronald L. Clemens, 23, of 13132 Wilton, New Buffalo, charged with carrying a concealed pistol in Three Oaks township Nov. 13.

Sentenced Monday were:

Tate Major, 20, of 720 Waukonka, Benton Harbor, fine and costs of $50 for illegal entry without breaking at a Benton Harbor apartment Nov. 13.

Raymond A. Hawley, 18, of 66th street, Watervliet, $55 for disturbing the peace in Watervliet Oct. 29.

Terry L. Fickel, 21, of LaPorte, Ind., $155 for attempting to flee and elude police in New Buffalo Nov. 13.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Possession of an unregistered pistol — Robert L. Ramsey, 37, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Georgia A. Rankin, 38, of Chicago, each $50 or 10 days in jail; Richard L. Everly, 41, of Michigan City, Ind., $35 and, for driving under the influence of intoxicants, $155.

Petty larceny — Jacqueline Riley, 21, of 2088 Empire avenue, Benton township, and Janice R. Palmer, 20, of 10288 Spitzer, Baroda, each $125; Steve L. Wyman, 17, of 789 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, $125 or 30 days in jail.

Driving while license suspended or revoked — Dennis L. Haskins, 25, of Arcadia, Fla., and Melvin Robinson, 26, of 160 Felton, Benton Harbor, each three days in jail and $85; Horace D. Kelley, 26, of Detroit; three days in jail and $65 or 20 days in jail total.

Driving under the influence of intoxicants — Melvyn D. Beatty, 43, of 1395 Jennings, Benton Harbor, and James R. Parks, 48, of 5772 Scottsdale road, Royalton township, each $155; James E. Lewis, 45, of Michigan City, Ind., $155 or 30 days in jail.

Impaired driving — Acie Robinson, Jr., 28, of Chicago, Claude M. Smith, 45, of Benton Harbor, and Eager D. Wimmer, 33, of 2019 South State street, St. Joseph, $155 each; Jerry M. Davis, 18, of 38th avenue, Covert, $105 or 20 days in jail.

Charges against two people were dismissed in court Monday.

A charge of unlawfully driving away a car was dismissed against Duane R. Beverly, 24, of Detroit. According to the court file, no witness appeared for Beverly's preliminary examination, scheduled for yesterday.

State police of the Benton Harbor post said Hersie Woodall, Jr., 30, Ypsilanti, was arrested on four charges after his car was stopped for speeding on I-94 in Lincoln township Monday.

Troopers said they stopped a car about 6 a.m. and confiscated a small amount of suspected marijuana, and a switchblade knife. Woodall was booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of carrying a concealed weapon, violation of the controlled substance act, driving with a suspended operator's license and was ticketed for speeding, troopers reported.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Two Girls, 14, Face Shoplifting Charges

Benton township police said two girls, both 14, were taken into custody Monday after police confiscated merchandise valued at nearly $80 that was allegedly stolen from three stores in Benton township.

Police said security guards at Goldblatt's, Fairplain Plaza, stopped two girls as they left the store about 2:45 p.m. with two allegedly stolen maternity smocks and blouses. Also seized were several items of makeup, baby clothing and a shirt, identified later as being from Woolworth's, Fairplain Plaza, and Boscov's, 1600 M-139. Police said no sales slips for any of the merchandise were found.

One girl, of Fairplain, was lodged at the Berrien juvenile home and the other, of Benton township, was released to her parents. Both were to be petitioned to juvenile court on charges of shoplifting, police reported.

More than $500 in cash was

Berrien District Court Has 10 Ask For Hearings

Six Indiana men charged with robbing two hitchhikers at knifepoint were among 10 people who demanded preliminary examinations Monday on felony charges in Berrien Fifth District court.

The six men are accused of robbing Brian R. Daley and Anthony R. Altman, both of New Buffalo, early Sunday in New Buffalo township. Daley and Altman told police they were threatened with a knife and robbed of $3, a watch and a pair of work gloves.

Jailed under $15,000 bonds each after arraignments were William W. Walters, 21, Westville; Larry K. and Robert A. Doll, 19 and 21, Wanatah; Robert W. Eaton, 20, Alan M. Stakoski, 18, and William F. Cooley, Jr., 18, Union Mills.

Others demanding preliminary examinations were: Elacie Pearson, 28, of Milwaukee, Wis., on charges of possession of heroin and receiving and concealing stolen property valued over $100, a CB radio, Nov. 12 in Benton township. Bond of $15,000 was not posted.

Erlay Dekine, 43, of 833 Edgcumbe Avenue, Benton Harbor, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a pistol, against Jerry Jones in St. Joseph Nov. 13. He was freed on $5,000 bail.

Jerry Partee, 40, of 1064 Pavone, Benton Harbor, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a knife, against George Barnes in Benton Harbor Nov. 13. He failed to post $4,000 bond.

Ronald L. Clemons, 23, of 13132 Wilton, New Buffalo, charged with carrying a concealed pistol in Three Oaks township Nov. 13.

Sentenced Monday were:

Tate Major, 20, of 720 Waukonka, Benton Harbor, fine and costs of $50 for illegal entry without breaking at a Benton Harbor apartment Nov. 14.

Raymond A. Howley, 18, of 66th street, Watervliet, $55 for disturbing the peace in Watervliet Oct. 29.

Terry L. Fickel, 21, of LaPorte, Ind., $155 for attempting to flee and elude police in New Buffalo Nov. 13.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Possession of an unregistered pistol — Robert L. Ramsey, 37, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Georgia A. Rankin, 58, of Chicago, each $50 or 10 days in jail; Richard L. Everly, 41, of Michigan City, Ind., $35 and, for driving under the influence of intoxicants, $155.

Petty larceny — Jacqueline Riley, 21, of 2088 Empire Avenue, Benton township, and Janice R. Palmer, 30, of 10266 Spitzer, Baroda, each $125; Steve L. Wynn, 17, of 793 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, $125 or 30 days in jail.

Driving while license suspended or revoked — Dennis L. Haskins, 25, of Arcadia, Fla., and Melvin Robinson, 26, of 160 Felton, Benton Harbor, each three days in jail and $65; Horace D. Kelley, 25, of Detroit, three days in jail and $65 or 20 days in jail total.

Driving under the influence of intoxicants — Melvin D. Beaty, 43, of 1395 Jennings, Benton Harbor, and James R. Parks, 49, of 5772 Scottsdale road, Royalton township, each $155; James E. Lewis, 45, of Michigan City, Ind., $155 or 30 days in jail.

Impaired driving — Acie Robinson, Jr., 28, of Chicago, Claude M. Smith, 45, of Benton Harbor, and Roger D. Wichner, 33, of 2019 South State street, St. Joseph, $155 each; Jerry M. Davis, 18, of 38th avenue, Covert, $105 or 20 days in jail.

Charges against two people were dismissed in court Monday.

A charge of unlawfully driving away a car was dismissed against Duane R. Beverly, 24, of Detroit. According to the court file, no witnesses appeared for Beverly's preliminary examination, scheduled for yesterday.

Watervliet police said a 12-foot canvas cover, valued at $300, was reported stolen from the truck of Oliver Williams, Detroit, Ala., while he was unloading goods at Weil-McLain, Inc., 1215 Milton street.

Also reported stolen to Benton Harbor police was a $300 stereo phonograph from the Benton Harbor library, 213 East Wall street.

Benton Harbor police said a shotgun and .22 caliber rifle, of unreported value, were reported stolen from the residence of Mabel Babcock, 1941 Britain avenue.

State police of the Benton Harbor post said Hersie Woodall, Jr., 30, Ypsilanti, was arrested on four charges after his car was stopped for speeding on I-94 in Lincoln township Monday.

Bogus 'Bulletin' Fooled TV Buffs

By JAY SHARPTON

AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NBC doesn't let its entertainment shows interrupt themselves to announce sudden, dramatic but bogus "bulletins," even if such are jests, put-ons and obviously not the McCoy.

"Such introductory terms as 'Flash' or 'Bulletin' and statements such as 'We interrupt this program to bring you ...' are reserved exclusively for news broadcasting," NBC tells its show-makers.

But last Thursday, switchboards at newspapers and TV stations across the nation lit up when viewers thought they had heard a major sports bulletin interrupt NBC's Dick Van Dyke show.

Its announcer, Stu Nahan, a sportscaster here, came on and intoned: "Major sports news was made just moments ago when the Los Angeles-Rams completed the biggest trade in their history."

He said the Rams had sent six of their best backs, including quarterbacks James Harris and Ron Jaworski, to Notre Dame.

Whammo, the calls flooded in, obviously from viewers who either:

"Didn't listen closely to the Quasimodo part. Quas is the bell-ringer in Victor Hugo's novel, 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame.'"

"Didn't realize the Rams aren't about to trade anybody to Notre Dame, UCLA, maybe, but never Notre Dame."

It was all a joke, of course. But did it violate NBC rules against bogus news bulletins? Nope, say NBC and Byron Paul, executive producer of Van Dyke's show.

"We've adhered to the letter of the rules," says Paul, noting the interruption to report the "trade" wasn't billed as a bulletin. It began with a card that just said: "Please Stand By."

Then came the gag announcement which, he said, even brought him calls of inquiry the next day from odds-makers in Las Vegas.

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: For a great taste, add brown sugar and crushed pineapple to browning sweet potatoes (Christo's, NYC)... To a can of plain baked beans, add one-third cup of sherry and a teaspoon of instant coffee for a great nutty flavor (Jimmy's Harbor-side, Boston)... The secret of the best souffles lies in extremely fresh eggs, a rubber spatula for folding and a very well-buttered baking dish. (Doris, S.F.).

HOMEC DECOR TIP from B. Castro: In selecting wallpaper, follow the same general rules as for painting — with regard to light paper having a tendency to enlarge the room, and dark paper making it look smaller... If your favorite color is aqua, you are perceptive and sophisticated... Bar-Snooping at Sardi's, NYC: Add a jigger of dark rum to chilled and feed papaya juice... Exercise Tip from Diahann Carroll: "I sit down and bounce on the floor 20 times a day, and it's taken two inches off my bottom in about 12 months!"... In Holland, paper money is made with raised bumps so its value can be read by Braille... Beauty Hint: To correct the look of sunken eyes, apply a lighter foundation on the upper lid area and add a bright eye shadow.

+ + +

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: Pisceans are the daydreamers of the Zodiac; they have some wonderful ideas but rarely do anything about them. On the negative side Sagittarius lacks patience, speaks out of turn very often and is not always dependable. Those born under Aquarius should always "watch your step" — literally, as they are prone to fall and sustain injury.

+ + +

HELPFUL HINTS: A garbage pail will stay odorless if given an occasional ammonia bath... When removing ashes from a fireplace, burn a newspaper in one corner. The draft will draw dust up the chimney.
